MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE FROM CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 253.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I move that the Committee of Judiciary Special be discharged from the further consideration of House Bill No. 253, entitled:

An Act regulating the manner of conducting any election at which the question of holding a constitutional convention is to be submitted to the electors at the same time that delegates to such a convention are to be elected and that the bill be placed upon the calendar of the Senate and be read for the first time to-night.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, that bill is what? What does it provide for? Do you know the Senate number?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, this is the constitutional convention bill, House Bill No. 253.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I want to say for the information of our Democratic brethren that this bill is a consolidation of the bill introduced by Mr. John R. K. Scott and one introduced, I think, by Mr. Humes, and was agreed upon by the Democrats and Progressives on the House side, and passed the House almost unanimously as I understand it, or passed by a very considerable majority, I don't want to go any further than that.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, it is very evident from the procedure that this is intended to be a general attack upon the Committees of the Senate. There is nothing before the Senate at this time to indicate that any efforts whatever have been made to get this bill out of committee. It does not even appear from anything that has been said that there has ever been a hearing asked for before the Committee on this bill, or a motion made by any member of the Committee that it be reported favorably or unfavorably, and under these circumstances it seems to me a very dangerous precedent for this Senate to vote to discharge one of its committees from the consideration of a bill and put it upon the calendar without its consent. The committees of the Senate are a time-honored institution. They have played an important part in the legislation of this body, and it is almost without precedent that the members of the Senate have voted to discharge the members of a committee from the consideration of a piece of legislation, unless it appeared that gross indifference and discourtesy has been shown to those interested in the legislation. Now, nothing of that kind appears before the Senate at this time in regard to this piece of legislation, and I most sincerely hope that the members of this Senate will not go on record by making as dangerous a record or precedent as the passing of this motion will make. The committees of the Senate have other legislation in their hands outside of the few that have been specially recommended by the Republican State convention. Every member of the Senate has some piece of legislation in which he is interested and his constituents are interested either in keeping it in committee or seeing that it is reported out. The committees are appointed to perform an essential part of the work and if the committees mean nothing they should not be appointed. If we are to respect them, then the Senate should not go on record as passing this motion.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, if I understand right, this bill has been in the Committee for several months, and I do not see the necessity of some one going every day and trying to get an important bill on the calendar when the Committee has had it for consideration for so many months, and it seems to me a good reason to have it put on the calendar and let us vote upon it and see whether the Senate wants it or not.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, does this bill call for a constitutional convention, or is it merely a way of conducting elections.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I am not so well posted upon the bill. I know it calls for a constitutional convention and it has been in the committee for some months and for that reason I hope it will be brought out of Committee and be considered by this Senate. I favor any important bill that has been in committee for several months coming out. It will be read on three different days and we will have a chance to discuss the bill.

Mr. McILHENNY. It seems unfortunate that in this controversy there seems to be a great deal of politics. Personally I have always voted to discharge any committee from the consideration of a bill and would not have my own feelings hurt in the least if this Senate would discharge any committee from the consideration of any bill that is in that committee. I do think it proper for the good of the State that the entire Senate shall act on important bills, and if the committee does not consider the bill, I do think that any committee should feel sensitive if the Senate should bring out the bill. But it does seem a rather unique proceeding that we should ask a committee to be discharged from the consideration of a bill when nobody seems to know what the bill is. I think a committee ought to be discharged from the consideration of any bill when it is plainly stated before the Senate what the bill is and when the Senate thinks the bill is in shape it should consider and vote it, but if it is a bill the Senate does not know anything about, it seems to me it would be a mistake.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, will the Senator from McKean County, Mr. Hilton, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, yes, sir.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, when did the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, find out that the bill was in the Committee on Judiciary Special for the first time? When was he informed the first time that the bill was before the Judiciary Special Committee?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I have understood it for some time. I understand that it passed over some time ago from the House and went to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. SNYDER. That is not an answer to my interrogation. I desire an answer to my interrogation and submit it again. When did the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, learn for the first time that the bill was before the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I was informed a few days ago that it was in the Judiciary Special Committee.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, when? Will the Senator tell me when?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I could not tell you just what time.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, a few days in point of time, senatorial days, or when?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I could not tell you what day it was, a few days ago.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, will the gentleman tell me whether or not within the last twenty-five minutes he was informed of that and a paper handed him and he was asked to make the motion to discharge the committee from the consideration of this bill?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I knew of this bill being in the Judiciary Special Committee before. Mr. President, there are several bills that have passed the House of great importance to the people of the State of Pennsylvania, and this is one of them, and they ought to have the bills passed through the House and Senate. There are a great many of them held up in the committees, and I think that we, as members of the Senate, have a perfect right to ask for the committees to be discharged from the consideration of these bills, and get them upon the calendar of this Senate for the simple reason that we have the chance to consider them.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, is making a speech and not answering an interrogation. I desire to interrogate the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, further.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, allow himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, yes, sir.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, is it not a fact that in the last half hour the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, was handed a slip containing this motion?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I have had a talk with several different people this evening in regard to the importance of several of these bills being reported out of the committees, and I agreed to make the motion to report one of them out and this is the one.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I still insist upon my interrogation being answered. Will the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, please tell the Senate and Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee whether or not it is true that in the last half hour he has been asked upon a slip of paper handed to him by somebody in the body of the Senate asking him to move to discharge the Committee on Judiciary Special from the consideration of this bill without his knowledge before hand?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, what importance that is to the Senate what talk I have had in the last few minutes in regard to the reporting as important a bill as this is. I have asked that the committee be discharged from the further consideration of this bill because I believe that the committee has had plenty of time to consider it and it should come before the Senate now for our consideration.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, does the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, desire to refrain from answering the question?

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I have answered the question.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, will state his point of order.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, my point of order is that if the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, wishes to further interrogate the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, he should address the Chair first.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, with pleasure.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, wish to take the place of the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, and answer for him?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, with pleasure again.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, then what does the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, know about this bill being before the Judiciary Special Committee?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I happen to know that on the day this bill came over from the sponsor for the bill in the House, Mr. John R. K. Scott, told me the bill came over and told me it was in the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, as a lawyer, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, should know that "told you so" don't go. Mr. President, I ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, what date this bill was committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special? Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, when was this bill referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I still insist upon my right to answer the two questions that the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, previously asked me.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, when did this bill come from the House?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I was not certain of the exact date.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I am Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary Special. I am informed from the records that this bill came from the House on March 12th and so far as I can tell it came into my hands during that week, the week of March 14th. Since then the bill has been in my possession and I have been away from the Senate over two weeks.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, is the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, further interrogating me?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I am addressing the Senate and President. The gentleman is all right but he didn't arrive and I let him alone. This bill, as I said before, was sent over from the House, I believe, on March 12th. March 11th final passage in the House, and came over on March 12th, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special during the week of March 14th. Now, then, I was away from the Senate for two weeks, unfortunately, for the Senate and myself. During the two weeks prior to that neither Mr. Powell nor Mr. Hilton nor anybody interested in these bills asked for a hearing or asked that the bill be reported for printing or to go the usual course. Now, I submit if any gentleman of the Senate is interested in this bill or any member of the House—the Judiciary Special for the information of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, has quite a number of bills, I believe one hundred or two hundred or three hundred in this session in charge, and they are important bills. Now I have not arrived at that stage of public duty when I read every bill as it comes into the Senate, and for the benefit of the gentleman I wish to say that I do not propose to either. Now then in answer to these men who are interested in this bill, neither of them seems to know anything about it. It was their duty to appear before the Committee on Judiciary Special and ask for a meeting, or ask the Chairman, who assumes the right to report bills from committee, and then have them recommitted to the committee. But the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, does not seem to know anything about the bill, and I assure that I did not because to-night is the first I have seen it. It is a bill regulating the manner of conducting any election at which the question of holding a constitutional convention is to be submitted to the electors at the same time that delegates to such a convention are to be elected. And I submit that neither of these gentlemen know a thing about this bill and yet they are here asking that it be reported out of committee. Let them ask for a hearing. Let them ask the Chairman of the committee in a proper way and I have no doubt that they will get proper consideration. I submit to this Senate that it is not even Senatorial courtesy, and I am not playing for Senatorial courtesy, but, Mr. President, it is not Senatorial courtesy to ask that a bill be reported out of committee when neither of the gentlemen who are asking it know anything about the bill, never read it or know anything about it. The Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, evades the question; surely he knew nothing about it. My information is that a certain gentleman who is interested in these bills handed him a slip within the last twenty minutes asking him to make the motion. Now, if a Senator asks that a committee be discharged from the further consideration of a bill and the bill be placed upon the calendar he ought to know what he is doing. This isn't the House, and I submit it is a proper, orderly, intelligent proceeding when a Senator has a bill and it is referred to a committee to go to the Chairman of the committee, ask for a meeting, let the bill be argued and reported out. In this instance I would say that not a single member of this body or the House has asked that this bill even be looked at, even referred to, and I say it is gross discourtesy, not only discourtesy but injustice, to any committee to ask that the committee be discharged from the consideration of a bill when no reference was ever made to the bill before, and I ask that the Senate vote down this motion.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, will the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, if I agree to withdraw this motion so as to give the committee time to consider this bill, will the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, agree to report this bill at next Monday night's session?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will make no promises. I have no power to act for this committee. I will agree to give a hearing, if they want it, at a proper time, but I will not agree to report the bill out of committee, as important as this bill is. It is an important matter.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, will the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, give this bill a hearing this week and have a vote taken upon it as to whether or not it will be reported on next Monday night?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I do not know. I will think it over. You ask for a hearing and I will think it over.

Mr. HILTOIN. Mr. President, if the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, will agree to that I will withdraw my motion.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I am not asking him to withdraw his motion; I am asking for a vote on the motion.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I want to be understood upon this question. This committee has among its members such independent members as Senator Clark and such Progressives as Senators Mills, Moore and Sensenich, and three Democrats besides, and I wish to state that if the Senator had asked I would certainly have tried to get a hearing and get this committee to act upon this bill, because I am in favor of a constitutional convention myself, but I am not in favor of riding rough shod over our committees in this manner, because I see the whole matter is a matter of playing politics here to-night on the part of these gentlemen bringing up these motions. If this committee will not agree to bring this bill out hereafter I will vote with the Senator to compel them to bring it out. but I think the committee should have had a fair show and the committee has not had the bill several months. This bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special on March 12th. That is just one month instead of two months. I am in favor of doing the right thing in this matter and I believe that these independent Senators and Democrats combined will, if the motion is properly made in this committee, bring this bill before the Senate, but I do not believe in forcing this committee to bring the bill out merely to play politics.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I do not believe in allowing Senatorial courtesy to stand between the people of Pennsylvania and their rights and I want to so state here. This committee has had this bill for one month and two days and the Sentor from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, knew when the bill came to him what the bill was. He knew that he was opposed to it, and he knew that he was not going to report this bill out if he could possibly help it, and he knows now in his heart that he will vote against the reporting of this bill out and against it when it is on the calendar. What is the use of the—

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Beidleman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, is impugning the motives of the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I said nothing about his motives. I merely stated the facts, and I heard no objection from the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit ihmself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, when he became a mind reader?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I am not a mind reader nor have I so professed, nor the son of a mind reader, as suggested by the Senator from Philadelphia, but I do know that this is an important bill which has been in the committee for a month. There is only one way to act upon it and that is to act upon it. There is only one way to put it out upon the floor of the Senate and that is put it out. The Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, I didn't need to read his mind, said that he took upon himself the authority to report bills when requested by a single individual Senator, and then when he was asked by the Senator from McKean, Mr. Hilton, whether he would report this bill out, he said no, he had no authority so to do. He had stated within the hearing of this Senate less than two minutes ago that when he wanted a bill reported out of his commttee, if there was a request by a Senator, or if there was a hearing desired, he gave them the hearing. Now these two statements don't agree. Let us do right by the people of Pennsylvania rather than by each other. I am not impugning the motives of anybody. I am not attacking anybody; I do not want to violate senatorial courtesy, but if I must do all of these to get a vote upon these measures, which are pledged in the Republican platform, then that will I do.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, last Tuesday night I asked the Senator from Allegheny what party he represents. He went into a beautiful dissertation as to how he happened to be nominated and now I ask him a simple question, "What party in Pennsylvania does he now represent?"

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I believe that at that time the President of the Senate said I had sufficiently answered that question. I had not completed it. I came here to represent the Republican voters of the State of Pennsylvania and not the Republican party and not the people who try to run it; that is whom I represent. I represent neither the Republican party, the Washington party, the Democratic party, nor any other party. I represent the voters of the Forty-fourth Senatorial district situated in Allegheny County and I thoroughly and rightly represent them and represent the sentiment of that district, and I owe no allegiance to any party, Republican, Democratic, Prohibition. I can't say Socialist because I never was endorsed by the Socialists, or Progressives. I have been endorsed by four parties and I owe no allegiance to any party, but I represent the sentiments of the voters of the Forty-fourth Senatorial district of Allegheny County, and I believe the men, the voters of Dauphin County, wish that they had a representative as true to their sentiment.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, dislikes even to tell to what party he belongs or what party he represents, I desire to ask him now of what party he is a member so that the Senate may be advised upon this question of platform, the Democratic platform, and the platforms of the other parties of the State.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Monroe, Hr. Huffman, will state his point of order.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that the matter of the discussion between the two Senators is not germane to the subject.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I call for the enforcement of Rule 4, which allows a member to speak but twice upon the same subject.

The PRESIDENT. The rule will be enforced.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I fully agree with the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Crow. There has been no effort of any kind to get this bill out of committee. I therefore hope the Senate will not discharge the committee from consideration of the bill without some effort of those interested in the bill to get it out of committee.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I just desire to make one statement. I voted against discharging the Elections Committee on the promise that was made by the Chairman that we would have consideration on that bill within a reasonable time. The Chairman of this Committee has replied to the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Hilton, that he will not give him a hearing and will not report it out, and that being the statement and he said it in a rather impertiment manner, and it seemes to me that the gentleman who made the motion should be sustained and this bill should be reported out on the floor.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Monroe evidently was thinking of things material to Monroe County when I made that response to the gentleman from McKean. I did not—beg pardon, gentlemen—refuse a hearing before this Committee, nor did I refuse to report out the bill. I simply did refuse to say I would have a hearing to-morrow and the bill would be reported out to-morrow.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, if he was not also a candidate on the Progressive ticket.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I got on the Progressive ticket with my own help, but not by endorsement. I had enough signers sign for me and I was put on the Progressive but not the Washington Party ticket. I have no part nor parcel nor portion nor anything whatever with the Washington Party in Schuylkill County. I was elected on the Republican ticket, with Progressive help and some Democratic help. I owe no allegiance to any party, I owe allegiance to the people of Schuylkill County and the State of Pennsylvania, but that allegiance, Mr. President, has not yet brought me to that condition where I have placed my conscience in the keeping of the Senator from Allgheny. I wish to say to him that when he makes the statement that I am positively opposed to this bill, and that I have made such a statement, and that the Committee does not intend to hear it, that the Senator's information is incorrect, as his information generally is.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I arise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, yield to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Snyder, is under a misapprehension that I said he said anything about this, and the mere remark of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, as to whether or not I was a mind reader will bear me out in that part, and I do not wish to be misquoted, that is all.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the statements for the purpose of publication would be such as would be construed that I had given that statement out. I have not made the gentleman my confidant with regard to anything the Judiciary Special Committee will do except upon his own bill. I also said, if he listened to my statement, Mr. President, that bills which were proper I had left out after request and after consultation with the members about them. But that is not pertinent to this issue. This issue is so important that the gentlemen asking that the bill be reported out of Committee do not know anything about it, that important it is. And the gentleman from Allegheny, I submit, knew nothing about it until he had enough time to arrive, to find out what it was about, when he came to the help of the gentleman from McKean. Now, I submit that it is too serious a question to set aside every precedent of this Senate to satisfy the whim of the Senator from Allegheny and the curiosity of the Senator from McKean.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move the previous question.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Shall the previous question now be put?

It was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HILTON and Mr. POWELL, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16.

Farley,	Hilton,	Judson,	Nulty,
Fisher,	Hoke,	Miller,	Powell,
Gyger,	Huhman,	Mills,	Sensenich,
Heacock,	Jarrett,	Moore,	Wasbers,

NAYS—28.

Crow,	Homsher,	McIlhenny,	Thompson,
Daix,	Hunter,	McNichol,	Vare,
DeWitt,	Jones,	McNichols,	Gerberich, Pres. pro tem.

So thequestion was determined in the negative.

MOTION FOR RECESS.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for fifteen minutes in order that the Committee on Elections and the Committee on Judiciary Special may advise as to when hearings may be fixed upon these bills. There are several other motions that may consume a great deal of time if this is not done.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 14th, 1913.

The House met at 8 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, amid the changes and the vicissitudes which are incident to life, we would stay ourselves upon Thee. Thou art the unchanging, the immutable God, the same yesterday, to-day and forever. We are frail and fluctuating, liable to changes, subject to moods, we need the steadiness and the strengthening which comes from Thee. May we be true men, men of principle, with strong convictions, rooted and grounded in the things which we believe, and may we have the courage, and resolution and energy to give expression at suitable times and in suitable ways to the things which we cherish. Deliver us from insincerity and from fickleness. May we have that purity of motives and that integrity of purpose which will make us reliable men, men upon whom the people can lean, and of whom God can approve. Graciously bless this Assembly in the Sessions of this week, sustaining Thy servant, the Speaker, in his arduous work, and enabling us all to fill faithfully and well the places assigned us, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, April 10th, 1913.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, April 10th. 1913, when, on motion of Mr. Humes, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER, The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a motion to offer as a special order House Bill No. 1890, for regulating and appointing of tax collectors. I, therefore, make a motion that House Bill No. 1890, file folio 1821, Senate number 819, entitled,

A supplement to an act approved the twenty-fourth day of March one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act establishing in counties containing a population of from three hundred thousand to one million a board for the assessment and revision of taxes for State and county purposes prescribing their powers and duties and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessors in so far as respects the assessment of State and county taxes" providing for the apointment by said board of collectors of county taxes in cities of such counties and defining the powers and duties of such collectors from page 48 of to-day's calendar be made a special order on third reading at 9:30 to-night.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PLACED UPON CALENDAR.

Mr. BENSON. Mr. Speaker,

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean, Mr. Benson.

Mr. BENSON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer a motion at this time.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the motion as follows:

Moved by Mr. Benson and seconded by Mr. Matt, that House Bill No. 383, entitled:

An Act to equalize the taxation of all properties real personal corporate or mixed by the creation of a Tax Commission and repealing all laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith be placed on the calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the motion.

Mr. BENSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for the equalization of taxation of which I have just read the title. Mr. Speaker, if the House will give me its attention, I will give you my reasons why this bill should not only go upon the calendar here to-night but that it should be enacted into a law. What is the tax situation here in the State of Pennsylvania at the present time. I will try to give it to you in as brief remarks as possible. We have here in the State of Pennsylvania at the present time real estate valued at four and a half billions of dollars; and we also have here in the State of Pennsylvania corporate personal property valued at a little over nine billions of dollars. On this we have to pay taxes of about seventeen mills and on this corporate and personal property they only pay an average of less than three mills. Mr. Speaker, just stop to consider—why should real estate be forced to pay an average of seventeen mills and corporate and personal property only be forced to pay an average of three mills. We have before us a bond issue. We are going to bond the State for fifty millions of dollars. Why do we think of bonding the State? Because we don't have enough revenue. That is the reason why. There are nine billion dollars worth of personal property and corporate property in this State on which three mills is paid while real estate pays an average of seventeen mills. Real estate pays fourteen mills more than corporate and personal property. What do we have? You have an increase in the tax in the State of Pennsylvania of one hundred and twenty-six million dollars more than all the taxes that are collected at the present time from the corporate property owners. Why should the Committe on Ways and Means report this bill to the House with a negative recommendation? I realized when I introduced this measure that all the corporate wealth of our State would be opposed to it; I realized that they didn't want it. I want to call your attention to a little situation we have along the New York State line. Along the New York State line the Pennsylvania Railroad only pays one-sixth of the taxes that they do in New York State because the corporations in the State of New York have got to pay a local tax and in the State of Pennsylvania they don't have to do that thing. I also want to call your attention to the report of the tax commission that was appointed by the Senate and also by the House. I will read from page 144 of the report of the tax commission; it reads as follows:

"Your attention is specially directed to "A Comparative Study of Public School Systems in the Forty-eight States," published by the "Russell Sage Foundation." This 'study' shows that Pennsylvania ranks twenty-third in general efficiency among the system of the Union. In current expenditures per child of school child this Commonwealth take twenty-sixth place. In average attendance we rank eighth. In general all-around efficiency Washington is first; Massachusetts second, and New York, third.

"It is not to the credit of our Commonwealth that we should be so far down in such a list, and if we are to attain the position to which our wealth and citizenship entitles us this subject must receive prompt serious and generous consideration. 'No other investment produces so large a return. More money means better schools, better schools mean more efficient citizens, more efficient citizens produce more money—it is a beneficient circle.' "

I also call your attention to page 145 of the Tax Commission's report, which reads as follows:

"The local school tax rate is all that the taxpayers can bear. Your committee strongly urges that educational advantages should be the same for each child, irrespective of the wealth of the community in which he lives. This can only be accomplished by State appropriations, and when the schools are thus equalized there will be no more removals of families from the country to the city, or from a poor to a wealth school district, to get the proper education for their children."

Mr. SPEAKER, just think of the fact that this grand old Commonwealth of ours, instead of leading the list, where she rightfully belongs, is way down in the twenty-third place, and in per capita, per child, we are twenty-sixth, instead of leading the list where we ought to be. This deserves our serious consideration. I want you to give it the attention that it justly deserves at this time. I want to call the attention of every Republican and every Washington Party man in this House tonight, however, to the fact that we have, and they have inserted a plank in their platform pledging this to the people,—that we would favor the repeal of laws exempting corporations from taxation for local purposes.

This bill provids that very thing, and I can't understand why the members of the Ways and Means Committee who have gone out before the people and ra non a platform of that kind, have gone and voted to report negatively a measure of this kind.

The boasted school system of Pennsylvania to which the State is presumed to contribute so liberally, after all, its standing as compared with sister states, tells the true story, that Pennsylvania is not contributing as a state a dollar to its support.

Through a cunningly devised scheme of mathematical juggling a sufficient amount of money is taken from the several counties of the State and then with a blast of the trumpet it is paid back into the School Treasury, less one hundred thousand dollars the amount evidently appropriated for carrying out this accomplished feat of financial juggling. Is there any occassion for surprise when reference is had to the publication of the Russell Sage Foundation to learn that in general efficiency our schools of this great Commonwealth stand twenty-third, while current expenditure per child of school age, this Commonwealth takes the twenty-sixth place among the list of forty-eight States? Are we proud as citizens of this Commonwealth and is it to our credit that we should be so far down in the list? Indeed this melancholy picture might be continued when it is realized that instead of a prospect of advancing nearer to the head of column, we are dropping each school year more nearly to the bottom of the class.

The purpose of the introduction and passage of this bill is to remedy the evils of unjust and unequal taxation. It is provided by this bill that all property, real, personal and mixed, now the subject of taxation in Pennsylvania, should bear a just proportion of the cost of government, state or local. It is to remedy the evils of under valuation of property. By this bill a Tax Commission would be created whose sole duty would be to see that no property subject to taxation should be unjustly taxed. As conditions now stand throughout the agricultural district of a large portion of this Commonwealth, as will be shown by reference to the last census taken by the government for the decade ending 1910, relief must come and speedily if the process as shown by these statistics of the depopulation of these districts is not to be continued.

The ever-rising tax assesment of these communities can have but one effect and that is to drive the population from these rural districts, whether from farm town or village, and were all property assesed for local purposes as well as state, this condition would be remedied.

Mr. SPEAKER. This bill provides among other things that the duties of the Tax Commission shall be:

To assess public utilities for tax purposes.

To equalize and review all local assesments.

To have powers to make re-assessment.

To have the power to examine books of firms and corporations and to report information relating to their financial affairs.

To have general supervision over the assessment of taxes in Pennsylvania.

To confer with, aid and direct local assessors.

To cause the tax laws of this Commonwealth to be enforced.

To have the power to summon and subpoena witnesses, books, etc, and to administer oaths.

To provide books, blanks, and forms for such purposes.

They have power to assess or order property assessed which in the past have escaped assessment.

In no other state of the union, with the possible exception of Delaware are the people required to submit to so humiliating and dishonest system for the purposes of collecting taxes to maintain the government, whether state, national or county. In our neighboring state of New York, which by the way, occupies third place in schools among the states or the union, all public utilities property and all other property are uniformly assessed for all purposes.

With the result that there is no occasion for complaint among the tax payers of the state.

I am not one of that class of people who seriously believe that Pennsylvania, both state and locally, is collecting too much in taxes. Indeed, it is my opinion, that the amount might be doubled and permit the cities, counties and towns of this Commonwealth to accomplish their public and necessary improvements, to properly build and maintain their schools, to adequately reward and compensate our instructors in those institutions and to do such other things, such as the construction of highways and other great public necessities, which would and should put Pennsylvania, not only at the head of the class in educational matters, but preeminently at the head in all matters beneficial to her people. Were this bill a law—I wish the Philadelphia delegation would, at this point, give their attention—were this bill a law Philadelphia, Pennsylvania's metropolis, would not be in the position of hocking her watch to raise money for public improvements absolutely necessary for the development and growth of the city and the comfort and convenience of her population. She as a city, its seems to me, is fortunate, in owning her gas companies, which at this hour, if I understand correctly, her Mayor and City Officers are carrying the title thereto to hock it for the next half century to raise sufficient money to dig a few holes in the ground through which to extend the subway system, while all around on each and every side are untold millions of property, owned by public utilities companies who absolutely escape taxation for local purposes. If these properties were assessed as provided for in this bill, no injury could be-fall either the companies or her people. She would no longer be known as a suburb of Ne wYork, but her financial condition would permit her to develope her vast natural resources, both public and private, and in a word, would take her place among the cities of this nation to which she is justly entitled. It is unnecessary for me to say that an overburdened community, through unjust tax laws can have but one tendency wherether it be in Philadelphia or on some outlying farming district and that is a loss of opportunity and a lack in proper development of resources, together with an inevitable tendency toward depopulation. Mr. Speaker, the members of this House, and also of the Senate, have it within their power, to remedy this existing condition, and I want to ask every member of this House to vote to put this bill on the calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Ninety-six gentlemen, or more than the number required by the rules, having voted in the affirmative, the motion was agreed to, and the bill will be placed upon the calendar.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. JAMES J. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote whereby House Bill No. 1266, file folio 2989, entitled:

An Act concerning the relations between attorney and client on suit being brought in any court of this Commonwealth and providing that the atorney shall have a lien for his compensation for his services upon the client's cause of action claim or counter-claim which shall attach to any award order report decision compromise settlement verdict or judgment in the client's favor and the proceeds thereof in whosoever hands the same may be and which lien shall not be affected or defeated by any compromise or settlement between the parties before or after judgment was defeated on third reading on April 8th, be reconsidered

Mr. RUNK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, this is the Lawyers' Fee bill, which was defeated on last Tuesday. The purpose of making this motion is to have the bill recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for amendment, so that it may meet the objection which have been raised on the floor of this House.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman agree to have this bill so amended that it will not a first lien?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the bill will meet the objections of the gentleman from Delaware; yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1266, entitled:

An Act concerning the relations between attorney and client on suit being brought in any court of this Commonwealth and providing that the attorney shall have a lien for his compensation for his services upon the client's cause of action claim or counter-claim which shall attach to any award order report decision compromise settlement verdict or judgment in the client's favor and the proceeds thereof in whosoever hands the same may be and which lien shall not be affected or defeated by any compromise or settlement between the parties before or after judgment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by the gentleman from Beaver M. Swift, seconded by the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Watch that the vote by which House Bill No. 414 file folio 4493 was defeated on final passage last Thursday be reconsidered

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOHR. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, the objection which was raised to this bill when presented to the House last Thursday was that it created a new set of office holders; also that it would materially increase the cost of lime; and for those reasons I think the bill should be reconsidered because neither of these facts are the case.

I find by looking over the bill, that according to the license fees as designated in this bill, the increase in the cost of lime to producers of the third class would be three-tenths of one cent per ton; to producers of the second class, one cent per ton, and those of the first class five cents per ton. To those who produce only a small amount it will not increase it more than five cents per ton, while the larger producer will increase one cent per ton and those who produce still more it would increase it three-tenths of one cent per ton, and to those who produce a still larger amount, the increase would be still less proportionately; therefore the increased cost of lime would be so small as not to be noticeable to the consumer. I think this would justify the consumer in paying the increased cost for a ton of lime if he would get the guarantee of analysis which this bill would afford.

On the other hand, it was argued that it would create a lot of new office holders. I think this is not the case, because as was said on last Thursday, this would be taken care of, by the agents of the fertilizer department and the revenue derived from the enactment and the enforcement of this bill is to be devoted entriely to the payment of the expenses incurred in carrying out its provisions, so that this will not be a burden on the State in any sense.

I therefore ask that this vote be reconsidered because of the small House at the time it was taken last Thursday.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas nays were taken as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO LOWER TELEPHONE RATES.

Mr. CONNIFF offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over for printing.

Whereas There has been universal complaint about the high telephone rates in all parts of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, This condition has been exposed by the report of the State Railroad Commission, wherein reduced rates and new schedules were suggested;

Therefore Be It Resolved, That the State Railroad Commission be instructed to confer with the telephone companies and bring about reduced rates along the lines recommended in their respective schedules, and report to the House of Representatives within fifteen days.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved that the vote by which House Bill No. 30, file folio 3233, was defeated on third reading, April ninth, be reconsidered

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the nays seemed to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for. 84 voting in the affirmative and 53 in the negative.

And the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FRANK GRAY. Mr. Speaker, it seems that we had a little fun about this bill during the past week, and I suppose it was taken as a joke. We realize the fact that the old saw will go here, that a little nonsense now and then is relished even by Assemblymen. But, seriously, this is a meritorious bill, and is very much desired by the State Board of Health. Most any one of us, perhaps, would take a chance on a common drinking cup, or even on a finger bowl, but most of us will draw the line on the roller towel. Out in our own washroom, I find that nearly all the members of this House prefer the individual towels, and use them until we run out of them, and the overworked custodians are unable to get us any more, and we all refrain when possible from using the roller towels. There are many reasons why this bill should pass. Many of you have had the fact brought home to you in traveling over the country. There is a delegation of traveling men in the back part of the House who are interested in this bill, and I think most of you are in favor of it. It was brought to my attention from actual contact myself in this matter. I have been on the road for twenty-five years, and I know what I am talking about. As I said last week when we were having a little fun with this bill, that it would enact no hardship on any one, but would provide something that is needed in the way of towels. We have the fiber or paper towels that can be used. We now come down to the serious question of whether or not this pernicious habit of all wiping on the same towel is to be abolished. It has been abolished in several States; they have abolished it in New York State, which is our nearest neighbor. Kansas abolished it a number of years ago. I hope, gentlemen, that the bill will pass.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas nays were taken as follows, viz:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, on Thursday or Friday of last week, His Excellency, the Governor, vetoed House Bill No. 168, which was an amendment to the Act of 1834. This bill passed the House with but one dissenting vote and by a unanimous vote passed the Senate. The Governor in his veto said that it was a proper measure but he raised some objections to it in its present form. I have a bill prepared to meet the objections of the Governor, and I ask unanimous consent to introduce it at this time.

BILL INTRODUCED.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the introduction of the bill at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the bill will be received by the Clerk.

OPINION FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The SPEAKER. The Attorney General of the Commonwealth has sent a communication to the House which will be read by the Clerk.

The Communication was read by the Clerk as follows:

Harrisburg, Pa., April 14, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sirs:—This is an acknowledgment of the receipt of your communication of the 10th instant, requesting my opinion on or before Monday the 14th instant.

It is, and long has been, an established rule of the Attorney General's office, to give opinions to the Departments of the State Government, only upon a concrete state of facts, and to refuse to give an opinion upon an suppositions or hypothetical case propounded by any of the Departments; much less, therefore, should such an opinion be given to the Legislature upon some possible bill not as yet introduced into the Legislature, nor, so far as appears, even drafted. In view of this firmly settled and well grounded practice, you will permit me to express the regret that the opinion of this Department was not requested upon some bill actually introduced into your Honorable Body, dealing with the subject matter of the resolution. However, as time seems to be made the essence of your request and as it is my desire to afford a possible light upon the simple propositions involved in your inquiry, I may say that the proposed constitutional amendment, in my opinion, contemplates and requires the adoption of such amendment by the people as a condition precedent to the enactment of any enabling legislation therein and thereby authorized. The present Constitution forbids the creation of such a bonded indebtedness. The purpose of the proposed amendment is to give constitutional authority, not lacking, to the Legislature to create such a bonded indebtedness. Obviously, as it clearly seems to me, the amendment to the Constitution must be first adopted; and then, and not until then will the Legislature have the constitutional authority to enact the necessary enabling legislation.

Faithfully yours,

(Signed) JOHN C. BELL,
Attorney General.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1153, as follows:

An Act for the prevention of blindness by requiring the reporting of cases of ophthalmia neonatorum (inflamation of the eyes of infants) by physicians mid-wives and others and requiring the reporting of results of treatment of each case of said disease and fixing a penalty for violation thereof

Whereas statistics show fully thirty (30) per cent of cases of blindness to be due to inflamation of the eyes appearing a few days after birth and whereas experience has proved that this inflamation can be cured and the eye-sight saved in the majority of cases if the proper treatment be instituted at an early stage of the disease

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every physician practicing in any portion of this Commonwealth who shall treat or examine any infant suffering from ophthalmia neonatorum (inflamation of the eyes of infants) shall if the said case be located in a township of the first class a borough or a city forthwith make a report in writing to the Health Authorities of said township city or borough and if said case shall be located in a township of the second class or a city borough or township of the first class not having a board of health or body acting as such to the State Department of Health upon blanks supplied for that purpose in which report he shall under his or her own signature state the name of the disease and the name age sex color and nativity of the infant suffering therefrom together with the street and house number of the premises in which said infant may be located or otherwise sufficiently designate the same the date of the onset of the disease the name and occupation of the householder in whose family the disease may have occurred together with such information relating to said case as may be required by said health authorities and the State Department of Health

Section 2 That any mid-wife or nurse or other person having the care of an infant whose eyes have become inflamed or swollen or reddened at any time within two weeks after birth shall report the same in writing to the health authorities of the city borough or township of the first class in which the case may be located or if it be located in a township of the second class or a city borough or township of the first class not having a Board of Health or body acting as such the State Department of Health within six hours after the discovery thereof giving the name of the infant the names of the parents or guardians and the street and number of their residence or otherwise sufficiently designate the same together with the fact that such inflamation or swelling or redness exists and shall make a simlar report in writing to some regularly qualified practicing physician of the district

Section 3 That it shall be the duty of the health authority of the State Department of Health immediately upon receipt of a written report from a mid-wife or a nurse or person other than a practicing physician to notify the parents or guardian or other person having charge of the infant of the ranger to the eyes or eye of said infant by reason of any neglect of proper treatment of the same

Section 4 Every physician in this Commonwealth who shall treat any infant's eyes for aphthalmia neonatorum (inflammation of the eyes of an infant) shall within forty-eight hours after said physician ceases treatment of or attendance upon such case of ophthalmia neonatorum report to the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that said physician has treated a certain case of ophthalmia neonatorum giving full information as required in section one of this act stating that he has ceased treatment of or attendance upon said case and what was condition of infant's eyes when physician ceased treatment of or attendance upon said case of ophthalmia neonatorum

Section 5 Every health officer shall furnish a copy of this act to every person who is known to him to act as a mid-wife or nurse in the city borough or township for which he is health officer and the Commission of Health of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall cause a sufficient number of copies of this act to be printed and supplied to the health officers

Section 6 Any physician mid-wife nurse or other person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any Justice of the Peace of Alderman of the county wherein such offense was committed be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than twenty or more than one hundred ($100) dollars to be paid to the use of the said county and the costs of prosecution or to be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not less than ten (10) or more than thirty (30) days or both at the discretion of the court

Section 7 An "Act for the prevention of blindness imposing a duty upon all mid-wives nurses or other persons having the care of infants and also upon the health officers and fixing penalties for neglect thereof" approved the twenty-sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five be and the same is hereby repealed

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 804, file folio 5363, on page 17 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 804, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the purpose of aiding and assisting cities boroughs and other municipalities to pay for the construction of sewage disposal plants providing the conditions under which the money hereby appropriated shall be disbursed and paid and providing a system under which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may hereafter aid in the construction of such sewage disposal plants

Whereas the construction of adequate sewage disposal plants in the various municipalities entails a considerable expense upon such municipalities and

Whereas many municipalities have exhausted or nearly exhausted their constitutional borrowing capacity and

Whereas the disposal of sewage other than by prescribing it in its raw state to flow into the streams of the Commonwealth is for the common welfare of the people of the State and

Whereas it is intended that State aid be inaugurated for the purpose of aiding and assisting municipalities in the construction of sewage disposal plants under some system which will not permit the larger municipalities or any of them to absorb the fund appropriated for any appropriation period and thus prevent the construction of sewage disposal plants in other municipalities until such time as more money maybe appropriated by the legislative enactment therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one million ($1,000,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary for the two years beginning June first Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen is hereby appropriated for the purpose of aiding and assisting cities and boroughs and other municipalities to pay the cost of sewage disposal plants as herein further provided

Section 2 Whenever after the passage of this act it shall become necessary for any city borough or other municipality in this Commonwealth in accordance with existing laws to cease discharging their sewage into the waters of the Commonwealth and for this purpose such city borough or other municipality shall submit plans and specifications for the construction of a sewage disposal plant to the Commissioner of Health and such plans and specifications shall have been approved by the Commissioner of Health the councils or other proper authorities of such city borough or municipality may at any time before the first day of March of an even numbered year beginning with the first day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fourteen give notice to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth on forms furnished by the Commissioner of Health for that purpose that such plans and specifications have been submitted to and approved by the Commissioner of Health which notice shall also contain the estimated cost of the construction of said plant

Section 3 Immediately after the first day of March of each even numbered year beginning with the first day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fourteen the Auditor General of the Commonwealth shall place to the credit of the cities boroughs or other municipalities from which notices have been received in accordance with section two of the act its estimated proportionate share of any moneys appropriated by act of Legislature for the two years beginning the first day of June of such odd numbered year based upon the total estimated cost of the plants for which such notices have been received and the total appropriation therefor

Section 4 Whenever any city borough or other municipality after having complied with the provisions of section two of this act have actually begun the construction and erection of a sewage disposal plant upon plans and specifications approved by the Commissioner of Health the councils or other proper authorities of such city borough or other municipality shall render quarterly on or within thirty days after the first day of March June September and December respectively beginning with the first day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fourteen to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth a statement of the cost of labor and material for the said sewage disposal plant for the previous quarter or if it be the first statement from the time the work was begun

Section 5 During the construction and erection of any sewage disposal plant receiving State aid the Commisioner of Health shall have the right through his engineers and assistants to direct and supervise the work and the material used in order that the same may be up to and in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by him as required by this act The expense of such direction and supervision including services of inspector traveling and other necessary expenses incident thereto shall be paid by the Commissioner of Health out of moneys appropriated for the general expenses of the Department of Health and shall be certified quarterly to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth and shall be deducted from the amount payable to the city borough or other municipality constructing such disposal plant and credited by the State Treasurer to the appropriations to the Department of Health

Section 6 Upon the receipt of a quarterly statement as provided for in section four of this act from the authorities of any city borough or municipality the Auditor General of the Commonwealth shall submit the same to the Commissioner of Health for his approval and when such statement is so approved by the Commissioner of Health shall honor the recognition of the proper authorities of such city borough or other municipality for a proportionate part of its share of monies appropriate for that purpose withholding however from each quarterly payment fifteen per centum of the amount to which such city borough or other municipality would be entitled as a reserve fund to be paid upon final settlement and the adjustment of possible differences between estimated and actual cost and also deducting therefrom the cost of the direction and supervision of the work by the Department of Health

Section 7 Any city borough or other municipality having a sewage disposal plant in the course of construction and unfinished on the first day of June of any odd numbered year may continue to receive its proper proportion of any moneys appropriated for the preceding two years and placed to its credit as provided in section three of this act but may not share in any appropriation for any other period

Section 8 No contribution made by any State appropriation for the purpose of aiding and assisting cities boroughs and other municipalities to pay the cost of such sewage disposal plants shall at any time exceed one-half of the cost of such sewage disposal plants

Section 9 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to in any way repeal or interfere with the enforcement of the provisions of an act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act to preserve the purity of the waters of the State for the protection of the public health"

On the question,

Shal the bill pas finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire some explanation from the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for an expenditure of $500,000 per annum, or $1,000,000 in two years, for the purpose of aiding the various cities and municipalities of the State in erecting or building sewage disposal plants, which work will be completed in about twenty years, or thereabouts. I would say, at the present time, Mr. Speaker, that 269 cities and boroughs and eight townships have bene ordered to prepare plans for sewage disposal plants at an estimated cost of $20,085,000. Now, if this State should aid in the building of these sewage disposal plants, it would take about twenty years, without overburdening the municipalities or the State. It seems to me only fair that the State should aid in this matter.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I call for the order of the day, which is the sepcial order for the consideration of Senate Bill No. 819, House Bill No. 1890, file folio 1359.

The SPEAKER. The Special Order will follow the bill now under consideration.

The gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North, has the floor.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, it sems to me that the aid that the State should give in this matter would not only be an advantage to the State, but will be a special advantage to the municipalities that have been ordered to build these disposal plants.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Jefferson what amount it is contemplated that this legislation will include in its entirety?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I did not catch the gentleman's question.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman what amount it is contemplated that this legislation will include in its entirety.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, for what amount?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Yes, Mr. Speaker, for the scheme, the whole system.

Mr. NORTH. Well, Mr. Speaker and gentleman of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, it will require about twenty million dollars to aid 269 cities and 8 townships which have already been ordered to construct these various disposal plants.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further, as to whether or not it has been estimated that it will cost between forty and fifty million dollars?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, not for those that have already been erected.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, is that as far as your estimate of twenty million dollars goes? Merely those that have been in contemplation, that have made request? What is the amount of money that it will cost the State to carry out this legislation in its full scope at it is contemplated, covering the various cities, boroughs and other municipalities?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, for those that have already been erected $20,850,000.00; for those that have been considered, about twenty-four million.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The SPEAKER. The hour of nine thirty having arrived, the special order is the consideration of House Bill No. 1890, Senate Bil 819, on page 48 of tonight's calendar.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1890 (Senate bill No. 719), entitled:

A supplement to an act approved the twenty-fourth day of March one thousand nine hundred five entitled "An Act established in counties containing a population of from three hundred thousand to one million a board for the assessment and revision of taxes for State and county purposes prescribing their powers and duties and abolishing the office of ward borough and township assessors in so far as respects the assessment of State and county taxes" providing for the appointment by said board of collectors of county taxes in cities of such counties and defining the powers and duties of such collectors

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, I wish to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill concentrates the power the commissioner's formerly had in the Board of Assessors, by giving the Board of Assessors the power to appoint their tax collectors.

And said bill having been read at length the third time considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call up House Bill No. 1419, file folio 5449, entitled:

An Act to provide for the erection of public comfort stations in the several cities and boroughs of this Commonwealth and empowering the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth in certain cases to let contracts for the erection of such stations at the cost of such cities and boroughs from page 18 of today's calendar Bills on Final Passage Postponed, for the purpose of amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1419, as follows:

An Act to provide for the erection of public comfort stations in certain cities and boroughs of this Commonwealth and empowering the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth in certain cases to let contracts for the erection of such stations at the cost of such cities and boroughs

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be the duty of the corporate authorities of each city and borough within this Commonwealth having a population of more than fifteen thousand inhabitants according to the last decennial census of the United States to erect and maintain public comfort stations for the use of the general public

Section 2 The corporate authorities of each municipality as provided in section one of this act shall immediately after the approval of this act provide for the erection of one or more public comfort stations as the population of such municipality may require Said authorities shall by due advertisement invite sealed proposals for bids for the erection of such public comfort stations and shall let the contracts therefor to the lowest responsible bidder and shall take from such bidder a bond with sufficient security conditioned for the faithful performance of such contract

Section 3 The corporate authorities of any such municipality are empowered to provide for the cost of the erection of such public comfort stations from funds in the treasury of such municipality or to issue bonds therefor in the manner now provided for the issuing of bonds by an act of Assembly approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled "An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" with its several amendments and supplements

Section 4 The public comfort stations provided for in this act shall be centrally located and shall be so erected that they can be maintained in a sanitary condition Such stations shall have at least one compartment for men and one compartment for women and shall be constructed so as to afford privacy

Section 5 If any municipality shall neglect for a period of two years to carry out the provisions of this act it shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Health to erect such public comfort stations under the provisions of this act as he may deem necessary and collect the cost thereof with an additional penalty of twenty per centum from the proper municipality in an action of assumpsit and in the name of the Commonwealth in the same manner as debts of like amount are recoverable

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was then read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section one, line six, by striking out "15,000" and insert in lieu thereof "12,000."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be prepared for final passage.

Section 5 This act shall go into effect on October first nineteen hundred and fourteen

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a word of explanation to this bill. This bill applies merely to two State institutions for epileptic, idiotic and feeble-minded. It is in accordance with recommendations approved by a Commission which the Governor appointed two years ago to investigate and report on the segregation of idiotic and feeble-minded. They have made this recommendation and this bill is drawn in accordance with their recommendation. There are two such institutions in the State: one is at Polk in the western part of the State and the other one is at Spring City in the eastern part of the State. This bill apportions the different counties to these two institutions. To this institution at Spring City it gives the counties in the eastern part of the State. It has always been the practice with the Board of Trustees of this Institution to require that the commitments of patients be made by the Courts and the Courts have uniformly done that committing and discharging on most of the inmates in that Institution. There is some doubt among the Courts as to whether or not they have that power. It is, therefore, our desire to make it clear and give the courts that power to commit and discharge inmates. One other feature of the bill is that it gives the Commission on Lunacy, a branch of the State Board of Charities, power to transfer patients from this Institution to other Institutions and vice a versa; a power which they already have and which they do have among the Insane Asylums. It will make it more definite and economical for all the Institutions if they can adjust matters in accordance with these recommendations and if they can change patients from one Institution to another. It is a State Institution and this bill applies only to this one.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, just a few brief remarks about this bill, which I think, however, by this time has been make very clear and is well known to each member of this House. This is the Department of Labor and Industry bill, which has been endorsed by every benevolent society, every labor organizzation, and every person in the State having anything to do with the Department of Factory Inspection. The bill has been most carefully drawn. This is a very meritorious measure, and I think, Mr. Speaker, that this is the kind of bill which a member would take some pleasure in supporting, and I ask each and every member of the House to vote for this bill.

On the question, recurring.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary of the Governor being introduced presented the folowing communications from His Excellency, the Governor which were read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 270.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed "House Bill No. 270, entitled "An Act to authorize and empower the courts of Common Pleas of this Commonwealth to fix by rule or standing order the return day of all writs of execution and final process."

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

Also the following:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 735.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, Pa., April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 735, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to authorize incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been re-conveyed to them' approved the twenty-sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one with its amendments providing for and authorizing the several courts of Quarter Sessions of the several counties of this Commonwealth upon petition of the managers officers and other persons to make orders and decrees for the removal of all bodies interred in such burial grounds or cemeteries belonging to any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and to provide for the purchase of new lots to the cost of the removal of such bodies and compensation to the owners of the lot or lots therein and the sale of the ground."

Although this bill purports to be merely a further amendment to the act of May 26, 1891, authorizing incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other ground and sell such portions of their lots as have not been used or conveyed by them for burial purposes, or which have been reconveyed to them, and containing but one section, it is more than that. By its provisions it is proposed not only to further amend the said act of 1891 as amended by the act of June 6, 1893, extending the provisions of the act of 1891 to unincorporated church, cemetery or burial associations, and further amended by the act of June 7, 1895, providing for the removal of bodies to other places of interment under certain circumstances, etc., but also to add three new sections providing a comprehensive method for the removal, under certain conditions of all bodies from burial grounds or cemeteries belonging to incorporated or unincorporated church, cemetery or burial associations, under a decree of the court of Quarter Sessions of the proper county.

By the approval of this bill the original act of 1891, containing one section relating to a single subject would be expended into an act containing four sections and referring to a number of matters not within the scope of the original act. This method of legislation, is, in my judgment, unwise, and instead of attempting to accomplish the purpose sought to be attained by this bill, by the present method, a new act prescribing a method for the vacation of burial grounds and cemeteries, under proper circumstances, and more carefully protecting the rights of the owners of lots therein, should be enacted and the present piecemeal legislation upon the subject repealed.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Agreeaby to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1913 — 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1913. No. 49.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 15th, 1913.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

O, Lord, we read in Thy word, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." We come to Thee at this time praying that Thou wilt be with us throughout this, another day. Another day has come fraught with responsibilities. Grant unto us strength to meet those responsibilities. Another day has come filled with hallowed opportunities. Grant unto us wisdom to avail ourselves of these hallowed opportunities. Help us to feel that we are not only to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, but to render unto God the things that are God's. May we this day then so faithfully serve Thee that we shall be laying up in Heaven treasures where moth and rust do not corrupt and where thieves do not break through and steal. Help us in this our morning's prayer, for Thine is the Kingdom, and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HERBST, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 364, entitled:

An Act to fix regulate and establish the fees to be charged by constables in this Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I simply desire to call the attention of the members of the Senate to the fact that this bill will about treble the present costs collected by constables. In addition to the costs that they are now allowed by law, a constable will be allowed a dollar for each hearing he may attend or each continued hearing. In the case of an appraisement he is allowed five cents for each article. You would have some aldermen or justices of the peace in country districts, who would attempt to collect as much money as possible, and you would find that he costs in a criminal case would amount to fifty dollars. It gives ten cents a mile for traveling expenses and gives five dollars for making an appraisement, out of which he must pay two dollars for appraisers, which allows him three dollars net. It revolutionizes the contables' fees, and I don't know of any business by which a man can make more money than to be elected a constable and collect fees under this bill.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I have not gone over this bill. It was presented to me by the Constables' Association in our County, and it was at their request that I introduced it. I don't know what increase has been made. They gave me to understand that the bill provided particularly, more especially, for instances where they went into the country and the expense of the trip was less than the fees allowed by the constables' fee bill, and it was for that purpose and along that line that the bill was prepared. That is the only explanation I have to make for it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 478, (House Bill No. 587), entitled:

Mr McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the Senate to the provisions of this bill. It applies only to the City of Philadelphia and it regards the janitors for cleaning in the City Hall. Under our present law all the cleaning, &c., of the building is under the charge of the Director of Public Safety. Under this bill it would take the few Court rooms in the City Hall out of the charge of his cleaners and permit the judges of the various Courts to appoint one or more janitors for each court room, and the judges would have the right to fix the salaries which must be paid by the Councils. As it is now the same cleaners clean a great many rooms in the City Hall. If this bill should be passed, it would merely create a lot of unnecessary employees who would have in their charge the cleaning of one or more rooms. The judges now have an ample number of tipstaves who take care of the general custody of the rooms, and there is absolutely no necessity for janitors, to those already there who have charge of the cleaning of the City Hall building. This bill ought not to pass.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, this is merely a bill to entrust with the Board of Judges that authority they now already possess, except as the selection of the person who performs the actual work. The janitor is selected at the present time by the Director of Public Safety it is true, but his work and the manner of doing it and the hours employed in doing it are absolutely under the supervision and direction of the Board of Judges, and it is simply adjusting a condition to create a more tenable situation between the employee and the employer, and to give the jurisdiction where I think the Senator as a lawyer in his own private judgment believes truly that jurisdiction should exist, and that is with the Board of Judges in the selection of the person. It is a bill that is hardly of any moment except to adjust a condition that should have been adjusted many years ago.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I might say in addition to that, that this position of janitor is somewhat different from that of an ordinary janitor. As the members of this Senate well understand and realize, in the few rooms where, the judges conduct their business they have their valuable papers and they have other documents lying around sometimes not locked up and it is only fair that these judges should have control over the men who clean these rooms and take charge of the rooms during their absence, so that they know who will be accountable to them in case anything should happen to be mislaid or disposed of. A janitor in a court-room is rather an important man after all, and the judges ought to have authority and know whom they are putting in there to take charge of their private apartments.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, as Senator McNichols says, this matter is not very important, and I have no personal feeling except for good government and general efficiency of our City Hall. The tipstaves, of course, are appointed with the duties that Senator Salus has referred to. Each court-room has a number of well paid men who have charge and general care of the business of the court-room. It makes for efficiency that all of the janitors of the building should be appointed and under the charge of one central head. We have gone on in Philadelphia for a great many years under the present law, and in my judgment there is no reason for creating a separate division for people as low down as janitors in the scale of men's work.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I only want to say one word in reply. These janitors are at work after the tipstaves leave. The tipstaves are not there twenty-four hours a day, and the janitors are really night watchmen of these court-rooms. They will do part of the tipstaves work after they have left.

An Act to provide for the payment of Commonwealth witnesses in criminal cases and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, it is almost sacrilege to say anything about a bill of the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Catlin, but I do not believe there is any necessity in Pennsylvania for this bill. Every county in the State is adversely affected. It provides that every witness in a Commonwealth case may come in at the end of the day and demand from the District Attorney an order, which must be given on the County Commissioners and go back to the clerk and get his pay. If he were there for four or five days he would have four or five orders necessitating additional clerk hire and wholly unnecessary additional expense to every county. I am not making this statement because I am specially interested myself any more than anybody else, but being of the opinion that it puts an unnecessary increase of expense on the counties I do not think it ought to pass.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, on behalf of the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Catlin, in this matter, I wish to state that this bill would only follow out the system that we have in Philadelphia. It requires no extra help to comply with its terms. When a man comes into the District Attorney's office he gets his printed slip that he was there on that particular day, goes around to the County Commissioners and there has it approved and he gets his money. It is only fair that these people who are witnesses for the Commonwealth should be paid. I understand it is the habit in some counties for the witnesses to appear before the District Attorney and he is sent home hoping that he will forget to come back. He is possible thirty or forty miles away from the county seat and he cannot afford to come back and get the dollar and fifty cents at the end of the month, and I believe that this bill ought to go through, that it is right for the witnesses that these workmen in particular in the counties should be paid their day's pay for services they render to the Commonwealth, just the same as a juror or any one else employed by the county in the performance of his duties, and I believe this is a good bill. We have the same system in Philadelphia and it works no hardship whatever.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my only objection to this bill is that it is retroactive. I understand this bill would run back five or six years. Any person who has been a witness in a criminal case in the past can come into the District Attorney's office now and the county must pay him the fee.

Mr. MILLS. Mr. President, I want to endorse the meritorious speakers who support this measure, particularly as to how it will work out in country districts. In my own district which comprises three rural counties sometimes witnesses are deprived of their costs for a year. I have in mind a case where the defendant after being indicted committed suicide, and the County Commissioners and the District Attorney refused to pay the witness costs. The ruling in the rural counties is that no costs are paid until after the cases are finally disposed of, and witnesses brought their by compulsory process and who travel long distances should have their pay. This bill is a great improvement over the present rule. It also should make the witness fees payable when they are excused, but to my mind it is an improvement on the old law, and in the case of witnesses who are forced to come hereby compulsory process, it is following out the teachings of the old law which says, "The laborer is worthy of his hire."

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I have no objection to the first section of the bill, I think it is just and all right, but as for the second section, I believe it would make an interminable amount of trouble for our commissioners. There is nothing to limit them in going back ten years. The accounts have been audited, and what would happen in the small counties and what would happen in the larger ones the same way? Every man who had ever been in Court and did not get his fees would be after the Commissioners, and I think it would make a great deal of trouble and a great deal of work and I think it would be a very bad precedent to establish.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, one more statement. I believe that it comes with poor grace at this time for anybody to say this would establish a bad precedent, that it would compel the counties of Pennsylvania to pay people what belonged to them. It is immaterial whether these witnesses fees are fifty years back. If they have earned them, they belong to them and under the law they are entitled to them, and I believe there is no county in this State that ought to be small enough to deprive a witness of his paltry one dollar and fifty cents if he earns it; if the Counnty keeps it, the county is cheating him and stealing his money and I believe it is unfair for anybody to oppose the bill on this theory. The county ought to pay the bill.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, under the present law they are not entitled to it. We pass a law that is retrospective to entitle them to something which the law does not give them at all. I believe the counties of Pennsylvania ought to pay and that a bill ought to have been passed before, but I say a retrospective law would be one of the worst precedents that could be established and I think it ought to be defeated.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 585, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the restoration of the Brig Niagara Commodre Perry's Flagship at the Battle of Lake Erie for its participation in the events of this Centennial Celebration year its care and for the erection of a permanent marker arch or memorial at Erie Pennsylvania

Whereas the States of Pennsylvania New York Ohio Illinois Michigan Wisconsin Minnesota Rhode Island and Kentucky have through commissioners duly appointed for that purpose formed an association and proceeded to erect a memorial at Put-in-Bay Ohio to Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and his brave men who fought with him at the Battle of Lake Erie and are proposing to hold a centennial celebration during the present year in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of that great victory and

Whereas the Brig Niagara to which Commodore Perry transferred his flag from the disabled Lawrence during the battle and which for nearly one hundred years has lain at the bottom of Misery Bay an arm of Presque Isle Bay at Erie has been raised by the Commisisoners appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to co-operate with the Commissioners of other States in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie and is now the property of the State of Pennsylvania and

Whereas the larger cities upon the Great Lakes from Buffalo to Duluth are proposing to hold celebrations beginning at Erie on July sixth on this the centennial anniversary of that great battle and all of the States participating are very desirous that Commodore Perry's Flagship the Niagara may be one of the features of the celebrations and the people of the whole United States are deeply interested in and concerned about the disposition the State of Pennsylvania is to make of this old Flagship and the part it will take in the events of this centennial year and

Whereas six of the nine ships constituting Commodore Perrys' fleet were built at Erie to wit The Niagara Lawrence Ariel Scorpion Porcupine and Tigress bearing fifty of the fifty-five guns carried by the whole fleet and for the single purpose of fighting this battle and after winning it the fleet returned to Pennsylvania waters at Erie bringing with it all of the enemy's ships it is fitting that a permanent marker arch or memorial be erected at Erie to commemorate not only the bravery of Commodore Perry and his gallant men but the part taken by Pennsylvanians in building the fleet and in fighting the battle including the conspicuous services of Captain Daniel Dobbins of Erie who was instrumental in inducing the Government to build the fleet and was in charge of its construction when Perry arrived in March one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated from any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated to the Commissioners appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to co-operate with the Commissioners from other States in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie for the purpose of restoring the aforesaid Brig Niagara to the condition she was in at the time said battle of Lake Erie was fought as nearly as said Commisisoners can with the exercise of reasonable diligence restore it to its original condition including rigging armory and equipment of every kind and for paying the expenses incident to the proper participation of said Brig in the events of this centennial year and the proper care therefor until further provided for by the Legislature and any balance of said sum hereby appropriated remaining after such restoration and equipment of said Brig and after paying the expenses incident to its participation in said centennial events and providing for care of same as aforesaid is to be paid and expended by said Commission toward the erection of a permanent marker arch or memorial at the city of Erie Pennsylvania commemorating the building of the fleet at that place as well as the splendid manner in which in the hands of the brave Commodore Perry and the gallant men who fought with him it performed its errand at the battle that followed its construction to be expended in conjunction with moneys contributed by the citizens of Erie and others for the purpose of erecting said permanent marker arch or memorial and all of the money hereby appropriated to be paid on the warrant of the Auditor General upon requisition of the President of said Commission and itemized vouchers for all expenditures to be filed with the Auditor General within a reasonable time thereafter

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, April 15, 1913.

The House met at ten o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we would try to understand that Thou art working out a plan in the monotonous routine of our daily life. That there is a discipline which even Omnipotence cannot give without assigning to His servants duty and responsibility and exacting care. It frets us at times and we grow weary of it; we become restless and rebellious; yet, we would never forget that our Lord himself was a carpenter; that He went forth each day from His humble home to unremitting toil; that His hands were hardened and His shoulders bent by the work of a laborer. Let us try to realize the teaching of this: that there is a discipline, a development in daily toil which can come to us in no other way. May we see, therefore, the plan of the great Master Builder in our daily work. May we accept it cheerfully and discharge it faithfully and so co-operate with Him. In this way shall we help to build that finest structure under the skies—the structure of manhood and of character, and Thy name shall have the praise of it, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to the reading of the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Kennedy, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to introduce an appropriation bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the Clerk will receive the bill.

Section 26 Except as herein otherwise provided this act shall take effect on the first day of September Anno Domini nineteen hundred and thirteen

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill and the bill following are what are known as child labor bills. In my mind, I think the House ought to fix a certain day and hour to consider these bills, and that we ought to have a little more time to examine them carefully.

I realize they have been on the calendar since the 22d of January. I do not know when they came into the House from the committee; and I realize that we have had all had an opportunity, if we chose to go before that committee and express ourselves; and I realize that all those interests involved have had that opportunity; and let I think every member in the House will agree with me that very few of us know the full contents of this legislation. It is of far-reaching influence; it affects all of the interests of our State, and legislation of that character should certainly be very well understood before we vote upon it. No legislation,

I believe, in this House, will effect the interests of our State or will have a more far-reaching effect than these two bills. Now I want it understood that I stand for the protection of child labor and female labor, along reasonable lines. I do think that these bills in many features should certainly be amended. With these few suggestions I hope that the friends of these bills will allow or at least second the motion to make these bills a special order for next Monday night. It will not delay the legislation. They will have ample opportunity, for this is final passage. Now we will all know that these bills are coming on next Monday night.

Mr. WALNUT. Make it eleven o'clock to-morrow morning.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Now the gentleman from Philadelphia suggests to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock. Now we cannot give them consideration. We will be busy here to-day with our other legislation and we will likely be busy to-night with our committees. Now there certainly should not be any objection to making these bills a special order. We all know very well that legislation of this character should have careful consideration and if we fix next Monday night, every member of the House can make a careful examination of the bills. I am perfectly satisfied with an intelligent expression of this House when the bills come to final passage. We will have Friday and Saturday and Monday to consider these propositions and it is not delaying the bills unduly to make a special order for them for next Monday night. I am receiving a large number of letters and possibly other members are, questioning the wisdom of these measures in their present form; no objections to the principles of the bills, but to the bills in their particular form at this time. I believe all employers of labor in this State are perfectly satisfied and anxious—the honest employers—that those who impose upon labor, the few—and there are very few—should be brought to book and made to treat their labor properly. But there appears to be in these bills some features that the interests do not believe proper and I hope the gentleman will agree to the postponment; and I therefore move that House Bills No. 105 and 119 be made a special order for next Monday evening, say beginning at nine-thirty o'clock, following the routine of resolutions, etc.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that I cannot acquiesce in the motion of the gentleman from Delaware. These bills have been on the calendar for at least a month. They have excited considerable discussion and I believe that most every member of the House has found out in some way or other that the bills are on the calendar. I think their attention and understainding has been drawn to the bills over and over again. For that reason I feel that we are not going to be better off on Monday night than we are this morning, and I therefore insist upon having these bills taken up in regular order.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I shall certainly be compelled to vote "No" against these bills in their present form and will be sorry to do it. I realize that I will be misunderstood by many people in my county and I believe the most of the members of this House will be in a similar position. The great interests of our State and the interests of each community are involved in these bills and there are many people who feel that if you vote "No" you want to make slaves of the labor of this State, but you don't nor I don't; and I will go as far as is reasonable to give them the proper protection and I will also go as far as reasonable to protect the great industries of this State. Now I do hope that the House will agree to my motion to postpone these bills and make a special order for them for next Monday night. These are my reasons and it ought to be done.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware, if we do postpone these bills until next Monday night and make these bills a special order as he has just stated, instead of acting on them to-day, would he vote "yes" on Monday night?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I really believe that this House will take out of these bills certain drastic features that I think ought to come out; but I say further than that, that after making every effort to have these drastic features taken out I will be on record and I expect to support these bills on next Monday night whether I succeed in having them amended or not. I am not begging the question on these bills. I know what is involved.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, I feel that a postponement of action on these bills until next Monday night will not in any way enlighten the members of the House more so than they are enlightened now on these two bills. It has taken considerable time since the beginning of the session of this Legislature to consider these bills. We have had long discussions. We have spent at least six hours on public hearings where all persons could come and be heard. Both sides have been heard. Amendments were offered on second reading. This House did not agree to amendments being inserted on second reading and I feel that postponement until next Monday night in order that the members of the House may read these bills intelligently and be well enlightened in the way before casting their vote for or against them is an unnecessary move. I feel that the man who is interested in the bills has been making a study of them, whether he be for or whether he be against the bills. If there is opposition to-day, surely these men have made a study of the bill. If there is a number of the members in favor of the bill, surely they have made a study of the bill. We may postpone until Monday night for the purpose of letting every man vote intelligently and then make up his mind on how he is going to vote. In the meantime there will be some other important legislation before this House and they may want to make a study of that legislation and in studying that probably forget the study they have made of the two bills now before us. I believe that this is the time to act on these bills. If there is anything wrong with these bills, then let the gentlemen who feel that they are not just and fair cast their vote accordingly. I am pledged not only from the particular point of party view, but as a man who feels that labor should be taken into consideration just as well as the opposition. There is not only one faction of the people interested in this bill. There is not only one faction going to be benefited or hurt. I believe labor is just as much a factor in the State of Pennsylvania as the manufacturing interests and I believe the postponement of the bill here to-day is not necessary and I would ask that the members of the House stand by the sponsor of these bills, Mr. Walnut, as they have stood in their pledges and cast their vote in the interests of the bills as presented.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I dislike to take the time of the House, but it appears that it is necessary to discuss to some extent the effect of this legislation, to show to the House the importance of thoroughly understanding these bills. These bills, as they stand now, in my mind, will bear more heavily upon the very class of labor in this State that desires our support and our protection, than any piece of legislation put upon our statute books. We have here in this legislation the proposition to fix a minimum wage. We have the proposition to fix the number of hours. Who will that legislation injure? Who will it affect? The minimum wage will not affect the proficient. The minimum wage will effect the inefficient workman, because no person is going to hire a wage earner who cannot earn the wage that he pays him, and if the minimum wage is one that the employee cannot earn, it means that he would not be employed. If the number of hours to earn that minimum wage is going to be reduced you will again increase the number of people who will not have any employment. If that doesn't bite deep down into the very gravest questions of this Commonwealth, I would like to know what question does, and I again repeat that I hope this House, knowing that it is a question that does not alone involve the employer of labor but involves the question of the inefficient, the very people that this Commonwealth is coming to the rescue by a legislative body—it is the reason we have a legislative body, to help the weak, not the strong—but here are two pieces of legislation, one fixing the number of hours and the other fixing the wage, that, if carried out as drastically as these bills do, it means the inefficient will be unemployed; and it is for that reason and for my desire to help that class of people and through no desire to help the so-called great captains of industry, but to protect the very people that they claim to be trying to protect, and I feel they have overlooked in the force of their proposition that the forces will rest upon and put out of employment the very persons that they desire to have employed. It is important. It is no great delay to wait until next Monday night for special order. I know very well that the great bulk of the members of this House are just as busy as I am and it is only when matters come face to face that we possibly have time to give them consideration. I know these bills were on the calendar. I know it was my duty to understand them and be prepared to vote on them; but every member of this House knows that with the great mass of legislation, just as important, and others not just as important, that we must peruse and keep before us when on the calendar, that we do not have time to meet these propositions. For that reason I feel that the House can well afford to make these bills a special order for next Monday night and I say it in the interests of labor and not in the interests of the employers of labor.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "nays" seem to have it.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. R. J. BALDWIN and Mr. HEYBURN and were as follows:

Baldwin, R. J.,	Moore,	Rothenberger,	Swartz,
Gramley,	Morrow,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I voted no on this bill, not under a misapprehension, but because I was asked very strongly to vote that way. I now desire to change my vote from no to aye.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Centre, Mr. Gramley, desires to change his vote from no to aye.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I object. The gentleman states that he did not vote under a misapprehension. If he desires so to do, he can file his reasons for voting.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and the vote will not be changed.

REASON FOR VOTE.

Mr. GRAMLEY. I voted "no" on House Bill No. 105 because a number of my constituents strongly urged me to do so. They claim that if this bill becomes a law it will so seriously affect them that they may be obliged to go out of business.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 878, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act creating the Department of State Police providing for the appointment of a Superintendent thereof together with the officers and men who shall constitute the force defining their powers and duties and making an appropriation for the expenses connected therewith" as amended by an act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to amend sections two and three of an act entitled "An Act creating the Department of State Police providing for the appointment of a Superintendent thereof together with officers and men who shall constitute the force defining their powers and duties and making an appropriation for the expenses connected therewith' approved the second day of May Anno Domini one housand nine hundred and five by fixing the salaries of the mployes of the Department of State Police also the salaries the officers and men of the State Police"

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Whereupon, a division was taken, 91 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 56 in the negative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1139, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act relating to corporations and estates held for corporate religious and charitable uses" approved the twenty-sixth day of April Anno Domini eighteen hundred and fifty-five as amended by the supplement to said act approved the second day of June Anno Domini eighteen hundred and eighty-seven and further amended by the act approved the first day of May Anno Domini nineteen hundred and seven by altering the seventh section and repealing the sixth section thereof

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I simply desire to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain it.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an amendment to the Church Corporations act of 1855. The amendment consists of a proviso to be inserted in section 7 of that act. This proviso is to the effect that money collected for church purposes can only be used in accordance with the rules and canons of the denomination to which the church belongs. The second purpose of the bill repeals sections 6 of that act. The effect of this would be to permit the church authorities or to give them permission to transfer church property to a successor as trustee. This bill effects only one denomination and that is the Catholic Church, of which I am a member. We have consulted eminent legal authority and prominent clergymen of different denominations who are satisfied that this bill will effect no other denomination except our own. The purpose of this amendment is to meet a condition which has arisen whereby a few men in certain communities among foreigners organized a church and collected money for that church and used it for their own profit. That is the purpose of the bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that the House will not gather from the remarks of the sponsor of this bill any conception of the magnitude of the principle which is here involved. This is not the first time that this bill has been before the Legislature. It met defeat at the last session of the Legisature and it is to be hoped that when it is thoroughly understood by this House that it will again meet defeat at its hands.

Briefly stated, Mr. Speaker, this bill may be said to be an attempt to do through the Legislature what has been failed to be done through the Courts, namely, to take from the St. Joseph's Lithuanian Catholic Congregation title to a property and place the same in the hands of the Bishop.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state to him that that is an unfair statement and that surely this bill will not take from any church their property and it is not the intention of this bill to do so and it will not do so. In support of that we have the advice of some of the greatest legal minds in the Commonwealth.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am glad indeed that the gentleman has perhaps made it necessary for me to take up more time of this House than I otherwise intended to. I intend to say nothing of my own knowledge, but I have here with me the opinions of the Supreme Court and they are recent decisions and I wish simply to read a little bit from them. I will read from 221 Pennsylvania Laws year 1908, the case begins on page 213. The whole opinion is too long to read but I will state that the case rose in a bill in equity in the case of Andrew Krauczunas et al. v. Michael J. Hoban, to compel a coveyance of real estate:

"The plaintiffs, ten in number, bring suit for themselves and their associates, who constitute an unincorporated religious association, named the St. Joseph's Lithuanian Catholic Congregation. The defendant is the Roman Catholic Bishop of the Scranton Diocese."

"So long, therefore, as defendant claims to hold in any degree under this conveyance, he cannot be heard to challenge the ownership of the congregation whose trustee he is therein declared to be. It is fundamental that a trustee, while occupying a place of trust and confidence, cannot be heard to set up an adverse holding; Perry on Trusts, Section 863, and the authorities there cited. While it is not for us to inquire into the reasons for the action of the congregation in directing a conveyance to other trustees, we have no hesitation in saying that if none other existed than the fact that the trustee in office denied the ownership of the party at whose pleasure and for whose use he was made trustee, this of itself would be sufficient to justify the action taken. Again, it is nowhere made to appear how, or by what proceeding, the church, as distinguished from the congregation became invested with the ownership of this property. Conveyance to the church is not pretended; nor is forfeiture on the part of the congregation. Nothing is asserted in this connection but ecclesiastical rules and regulations, which, except as they are aided by legal conveyance are ineffectual to divest any owner of his property. But more than this the position taken by defendant and sustained by the court, is in direct opposition to the law, whose supremacy, over all ecclesiastical rules and regulations when rights of property are concerned, is not to be questioned."

I also wish to read from the State Reports of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, as follows:

Now, therefore be it resolved, That all the property of said St. Joseph's Lithuanian Catholic Congregation is, and is hereby declared, subject to the jurisdiction of the Catholic Church and the Catholic Bishop of Scranton, and be it further

Resolved, That Rt. Rev. Michael J. Hoban, Bishop of Scranton, be and is hereby chosen and designated trustee for said St. Joseph's Lithuanian Catholic Congregation of the city of Scranton, Pennsylvania, to hold as such trustee all the property of said Congregation, and the title thereto in accordance with the laws, rules and usages of the Catholic Church in the diocese of Scranton and State of Pennsylvania."

Then, Mr. Speaker other cases have since been brought in which that congregation has indicated its right to hold property by trustees selected by it, and who have worship by independent priests and not by the ecclesiastical authorities. Now, Mr. Speaker, this is a matter that the Supreme Court has said is a settled policy. The history of not only this Commonwealth and its earlier times, but all civilized Europe, for years, has taught the lesson that where ecclesiastics have the great power of spiritual control, they ought not to have, at the same time, the power of economic power over property; and that these two powers are too large to put in the hands of one set of men. Therefore, the State of Pennsylvania, by the act of 1885, and which has been interpreted by the Supreme Court, the State of Pennsylvania decided once for all that its ecclesiastical property shall remain in the control of the non-ecclesiastical members of the congregation. Now, this bill before us is simply for the purpose, by one small clause, to read into the title of the church properties—and again I say, not only of one denomination; it is absurd to suggest that it is only one denomination, because the language of the change is perfectly general, I say the purpose of this bill is to read into the title of ecclesiastical properties the canons, orders and usages of the denominations. To vest in the ecclesiastical authorities and take away from the lay members, by virtue of the law of Pennsylvania, as set out in this bill, should it pass, the usages and canons which are not made by the lay memberds would absolutely determine the legal title of the property; and therefore the whole purpose of the act of 1855 would be reversed and turned upside down. Now, Mr. Speaker, there are churches where the laymen do not make the canons and usages, and if anyone desires to question that assumption, I have the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania back of me. I think, gentlemen, by this time, you should have gotten it clearly in mind that the purpose of this bill is to reverse the settled policy of this State since 1855, by reading into ecclesiastical titles of property all the canons and usages that may be made by particular ecclesiastical denominations. That, I think, is a mistake of public policy, and I hope that the House, having gotten that clearly in mind, will prevent that mistake from being made.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call attention, also, to another fact which will appear if we take into consideration the manner in which some other denominations' affairs are directed. This not only affects the church to which reference has been made, but it also affects every denomination where the affairs of the denomination are directed by bishops or elders. This bill, once enacted into law, it involves the Methodist Episcopal Church, in whose hands rests the administration of the property. It also involves the Episcopalian Church; it also involves the United Brethren Church; and no one can tell where these conditions may end if this bill becomes a law. It is the entering wedge, as I see it, to the union again of Church and State. It will bring surely conditions in the future, may I say it, it might cause struggles and sorrows that were passed through in the time of Henry VIII, when the Church of England was separated from the control of Italy. I say to you that we need to be at this time very watchful and very careful as to this legislation. As has been said, it robs a large and well-organized independent branch of the Roman Church of this country of its property rights. Not only that but it makes possibe the robbing of every other denomination, as I said before, whose adminstrative authority rests in the hands of the bishops, of their property rights. Who can tell what may happen in the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church if this bill becomes a law? Who can tell what may happen in the board of Episcopalian bishops if this bill becomes a law? It vests in them the authority and the right, not only to direct matters concerning real estate, but also personal property.

I want to call attention to this clause inserted in this act, "other than funds from plate Christmas and Easter collections and annaul voluntary contributions for salaries of clergy teachers organist and sexton," et cetera. Now, if we are not careful, when we read that section we shall be mistaken as to its purport and its meaning. If you will turn back to line 16, in the old law, you will there discover that this act strikes out the simple word "not" "shall not be otherwise taken". The law of 1855 and 1874 and 1907 says, and in line 70 of this enactment it says the same, "shall be taken and held." I want to say to this House, if this act is passed, that the great Roman Church, and the independent Roman Church, which now exists, shall not be permitted to take an offering on Christmas or Thanksgiving or Easter, or on any other day which shall not be under the direction of the bishops or the See at Rome. We have struggled for years to vest the property rights in the hands of the laity of every church and every denomination in this land, and you will discover this, if you have been following history—in 1907, when this act took place and when the authority to the property rights was vested in the hands of the laity, every denomination was called upon to change the charter of its churches, that it might harmonize with this law of 1855 and 1874. A large number of the denominations of this country commenced at once to change their charters. In the Assembly of 1909, a motion was made that the time of extension might be changed that others might change their charters, but at that time a like bill was presented in this House to change the law as it had been enacted in 1855 and 1884 and 1907. It was defeated, and then a motion was made to extend the time again, that churches might change their charters. It became my duty, as presiding officer of our conference, to help change sixty or seventy charters to conform with the original law. Time was given for the extension so that charters could still be changed, and now we come again to meet this same law in this Assembly. The purpose of introducing it was that this church, which stands over against this act, will not be compelled to change its charter to comply with the law as it now stands.

Gentlemen of this House, if this State has determined that this is law and this is right and that this is in conformity with the laws of our Republic and the laws of our State, shall we at this time make possible a condition that shall take from the hands of the laity of this State of ours the right of controlling property, or even directing how its Sunday collections or holiday collections shall be appreciated. I know it is said, and has been repeated over and over again upon this floor that this affects in no way any other denomination than the one referred to here. I want to repeat, if it does, it does not affect a denomination that is congregational in its government. If there are property rights vested in the local church, but where a bishop or where an elder is elected and vested with the power of controlling the finances of the denomination, it immediately opens the way for taking it out of the hands of the laity of that denomination and putting it in the hands of the bishops or elders or those who are put in authority.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Beaver permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver yield to the gentleman from Elk?

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Beaver state what churches are now held—what church properties are now held in trust by the bishops of the denominations.

Mr. SWIFT. The Roman Church.

Mr. FLYNN. Then, Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if this is not the only church to which this bill would apply in its effect.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, that may be true, because the Methodist Episcopal Church has changed the charters of its churches to conform with the present act—the Roman Church has not,—because the charters of the various churches of the Episcopal and Methodist Episcopal have changed their charters to conform with this law, but if this bill becomes a law then those churches may change their charters again and it will bring into the Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church a controversy that God only knows where and when it may be settled, and I warn this House that we are not simply dealing with conditions that belong to the Great Roman Church but we are dealing with conditions that are now arising and may arise in the future in reference to every church, as I have said before, where the authority vests in Bishops or in Elders.

I said a moment ago and I wish to call to your attention a few brief extracts that I hold in my hand, and therefore state that it really ends at the Union of Church and State: Once a law, we lose control of both our real and personal property, where the authority may be vested in a Bishop; and I ask this House to stand by that for which this nation and this State has struggled in the past. Why, my friends, if you will stop for a moment and consider the battles of the past that have been fought over this very thing, and shall we plunge ourselves backward into the medieval times to fight again the battles that we had supposed had been settled and well settled? Let us now, Mr. Speaker, stand true to what the Supreme Court has settled, what this State and this Nation has settled, and let us see to it that every local church has a right to control its property both real and personal.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, the Supreme Court in a very recent case has decided that where the law of Pennsylvania did not specifically prohibit any particular church regulation, then the canon law of that Church should be the prevailing rule, and in a case from the locality from which arose the case my friend from Philadelphia cited, carried to the Supreme Court as to the question of the disposition of the church collections it was decided there as that was no inhibition in any statute law, that money was disposable according to canonical regulations. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen, in standing up here today to discuss this bill, I feel a peculiar restraint upon myself, because, reared in a broad atmosphere, I have been educated to look men square in the face and where they have taken me on my merits and I take them on their merits. There is no question of denominational import that has ever been a topic of conversation between us. So today I keenly appreciate the difficulties of speaking on a proposition like this; but I do wish to raise my voice and raise it to the very dome of this Capitol and say that the man who discusses, in connection with this bill, the possibilities of the Union of Church and State knows not whereof he speaks. I say, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, that is a foreign topic to this discussion and I want to recall that last session my distinguished friend from Philadelphia, in discussing this very question, mentioned the French revolution and its causes arising from religious grounds, and I want it to be plainly understood, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, that I do not think those questions have any real bearing on this proposition at all, and I do not see in this bill, and I have read it just as closely as I could in order that in discussing it I might be absolutely fair to this House, I do not see anything in this bill which robs any lay trustees of their church property. I do not see anything in this bill which gives the Bishop or gives any clerical body the right to take from lay trustees their real estate holdings. I only see on page 4, in lines 77, beginning with line 77, this addition to the old bill:

"Which control and disposition shall be exercised in accordance with and subject to the rules and regulations usages, canons, discipline and requirements of the religious body or organization to which such church congregation or religious society shall belong."

Which means that in the conduct of religious services or in the carrying on of denominational matters in that church, it shall be controlled and disposed of according to the usages of the church. But suppose the lay trustees of a church hold the title thereto, is there anything in this act which says that the church shall automatically take over and turn it into the control of the Bishop or shall be held subject to the legal title of the canonical regulations of that church?

Mr. SPEAKER and Gentlemen of the House, I do not see anything in this act at all which robs the lay trustees but I only do see in it something to clarify a situation which has been a matter of considerable difficulty and discord in Pennsylvania and which in a very recent case the Supreme Court has considerably narrowed down because of the question of plate collections, that was held to innure to the Bishop and he held according was to the canons, usages and regulations of the church.

Mr. SPEAKER and Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to look at the thing calmly, appreciating the fact that there is no opportunity here of the Union of the Church and the State and that in so far as the Catholic members of this House are concerned, there is nothing more repugnant to their ideas of constitutional liberty than the idea of the Union of Church and State; and I say, gentlemen, this matter but clarifies the situation which the Supreme Court has in a sense clarified and I refer you to that decision and I feel that it is the very crux of the case and I see nothing which robs the lay trustees of their real estate holdings and turns them automatically on the passage of this act over to the clerical body; and I feel, gentlemen, that each man in this House may properly support this bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to enlighten the gentleman, not in what may happen, but upon what has happened in the case in 233 Pennsylvania, quoting from page 146, 147 and 148. That was the case following the one I read you before. In the case before, the Supreme Court said that the Bishop must lead back to the trustees the control and disposition of the property. He did so lead it back and then excommunicated the congregration, as I have already laid before you. This ended in the excommunication.

The congregation at a meeting then resolved as follwos, among others:

"Resolved that Rt. Rev. Michael J. Hoban, Bishop of Scranton, be, and is hereby chosen and designated trustee for said St. Joseph's Lithunaian Catholic Congregation of the City of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Now listen here—"to hold as such trustee all the property of said Congregation, and the title thereto in accordance with the laws, rules and usages of the Catholic Church in the Diocese of Scranton and State of Pennsylvania"

In other words they tried to give it to the Bishop to hold that way and you notice the same words that are copied into this bill and are now here in this bill because the Supreme Court said under the act of 1855, they could not do it in that way; that the act of 1855 says that it must be held to innure to the lay members and the lay members could not pass such a resolution giving the control to the Bishop in any way but as trustee for the congregation and not to hold it according to the canons, rules and regulations, and that is the secret for the peculiar words in this bill here. They are there because the Bishop forced them to excommunication but may they lead them to him in that way? The Supreme Court said that they could not do it in that way and so we have the words in this bill and that is the way this bill has been drawn.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to read two letters, one written by myself and an answer thereto, without using any names.

"I am enclosing a copy of House Bill No. 1139, which is up for third reading and final pasage this next week. In my opinion it simply would take the right of appeal to the courts away from Church members and create a perpetual trusteeship in the hands of a Bishop or Arch-Bishop, as the case may be. Of course, it applies more particularly to the Roman Church, but may in some instances affect all other Churches.

"If you care to make an expression on the matter I would be pleased to have your personal opinion, and ask you to write to me at Harrisburg in care of the House of Representatives."

Mr. SPEAKER. I asked to read this letter because it states very clearly what I think is the substance of the whole matter, which is the taking away from the congregation of its right to appeal to the court. I do not think there is any question in the matter excepting the removing of the right of appeal of the laymen to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Certainly Pennsylvania has always stood for religious liberty, and certainly I at least do not wish to interfere with the management of the affairs of any denomination in the State; but Mr. Speaker, I do not think that we ought to vote away the rights of appeal to the Courts of the State of Pennsylvania which are under our laws, supreme. In 1897 the whole question of the charters of all the Churches of Pennsylvania came up and the bill as amended was passed in 1907 and fully defined what was the position of the law in Pennsylvania relating to the charters and the management of all churches in Pennsylvania. Now, Mr. Speaker, if this bill applied only to the Roman Catholic Church, it would be special legislation, and of course out of order; but Mr. Speaker, I wish to say that the Episcopal Church, as well as some of the other churches have Bishops that would use all the powers that were given to them. We have two instances in the last two years. The Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia, discharged a minister of a mission which was self-supporting, but under the charter that mission was a part of Trinity Church and the lay members of that mission had no power to vote out the control of the vestry of Trinity Church. It had no power to appeal to the Court, because it was under the sole control of the vestry of the Trinity Church and the vestry had control over this other church which was self-supporting in itself.

The reply follows:

"I acknowledge receipt of copy of House Bill No. 1139, I have gone over this bill with some care and feel that I cannot give it my approval

"In my opinion it is an attempt to take from the laymen of the church the control of the temporal affairs of the church and place the same in the hands of eccleciastics.

"With reference to the Act of 1855, it has been long on our books and interpreted by the courts so that we now have an understanding of what the law is along that line. The results of the amendment we do not know.

"This Bill seems vicious to me in the provision contained in lines 76, 77, 78, 79 and 80 and I am also opposed to Section 2 which is an attempt to repeal Section 6 of the Act of 1855 and its supplements.

"I agree with you that this act applies more particularly to the Roman Church but I see no reason why the laymen of that church are not as a whole, capable of managing their property and also to have some voice in the management of its trusts.

"I want to keep the State in temporal affairs above the church."

There is the case of Bishop Whitehead in Pittsburgh last week. He refused to recognize a minister who was called to a church in Allegheny and the church in Allegheny finally after waiting a month or so gave their minister a six months' leave of absence which was practically accepting his resignation, because they could not get in harmony with the Bishop in regard to that certain minister. Now, Mr. Speaker, wherever any church is controlled by a bishop, and wherever the making of the canons is likely to fall in the hands of the ecclesiastics, that is the clergy and the bishop, then this bill would certainly apply, and because it does apply to those churches who have bishops, I am compelled to vote against the bill.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, when this bill was introduced in the last session I was absolutely against it because I believed that it touched on the union of the Church and State. When I heard the lawyers argue on one side and the other, I felt that I could not quite understand it from their point of view and voted against the bill. In this session of the Legislature, I made it my business to inquire as far as possible from the church of which I am a member to see if it would affect us in any particular. I have a letter from one of the prominent men connected with the church, whose name I will not mention, but I will read in part what he says to me for the information of the House: "My dear Mr. Cox: I think this bill is intended to meet the difficulties that the Roman Catholic Church has suffered through the property being held by an archbishop or a bishop rather than by the incorporated parish, and I am inclined to think that the contention is good. In all of our Protestant Churches, almost without exception, the property is vested in a corporation consisting largely of laymen. Sometimes the minister is not a member at all. So that this bill will not affect the standing of our ecclesiastics particularly. All large hospitals and so forth are also held by laymen. Of course, I would not presume to suggest how you should vote on this bill, but I think the principle of it is good and right." Gentlemen, I cannot feel that I will be going wrong to vote for this bill. I do not believe in the union of State and Church, and I believe that we should draw the principle fair and square or I would not have attempted to get information for this bill, and I want to inform the House that I will vote for this bill.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, when I saw this bill on the calendar first, it gave me some concern. My legislative district is composed very largely of the Catholic Church, several denominations being therein contained. I do not belong to that order. So I took the bill home and had it carefully gone over by the church people and the attorneys as well. I consulted one Polish attorney on the matter, whose opinion I respect. I also had the bill taken to the Bishop of Erie, through a political friend of mine who is a Catholic. I cannot see in the bill where it would affect the holding of property outside of that denomination. If this bill is instituted to aim at some faction of the Catholic Church not in keeping with the ordinary rule and canons of that church, I cannot see why it should not be enacted into a law. There is no church or division of a church, but that has some uniformity or unison in the method of holding the land and in the collection of their plate, etc. I think this bill is aimed particularly at one sect or one faction of the Catholic Church in Pennsylvania which has pulled away from the ordinary canons and rules and regulations of the church and stood out independently, you might say, a church of their own, and are running it for profit. I have legal opinions and opinions of the church people. If this was a unison of the Church and State, I would be against the bill, but I think that argument is a subterfuge to defeat the real purpose of the bill. I have gone over it carefully. I am not an authority on church matters, but I do contend that I understand the very point at which this bill is aimed, and I do contend that I understand what this bill purports to create, and I give my hearty support to the passage of the act.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with some considerable interest to the arguments for and against this measure—this proposed measure. Two years ago, if my memory serves me right, practically the same measure was before this House for consideration. I have listened to the attempts at a scare of the members which have been injected into the arguments as against this bill, but by a careful examination of the bill I find that it is an act to amend an act which has stood upon the statute books for a number of years, and which has received from time to time certain amendments. I must confess, Mr. Speaker, along with the gentleman from Erie, that in church affairs I am not an authority. I do profess, Mr. Speaker, however, to be able to read into a law which now stands on the statute books such proposed changes as may be made, or attempted to be made. I have carefully digested this bill, and I find very few changes from the original law, and it seems to me that there very little which would justify a thinking man to be fearful of the results if this proposed bill were enacted into a statute. To begin with, Mr. Speaker, all denominations have their rules and their general provisions for the conduct of their congregations or for the entire order, and I believe it is earnestly sought by all denominations that the various branches conform to the general rules and laws both in creed and in action and in the rules of conduct for the various congregations as well. I know of no particular branch of any church that is being sought to be reached by this bill, but as I read the bill, it is an endeavor to establish according to the rules and law, to the laws as they now are, a means by which title to church property may pass regularly and in conformity with their general laws. I think this is the main object of this bill. The first change which is injected into the bill, and a great scarecrow was made out of striking out that word "not," but I ask the gentlemen to be fair in considering the matter of the striking out of that word and use in conjunction with the striking out of the word "not" the word which follows the word "be" which is the word "otherwise." I call your attention to line 16 on page two of this bill "or the same shall not be otherwise taken and held." Now when the "not" and the "otherwise" are stricken out, which is a negative way of saying how it shall be held, you have the positive, and then it reads "shall be taken and held," and not "shall not be taken and held otherwise," but shall be taken and held in the very manner which is described in the original portion of the bill, and still, Mr. Speaker, as I suggested, the striking out of that word great stress was laid upon the word "not" but the gentleman was not sufficiently broad to call the attention of the House that the other word "otherwise" which described the condition negatively was also eliminated from the bill, and thereby the description was made in a positive manner. In line 22 of the bill which corresponds to line 76, after the word "otherwise" an addition has been made which is in relation to the rules, regulations, usages or corporate requirements covering and controlling the power of the church, and after the word "herewith" is added "which control and disposition shall be exercised in accordance with and subject to the rules and regulations, usages, or corporate requirements of the religious body or organization to which such church, congregation or religious society shall belong." Now, there is evidently a purpose for the injection of that provision in this bill, and it seems clear to me, Mr. Speaker, that the injection of those few lines in this bill, to which injection the voice of the gentleman from Cameron was raised, is for this purpose, and the very purpose that was suggested in the arguments against this bill, and that was, Mr. Speaker, to meet such conditions or changes of rules and canons of any church or denomination might hereafter adopt as the rule and canon and regulation for that particular church or that particular denomination so that if you please, Mr. Speaker, it would not be necessary that every time a church changed its general rule of action or the canons of that church, that it should have to come before this legislative body, or the successor of this legislative body, to ask this body to broaden the scope which would allow them to make such changes as in their wisdom and in their conduct of their own church they had found to be absolutely necessary for successfully carrying into operation their peculiar denomination. Now, Mr. Speaker, the next changes which is injected into the bill is in line 41, and I take this up in regular order so that the members may follow me. In line 41 in the original bill, the language is "subject to the control and disposition of the lay members thereof," and the words "lay members thereof" are stricken out and in their stead are used the words "as herein provided." Why as herein provided? Because of the fact that already in the previous part of the bill it places in the hands of the one whom this bill will authorize to hold and transact and transmit and hand down all of the real property and business of that institution he has already been named, and so instead of saying, "according to the requirements of the lay member thereof," the words are used, "authority of the lay members thereof," the provision is made, "as herein provided." now, in line 46, after the word "heretofore" and before the word "bequeath" referring to real and personal property was injected the words "other than the funds above excepted." Now, what are the funds above excepted? There is no scarecrow in that, Mr. Speaker, and nothing that should cause any one member of this House any alarm. The funds excepted are set out in the line beginning with line 63.

Whensoever any property real or personal other than funds from plate Christmas and Easter collections and annual voluntary contributions for salaries or clergy teachers organist and sexton shall hereafter be bequeathed devised or conveyed to any ecclesiastical corporation bishop ecclesiastic of other person for the use of any church congregation or religious society for religious worship or sepulture or the maintenance of either the same shall be taken and held subject to the control and disposition of the lay members of such church congregation or religious society or the control and disposition of such constituted officers or representatives thereof.

As to the Christmas contribution, the contribution in relation to the salary of the clergyman, the organist, the sexton, and all that, there is nothing in that. The next change is in line 53 and follows the word "be"—"in this connection shall hold and be held the property,, real and personal as proposed by changes therein and funds about to be accepted now held by such existing corporations shall be taken and held"—received if you please. If given, why not receive? The next change is in line 54 and follows along the same line of thought, "held subject to the control and disposition" and from that word on, these words are stricken out: "if lay members thereof or such officers or representatives thereof as shall be composed of a majortiy of the lay members, citizens of Pennsylvania having a controlling power according to the rules and regulations, usages or corporate requirements thereof"—all stricken out. These words are inserted—"as herein provided" so that it will read: "shall be held subject to the control and disposition as herein provided with like effect as though such provision had been inserted in the charter of the said corporation when originally granted, any other or different provisions therein notwithstanding." Mr. Speaker, I take it as I have carefully digested this bill that the provisions of this bill are attempting simply to do this one thing. that is to meet the conditions of to-day, not only of to-day but of to-morrow of next year, of ten years hence. Experience shows the church officials either at the church alone or by the lay members of the ecclesiastics, it makes no difference when it is evidence to that regulating ruling and controlling body that changes are necessary for the management and control of that church. It is shown by experience that then and in that event you have upon the statute books of Pennsylvania a statute sufficiently broad to meet these conditions which may be taken in adopted, put before the members governing them, and controlling them and making these conditions absolutely operative. A few years ago on the floor of this House I felt after listening to the arguments pro and con that that bill then should have been adopted and from that time until now, I have never been convinced otherwise. The more thought that I have given to the bill which is now before us, the more study that I have given and the more carefully that I have examined into its merits and its demerits the more I am convinced that this measure ought to be adopted at this time.

And said bill having been read at length the third time considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was prepared by the Legislative and Executive Committee of the Republican State Convention. It is the first time a question of this kind has been before the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

The ultimate object of this bill is to have a minimum wage established for women and children in this State. To-day there are thousands of girls working in stores and factories in Pennsylvania for a wage that is inadequate to support them in health and reasonable comfort. It is well-known that this is not only a great hardship upon the employee, but a menace to the State.

A wage that will enable the worker to live in reasonable health and comfort is just as important and necessary as laws regulating the safety and sanitation in factories; laws regulating the supply of water; laws fixing a minimum age for working children; laws in restraint of monoply; and laws regulating the services and charges of public untility corporations. We should prevent by legislation the hardships, cruelty, injustice and social waste due to a vicious competitive system, or the so-called freedom of contract in the matter of wages of women and children.

There is no real freedom of contract in these cases for the women and children are at the mercy of the employer. They are powerless to help themselves, the State must help them if they are helped at all. All just legislation is ultimately for the benefit of society, and every law is justified which, without doing injustice to any class, brings a wider measure of happiness and justice to some class or classes of society. (The Supreme Court of the United States has held that the Police power extends to all public needs).

The natural resources of the United States are sufficient to provide a decent living to all the citizens of this nation for centuries to come, and it is a fearful commentary upon our civilization that in the midst of this great wealth, women and children who are working long weary hours, are unable to earn enough to supply the bare necessities of life.

The report of the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, issued for 1911, besides other reports and investigations of a private nature in our possession show, that thousands of minors in this State are receiving less than 5 cents per hours, and that thousands of women are receiving less than 8 cents per hour. These figures reveal a condition of hardship, proverty and disease, which must eventually fall upon the State. All loss is absolute somewhere. Nature is very exacting, and the penalty must be paid. The just scientist, Huxley, has stated that a society based on inadequate wages, whatever temporary success it obtains, must in the end fall, through hideous misery and degradation to utter ruin.

All should have an opportunity in life, at least to the minimum conditions of a reasonable livilihood. To deny this proposition is to assume that citizens are not politically equal as persons, and that some human beings may lawfully be used as mere instruments to the well being of others, against this assumption the principles of natural morality and of democracy, no less than the doctrines of Christianity utter an emphatic protest.

An attempt to wade this protest by pleading considerations of commercial prosperity or social ability, will lack logical and moral truth, for the exploitation of one part of society for the so-called commercial end means in the concrete the subordination of one class of people to another. If this position is assumed it must be depended upon force, both physical and mental, and not upon moral grounds. (There are certain corporate interests that have had their agents here and elsewhere that have contested every proposed law which had for their objects the bettering of the conditions of the working people, and they are even contesting this bill—perhaps blindly—for greed makes men blind to moral and civil responsibility—which would establish a living wage to women and children).

Society exists for the good of all. But social and individual good are interdependent, fostered by the same agencies and retarded by the same obstacles.

Women and childen who are broken down by the hard strain of modern industrialism, and are driven lower and even lower until they accept wages which will not allow them to be properly fed and clothed or comfortably housed, cannot render to the community the services which should be demanded of all American citizens. Idleness is a crime, labor a blessing. But labor under some conditions destroys the body and embitters human life, and underpayment will achieve the same end and move rapidly. It is bad enough to exploit men, but it is visious to exploit women and children in such fashion as to force them to accept a wage which degrades them to a condition incompatible with the public welfare. The evil done to society by inadequate wages and subnormal planes of living is quite as certain, though not always quite as apparent as their evil effects upon the individual directly affected.

Those industries which do not pay wages sufficient for the physical efficiency of its workers are not only unjust to the individual worker, but detremental to the common good. The chief consequences of this situation are:

I. Children who might have become more productive in industrial efficiency through training are deprived of the opportunity.

II. Women workers who do not receive sufficient sustenance are rendered unfit for the burdens of motherhood.

III. Children that are born into the families of these unfortunate people are denied the advantages of healthy, moral and physical development, and they grow up even less efficient than their parents and are forced to live below the normal level.

IV. These defective employees are not able to turn out a fair amount of product while at work.

V. There is a great industrial loss to the community as a result of this condition.

VI. There is also a direct financial loss in the way of private and public charity to these workers in times of sickness, unemployment and old age, and a large expenditure as a result of crime that can be traced directly to these degrading conditions in which the employees must live.

As to the remedy.

There seems to be but one scheme of relief that gives promise of anything like general relief from this deplorable condition, and that is the establishment by law of minimum rates of wages for women and children that will equal or approximate the normal standards of living—the danger line below which wages cannot drop.

This question naturally divides itself into five parts:

The first problem is that of deciding what is the lowest possible rate that will furnish the normal needs of the average employee regarded as a human being living in a civilized community. This is a question of fact to be determined by investigation. At the present time scientific investigation can furnish an answer that is reasonably accuate as a working basis. This rate may change from time to time, hence the wisdom of the wage commission which can adjust the matter.

The second problem is that of determining what employees are not receiving the minimum wage. This is also a question of fact to be determined by investigation. The commission is given ample authority to make investigations and this point can be determined with reasonable accuracy.

The third problem is, can this rate be enforced after it is established. The commission is given full power by law to enforce its mandates similar to the Public Utilities Commisssion. It is to be equipped with efficient officers and we think the State will be able to enforce its orders. At the present time the State is enforcing successfully other laws, where the opportunities of concealement are much greater than the one under consideration. The books of the firm can be examined. The employer and employee must answer under oath. Collateral sources of information can be had, so there will not be much doubt about enforcing the rate.

The fourth problem is, does the minimum wage become the maximum? There is an honest, but unfounded fear among many people. This is not even true where mechanics in our large cities are receiving from 50 to 65 cents per hour as the minimum rate. Many of the more efficient mechanics are receiving considerable more than the minimum. If it is true in these cases where the rate is so high, it is true to a greater extent where wages are only a few cents per hour. Those empolyers who now pay their lowest paid empolyees an inadequate wage, prove by that very fact that they are paying to all their employees the very least that they can get them to take. They have reduced them as far as possible; if it were possible for them to reduce the wages of their higher paid employees, they would do so. They did not let the wages stay up by an oversight. Competition among employers will always enable the superior workmen to get compensation in advance of the lowest minimum. In Victoria, after the minimum wage system had applied to the clothing industry for 6 years the average pay was nearly 20 per cent. higher than the minimum established. This is pretty conclusive evidence that wages continue to vary with the individual capacity of the workers, notwithstanding the establishment of a minimum rate. In spite of keen competition there are many employers in every industry that are paying, even in the absence of any legal minimum wage, fair and reasonable wages to their employees. If you force the underpaying employer to pay more, the other employer will still pay more, than the minimum rate, so there is no reason for fear that the minimum shall become the maximum in these industries.

The fifth problem is, will this increase the cost of living?

My answer to that is, if it did, even then it would be a good investment for the State notwithstanding, for it is better to pay a little more for commodities if it means a little more happiness and joy to those now in distress and want. But experience has demonstrated that the evil results predicted by the opponents of labor have not taken place, but on the contrary, every reduction in the number of hours of employment and every increase in the wages of workmen have been beneficial not only to the workmen, but to the State. For in the greater number of instances the greater part of the additional cost has been met by a greater efficiency in the productive process, also, in the increased efficiency of machines. Another part has come out of the unreasonable profits of the employers.

It is very obvious that physically and mentally strong workmen can do more effective service than those physically and mentally weak.

Also, the purchasing ability of the employee, whose wages has been advanced, has been increased, hence he can create new demands.

We hear a great deal in Pennsylvania and the nation today about the conservation of our natural resources and the exploitation of the soil. We now see our past folly. We now know that the cost of restoring our farming land to its normal productivity will be much greater than would have been originally the cost of preventing its waste, and that the average level of prices of farm products will in the long run be much higher than it would have been had farmers adopted years ago the method of prevention. This early saving in prices of agricultural products will not compensate for the latter loss arising from the deterioration of the land.

Neither will the early saving in the costs of the commodities produced by the exploited workers compensate the loss due to lower industrial efficiency, sickness, poverty and crime. Hence in the long run it is much better to conserve the health and well-being of our citizens by seeing that they receive a wage that will enable them to live in reasonable comfort and happiness, by so doing we are protecting the best interests of the State.

I read from the highest medical authority in the United States:

"To show the rapid waste of the human race on account of subnormal industrial conditions, I quote from very high authority. This editorial was published in the Medical Record of February 19, 1910. 'Great Britain is to-day confronted by a not only numerically great but steadily increasing class of physical, mental and moral defectives of her own producing, who have in turn created problems in sociology, criminology and public health which threaten her very national existence. It is stated that the average British recruit for the Crimean War, when England contained a large class of well-fed, sturdy yeomanry, was nearly three inches taller, and nearly thirty pounds heavier than the average recruit for the Boer War two generations later, when an undernourished, degenrate population, four out of five of which lived in cities, was found to have developed. * * * * If it cannot be justly claimed that a large part of the American population is as yet suffering from chronic mal-nutrition—as is the case with the British masses—still it can be safely asserted that our poorer classes are already on its verge."

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not waver in my sympathy and consideration for the man woman or child who works by the sweat of his or her face, but to my mind the measure that is before us is a Utopian one. It is a condition that we would all like to see come to pass. There is not one of us here who would not like to see every woman and child who works and every man who labors receive more money than he gets now; but there are certain limits beyond which we, as legislators cannot go in order to bring the working man and working woman and child more pay than his employer can afford to pay. Under this bill three commissioners would have the power to go into any shop and determine what would be a liveable wage. I challenge the power of any board of three commissioners to go into the diversity of manufacturing plants in this State and determine what is a fair and what is a liveable wage. We cannot compel an employer whom the commissioners direct to pay a certain wage, to pay that particular wage, and what will be the result? It will mean that men who now are able to earn enough to keep soul and body together might not be able to earn that so-called living or minimum wage and instead of earning the wage that they now earn at present they would earn no wage at all. There is nothing in this bill to prevent the employer from discharging an employee whom he thinks is not worth the minimum wage as fixed by the commission. The result would be that the last state would be worse than the first.

I therefore feel, gentlemen, that although we all are in sympathy with the sentiments as expressed in this bill, we must challenge the practicability of its operation.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, on the third of last September, the people of Ohio adopted the following amendment to their Constitution:

"Laws may be passed fixing and regulating the hours of labor, establishing a minimum wage and providing for the comfort, health, safety and general welfare of all employees; and no other provision of the Constitution shall impair or limit this power."

The gentleman refers to men. I might state that this bill does not contemplate the wage for men it is simply for women and children. In Ohio, just recently, under the provisions of an amendment to the constitution adopted on September third, there was an industrial commission created. The provision passed almost unanimously and in the House there was only sixteen votes against it. That Industrial Commission in Ohio has not only the power to regulate and set the rate for children and women, but also have the authority to set the minimum rate for men. They are empowered to set the wages for corporations as well as for public and private work and the authority of this commission is similar to the authority given in the Public Utilities Law. They have the authority to contemplate such power as is given under the public service law "said power and authority shall include the power to inquire into and regulate the service, rates, fares, tolls or charges of any and all public service companies, including individual and joint rates, the charges for long and short transmission of messages and conversations" and so on. So the authority of this commission is similar to that which is given under the public service law.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, As I understand this bill it does not fix any minimum wage, but places the power in the hands of the commission?

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, yes sir. After investigation. The Governor appoints a commission consisting of three, and after an investigation by this commission this commission has the power to determine the lowest possible rate for the wage.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 796, entitled:

An Act amending the twentieth section of an act approved the first day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act to provide for the immediate registration of all births and deaths throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by means of certificates of births and deaths and burial or removal permits requiring prompt returns to the Central Bureau of Vital Statistics at the Capital of the State as required to be established by the State Board of Health and to insure the thorough organization and efficiency of the registration of vital statistics throughout the State as provided in section seven of 'An Act to establish a State Board of Health for the better protection of life and health and to prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases in this Commonwealth' approved June third eighteen hundred and eighty-five and making an appropriation for establishing and maintaining such a bureau and providing certain penalties" as amended by an act approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini nineteen hundred and eleven "An Act amending the twentieth section of an act approved the first day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and five entitled 'An Act to provide for the immediate registration of all births and deaths throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by means of certificates of births and deaths and burial or removal permits requiring prompt returns to the Central Bureau of Vital Statistics at the Capital of the State as required to be established by the State Board of Health and to insure the thorough organization and efficiency of the registration of vital statistics throughout the State as provided in section seven of an act entitled "An Act to establish a State Board of Health for the better protection of life and health and to prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases in this Commonwealth" approved June third eighteen hundred and eighty-five and making an appropriation for establishing and maintaining such a bureau and providing certain penalties' as amended by an act approved the sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled 'An Act to amend sections five nine fifteen nineteen twenty and twenty-five of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the immediate registration of all births by means of certificates of births and deaths and burial or removal permits requiring prompt returns to the Central Bureau of Vital Statistics at the Capital of the State as required to be established by the State Board of Health and to insure the thorough organization and efficiency of the registration of vital statistics throughout the State as provided in section seven of 'An Act to establish a State Board of Health for the better protection of life and health and to prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases in the Commonwealth' approved June third eighteen hundred and eighty-five and making an appropriation for establishing and maintaining such a bureau and providing certain penalties which was approved the first day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and five by extending the territory in which burial permits shall be valid providing for the issuance of burial permits without fees establishing a method for securing the given names of children making a uniform date for the returns of local registrars providing for certain fees in cities of the first and second class to be paid by the counties and abolishing all other systems of registration of births and deaths' by changing the fees for birth and death certificates"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLAYCOMB. I will.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to the necessity of the increase in this appropriation from thirty thousand to eighty thousand dollars?

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, When this bill was first drawn up, it was thought that thirty thousand dollars would carry the expense necessitated by it. I made inquiry from different sources and ascertained that from eighty thousand to one hundred dollars, perhaps, would be necessary to carry the expense. I put it then at eighty thousand dollars to be conservative, but I question very much whether that will fully meet the expenditure necessitated by the bill.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire as to whether or not the appropriation for this same purpose of not includes in the general appropriation bill.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. No, it is not.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I note on page eighty-seven of the general appropriation bill as last before the House an appropriation of thirty thousand dollars for the payment of the expenses of registrars of births and deaths in cities of the first and second class.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I was not aware of that, but this likely to meet the deficiency created by this bill to which this act is an amendment. The law as it stands on the statute books at this time allowed the registrars fees and were payable by the State in cities of the first and second classes. Now, the appropriation was ten thousand dollars for that but that expense alone ran as high as from thirty thousand to forty thousand dollars, and I suppose that deficiency was to meet the expenditure caused by the act to which this is an amendment and not to take the place of this act.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would call attention to the fact that that appropriation which provides for the appropriation of the thirty thousand dollars is for the two fiscal years beginning June first, 1913, and is not a deficiency appropriation.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. I suppose that you are correct, but this appropriation was made from the reports from the Department of Health, but it is not a Department bill. The Clerk informs me that the expense which would be necessary to carry this bill would amount to from eighty to one hundred thousand dollars and the deficiency, if there be any, would have to be made up at the next session.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would call the gentleman's attention to the fact that there is nothing in the title of the bill as it now stands which shows that it carries an appropriation. If it has not been before the Appropriation Committee, this bill should be referred to that committee. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Appropriation Committee.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I am perfectly satisfied with that, and I will second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1272, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to pay for the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane for the two years ending May thirty-one one thousand nine hudred and fifteen

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Mellott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 135, as follows:

An Act providing for the further government and regulation of cities of the second and third class by authorizing the initiative and referendum methods of legislation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no ordinance resolution or other measure except emergency measures ordained or enacted by councils or council of any city of the second or third class in this Commonwealth shall become a law until the expiration of thirty days after its enactment An emergency measure shall be deemed to include only such measures as are immediately necessary for the temporary preservation of peace or health or for the safety of the community and shall not include more than one subject nor shall it grant or sell a franchise or license to a corporation firm or individual for a longer period than six months nor shall it include a provision for the purchase or sale by the municipality of real estate All emergency measures must be expressly stated in the title and body of the measure and the facts creating the necessity shall be stated in one section of the measure and an emergency measure in order to become a law shall receive in its favor a two-thirds vote of all the members of council and shall be presented to and approved in writing by the mayor within ten days after its final passage by councils All emergency measures when passed and approved as above provided shall have full force and effect according to their provisions until amended or repealed or until disapproved on referendum as hereinafter provided

Section 2 That during the period of thirty days following the enactment of any ordinance resolution or other measure ten per centum of the registered voters of the municipality affected calculated upon the total number of votes cast for all candidates for the office of mayor at the last preceding election for that office may by referendum petition filed with the mayor demand that such ordinance measure or resolution or any part thereof shall be submitted by referendum ballot to the voters of the municipality affected for final decision at the polls in the manner provided by section seventeen of this act and such ordinance resolution or other measure so submitted shall become a law or be effective or in case of an emergency measure remain in force and effect only in case it receives in its favor a majority of all the votes cast for and against the said measure Otherwise it shall be null and void and of no effect Provided that the portion of any measure upon which a referendum vote is not demanded shall become a law at the time measures upon which no referendum vote is demanded become laws And provided further that if the measure upon which referendum vote is pending be repealed before the day set for election no election shall be held and all proceedings shall be stayed

Section 3 Fifteen per centum of the registered voters of any city of the second or third class calculated upon the total number of votes cast for all candidates for the office of mayor at the last preceding election for that office may propose to the legislative authorities thereof a peoples' measure proposing the enactment of an ordinance resolution or other measure by initiative petition filed with the mayor who shall number the same as provided in section fourteen of this act and shall promptly transmit three certified copies of the same to council omitting however the names and addresses of the petitioners Any peoples' measure thus proposed by initiative petition to the council shall have precedence over all other measures except emergency masures and shall be finally acted upon either by its enactment without change or by the said council proposing a competing measure not later than within a period of one month from the filing of the said initiative petition with the mayor A competing measure competing with a peoples' measure if proposed shall be proposed by passing the same in the manner provided by law for the enactment of other measures But no competing measure shall become a law unless it be approved by the electors at the polls in the manner provided for by this act Each of such competing measures and shall be finally acted upon either by its enactshall otherwise bear the same number and designating words as the corresponding measure proposed by initiative petition

Any peoples' measure so proposed by initiative petition unless the same shall have been enacted without change within a period of one month from the filing of such petition with the mayor shall be submitted by the mayor by initiative ballot to the voters of the municipality effected together with any competing measure relating entirely to the same subject that may be proposed instead by council All such measures shall be submitted in such form that the voters can choose between the peoples' measure proposed by initiative petition and competing measure or reject both by marking a cross (X) in the square to the right of the words indicating their choice

Section 4 If a peoples' measure proposed by initiative petition is enacted without change by council it shall not be submitted to the people for a referendum vote unless demanded by referendum petition as herein provided

Section 5 When there has been a competing measure proposed by council to compete with a peoples' measure proposed by initiative petition at the polls the measure receiving in its favor a majority of the votes cast for and against both measures shall become a law

Section 6 Any measure on which a referendum vote of the people is demanded in accordance with section two of this act shall be submitted to the voters of the municipality affected not later than the next succeeding municipal election provided the petition for the referendum vote shall have been filed with the mayor at least thirty days before such election and provided that the legality of the petition if contested shall have been decided finally and in favor of the petitions at least three weeks before election day otherwise such measure shall be submitted by referendum ballot to a vote of the electors at the first general or special municipal election thereafter

Section 7 Any people's measure proposed by initiative petition in accordance with the provisions of this act and not enacted without change within one month after the day of filing the petition with the mayor shall be submitted by initiative ballot together with any competing measure that may have been proposed by council to the voters of the municipality not later than the next succeeding municipal election provided at least sixty days intervene between the day of filing the petition with the mayor and the election day but in case sixty days would not intervene between the day of filing the petition and election day then the people's measure proposed by initiative petition and any competing measure proposed by council shall be submitted by initiative ballot to a vote of the electors at the next succeeding general or special municipal election held thereafter

Section 8 The mayor shall issue a proclamation such as is provided for in section seventeen of this act and shall call a special election for the purpose of voting upon any measure as provided in this act if such special election be demanded either by a two-thirds vote of the legislative body or by the petitioners in the petitions filed otherwise the said vote shall be taken at the next general or special municipal election provided, however that if at the time any ordinance resolution or other measure or portion thereof is ready for submission to the voters not more than three months will intervene until the next municipal election no special election shall be held and provided further that no such special election shall be called except by proclamation of the mayor issued and published at least three weeks prior thereto and in accordance with the provision of section seventeen of this act

Section 9 Ordinances resolutions or other measures or parts thereof in all such municipalities except the emergency measures provided for in section one of this act upon which a referendum vote of the voters is not demanded as herein provided shall become and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty days after enactment unless the time be extended by the measures

Section 10 All ordinances resolutions or other measures submitted to a vote of the legal voters and approved by a majority of all the votes cast thereon shall become effective or become laws and be in full force and effect from and after the date of the official announcement of the vote unless otherwise uprovided in such ordinances resolutions or other measures All ordinances resolutions or other measvote of the electors and not approved by a majority of all the votes cast thereon shall be null and void and of no effect

Section 11 The veto power of the mayor shall not extend to the ordinances resolutions or other measures which have been approved by the people at the polls in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 12 The councils or council of any such city may enact measures expressly conditioned upon the ratification of the same by a majority of the voters thereon Such measures shall be submitted as referendum measures are submitted but without requiring referendum petitions to be filed thereon

Any ordinance resolution or other measure passed by councils and intended to amend or repeal any ordinance resolution or other measure or part or parts thereof approved by the voters at the polls shall be submitted by referendum ballot to the voters for final action as referendum measures are so submitted by the provisions of this act but no referendum petition for the same shall be required and no such measure to amend or repeal such a measure shall be valid unless approved by the voters at the polls in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 13 Referendum petitions required under section two of this act in case a vote on the whole measure enacted by ordinance or passed by resolution is desired shall set forth the official number of the measure and the full title and full text of the measure in case only a portion of such ordinance resolution or other measure shall be requested to be submitted to a referendum vote the whole portion of such measure to be submitted shall set forth in such petition together with the official number of the measure and the full title and text of the whole measure

Section 14 Initiative petitions immediately upon being filed with the mayor shall by him be numbered consecutively each municipality beginning with number one and continuing year after year without duplication of numbers Each people's measure proposed by initiative petition shall be designated in the proclamation provided for in section seventeen as "people's measure number (.....)" (giving its number) and by designating words not exceeding one hundred which may be selected by the petitioners and by the full title and text of the measure so proposed and the said people's measure shall be designated upon the official ballots in exactly the same manner as in the proclamation except that the text of the body of the measure need not be printed upon the ballots each competing measure proposed by council shall bear the same number and designating words as the corresponding people's measure both in the proclamation and upon the official ballots except that it shall have a suitable title and be called or named a competing measures instead of a people's measure Each measure or portion thereof upon which a vote of the electors has been requested by referenum petition shall be designated in the said proclamation as a "referendum petition or ordinance (resolution or other measure as the case may be or portion thereof as the case may be) number (.....)" (giving the official number of the measure) together with the official title and the full text of the measure and the portion thereof to be submitted in case only a portion is to be submitted The designation of such measure upon which a referendum vote has been requested shall be exactly the same upon the official ballots as in such proclamation except that the full text of the body of the measure need not be printed upon the official ballots but in case only a portion of such measure is submitted the whole portion thereof shall be printed upon the official ballots

Section 15 All petitions filed with the mayor under the provisions of this act shall be public records and shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times As soon as any such petition is filed the mayor shall mark it filed with the date of filing and shall post a notice of that fact at a conspicuous place in the city hall notice to bear the date of its posting For a period of ten days after posting of such notice any registered voter or voters of the city who may wish to question the sufficiency of the said petition in any respect may do so by filing a petition in a Court of Common Pleas of the county in which said city is situated which petition shall set forth specifically by way of exception the defects alleged If exceptions are taken to any of the signatures such exceptions shall state specifically the names and addresses of persons to whose signatures exceptions are taken In no case no such exceptions are filed within the said period of ten days the petition in question shall be deemed valid and sufficient in every respect and shall not be further subject to question providd however that in case exceptions have been filed within the ten days they may be amended and enlarged at any time prior to the final order on the exceptions but not afterwards in the discretion of the court having jurisdiction thereof

Such exceptions shall be taken up and decided without delay by said court and shall have precedence over all other business Should the court find from the evidence that such a number of names should be stricken from the petition as would reduce the number of signatures below the number required by this act the court shall by order grant a reasonable time to secure additional signatures Should exceptions be taken to purely formal and technical defects in the said petition not affecting the substance thereof or the manifest intention of the petitioners the court shall direct amendments to be made correcting such defects Should the petition be found fatally defective the court shall by order allow a reasonable time for a new petition to be prepared and filed in accordance with the provisions of this act and in the meantime no ordinance resolution or other measure affected by such petitions shall become a law until after final order of court under such exceptions and in case a new petition be filed within the time ordered by the court it shall have the same effect as the original petition filed within the original period of thirty days herein provided The decision of the Court of Common Pleas in such exceptions shall be final and not subject to appeal or review

Section 16 Each referendum petition initiative petition and competing measure may be accompanied by argumets prepared by the petitioners or a committee thereof consisting of not more than six hundred words for or against the measure to be voted upon Such argument shall be included in the proclamation of the mayor issued under section seventeen of this act and shall appear immediately following the respective measures to which they relate

Section 17 When any ordinance resolution or other measure or portion thereof is ready for submission to the voters the mayor shall issue and publish a proclamation stating the date of the election and setting forth any and all referendum measures people's measures and competing measures and other measures ready for submission to the voters and which are to be voted upon by the electors designating each in the manner herein provided Said proclamation shall be published once at least three weeks next preceding the election in each daily newspaper in the municipality Said mayor shall file five certified copies of such proclamation with the county commissioners of the county in which the municipality is situate in order that said county commissioners may prepare the official ballots according to the provisions of this act

Section 18 The county commissioners of any county upon the receipt from the mayor of any municipility within the county of a certified copy of the proclamation provided in section seventeen of this act shall cause to be printed officials ballots and sample ballots to be used at the polling place within such municipality substantially in the forms required by section twenty-fifth of this act for the purpose of voting upon measures enumerated in this act and in the manner provided in this act The said county commissioners shall designate each measure according to the manner required by section fourteen of this act The county commissioners shall as heretofore provide for the placing of suitable return sheets of all official ballots and sample ballots at the polling places at and before the opening of the polls on the day of election Should such election be held in conjunction with any other election separate official ballots and sample ballots shall be provided and used for the election under this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor tell us something about this bill. I do not understand it.

Mr. HUMES. This is a bill extending the, or rather providing for the initative or referendum in cities of the second and third class in this Commonwealth. Under the terms of this bill, the referendum petition shall contain the signatures of ten per cent. of the voters voting at the preceding mayorality election and for an intiative petition, fifteen per cent. of the voters.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. I will.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have a little further explanation. Will the gentleman explain what the referendum consists of, or whether it just refers to city matters in the line of franchies, etc., or what?

Mr. HUMES. It includes all subjects except emergency matters, and emergency matters are very elaborately defined in the first section of the bill. Emergency matters are defined in the bill as being deemed to "include only such measures as are immediately necessary for the temporary preservation of peace or health or for the safety of the community and shall not include more than one subject nor shall it grant or sell a franchise or license to a corporation firm or individual for a longer period than six months nor shall it include a provision for the purchase or sale by the municipality of real estate. All emergency measures must be expressly stated to be such in the title and body of the measure and the facts creating the necessity shall be stated in one section of the measure and an emergency measure in order to become a law shall receive in its favor a two-thirds vote of all the members of council and shall be presented to and approved in writing by the mayor within ten days after its final passage by councils or council All emergency measures when passed and approved as above provided shall have full force and effect according to their provisions until amended or repealed or until disapproved on referendum as hereinafter provided" and all other matters than the matters defined under that provision are subject to the referendum vote of the people upon the filing with the Mayor within thirty days after the passage of the act by councils of a petition signed by ten per cent. of the voters.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate the gentleman further. Will the gentleman state for the information of the House what city officers may be affected by the recall proviso in the bill and under what method they would be recalled ?

Mr. HUMES. If the gentleman will tell me what sections of this bill mentioned in any way the recall, I will undertake to interpret it.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman to say that this bill attempted the recall, but I had not had time to read the bill.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ADAMS, from the Committee on Judiciary Special reported with a negative recommendation House Bill No. 1869, (Senate Bill No. 201), entitled:

An Act relating to the fees of attorneys-at-law in the several courts of this Commonwealth

Mr. ALLEN, from the Committee on Appropriations reported as committed House Bill No. 266, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Commission for various purposes

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH, asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a bill the title of which was read for information.

Mr. McNICHOL, asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a bill, the title of which was read for information.

OBJECTION TO THE INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, the 17th day of March we set as the last day for the introduction of bills into this House. Many bills have been introduced since that time, no member seeming to object to the introduction for fear the sponsor might take it as a personal matter. I wish to give notice that hereafter upon the introduction of every bill I shall object and I wish to file my objection in advance on the record, unless it happens to be an appropriation bill which has been overlooked.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he includes to-day.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I do not object to those that are in. I would like to ask the gentleman from Bedford whether he has any he wishes to introduce?

Mr. MATT. Well, Mr. Speaker, I have one for local option.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, reluctantly I will withdraw my objection in favor of the gentleman from Bedford.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1482, entitled:

An Act fixing the compensation of the chief clerk and the five clerks in the Department of Mines

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, as I see it fixes the salary of a certain number of clerks.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Luzerne inform the House what the salary of the Chief Clerk was and how much it will be increased by this bill.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, the salary of the Chief Clerk is sixteen hundred dollars and will be increased to two thousand dollars, an increase of four hundred dollars per year.

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I would like him also to tell us what the salary of the five assistant clerks is now and what the increase will be.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, the present salaries are fourteen hundred dollars and the increase will be sixteen hundred dollars, making an increase of two hundred dollars each per year.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House I have been requested to present this bill by the clerks from the Mining Department. Two years ago this bill came before the House and passed the House and also passed the Senate. Several other Departments at the Capitol, including the Insurance Department, also the Forestry Department, are receiving four hundred dollars more than the chief clerk of the Department of Mines and the other clerks in proportion, and I ask the gentleman of the House to vote for this bill to place this Department on an equal basis with the other Departments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House, it appears to me that all those salaries that are asked to be increased, from the first bill introduced to the present one, if this keeps on until we adjourn next month, instead of having fifty million dollars to build roads with, it will take the fifty million dollars for increased salaries. It seems to me that every place your turn your face you come in contact with an increase in salary. It appeals to me as legislation of salary grab and I am opposed to the bill. I think there is redress for any man who works in this Department, and if he isn't getting sufficient salary to live on, he can resign. I think I can do likewise. If I haven't sufficient salary to act as legislator in this House. I have a remedy two years hence, not run for election.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1301, as follows:

An Act to increase the powers of courts in summary proceedings for desertion or non-support of wives children whether legitimate or illegitimate or aged parents by directing that imprisonment in such cases be at hard labor in such institution as the court shall name with the wages payable to the wives children or parents providing for the disbursement of moneys collected on forfeitures of bonds bail bonds or recognizances and by empowering such courts to appoint desertion probation officers for the performance of such duties as the court shall direct and providing for the payment of the expenses incident to the carrying out of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever in any proceedings brought against any husband or father wherein it is charged that he has without reasonable cause separated himself from his wife or children or from both or has neglected to maintain his wife or children whether legitimate or illegitimate or in any proceedings where any child of full age has neglected or shall neglect to maintain his or her parents not able to work or of sufficient ability to maintain themselves the court having jurisdiction shall commit the defendant to imprisonment for want of a bond with security or otherwise the court may order the defendant to be imprisoned at hard labor under existing laws or laws that may hereafter be passed in such penal or reformatory institution in this Commonwealth as the court shall direct or the court may discharge a defendant upon his own recognizance in the custody of a desertion probation ffcer or other person subject to such conditions as the court may in its discretion impose

Section 2 Whenever any defendant shall be ordered to be imprisoned at hard labor under the provisions of this act there shall be paid by the official in charge of the penal or reformatory institution in which such defendant is imprisoned to the person designated in the order of court as the proper recipient of such money to be disbursed by said recipient as the order of court may direct the sum of sixty-five cents for each day Sundays and legal holidays only excepted during which he remains imprisoned Such sum shall be paid as one of the general running expenses of such institution and if the labor done in such institution is not sufficient to pay the general running expenses of such institution such sum shall be charged to and paid by the county from which such defendant was committed

Section 3 Whenever the court having jurisidiction of such proceedings may deem it necessary or desirable it may appoint one or more discreet persons of good character to serve as desertion probation officers during the pleasure of the court for the performance of such duties as the court shall direct Said probation officer or officers shall receive a salary to be determined by the court and this together with the necessary expenses incurred while in the actual performance of duty shall be paid monthly by the county as directed by the court It shall be the duty of the probation officer or officers so appointed to make such investigation as may be required by the court to furnish to the court such information and assistance as the coort may require to take such charge of any defendant before or after trial as may be directed by the court and when so directed to collect and pay over to the proper persons money ordered to be paid by any defendant and in general to do and perform such service as the court may direct

Section 4 If the defendant in any such proceeding shall violate the terms of the order of court the court may issue an attachment upon the petition of such defendant's parent wife child or children or of any other person or persons having knowledge of the facts

In case of the forfeiture of a bail bond in any such proceeding the court may order that any sum collected thereon by suit or otherwise shall be paid in whole or in part to such parent wife child or children In case of the forfeiture of any bond or recognizance with or without surety given as security under any order of court any sum collected thereon by suit or otherwise shall be paid to such parent wife child or children Such payment shall not bar in any way affect the power of the court to enforce its orders against the defendant by attachment or otherwise

Section 5 All laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I understand there is some question about this bill and in the absence of the sponsor I move the further consideration be postponed for the present.

Mr. GEARY. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1740, as follows:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the several courts of the forty-fifth judicial district

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That in addition to the judges provided by existing laws for the forty-fifth judicial district of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania comprising the County of Lackawanna an additional law judge is hereby authorized and provided for the several courts of the said forty-fifth judicial district who shall possess the same qualifications which are required by the Constitution and laws for the president judge of said district and who shall hold his office for a like term and by the same tenure and shall have the same power authority and jurisdiction and shall be subject to the same duties restrictions and penalties and shall receive the same compensation provided by law for judges learned in the law as if the said office had been established at the time of and subject to the provisions of an act entitled "An Act to fix the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas and the judges of the orphans' courts" approved the fourteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three and its supplement

Section 2 Either of the judges of the said forty-fifth judicial district shall have authority to execute all the powers and perform all the duties now conferred by the Constitution and laws upon the president judge of said district and shall have equal jurisdiction

Section 3 At the next general election after the passage of this act the qualified electors of the said fortyfifth judicial district shall elect in the manner prescribed by law for the election of the president judge a competent person learned in the law to serve as such additional law judge in said district from the first Monday of January Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fourteen for a term of ten years Vacancies in the office hereby created whether caused by death resignation expiration of term or otherwise shall be filled in the same manner as is required by law in case of a similar vacancy in the office of president judge

Section 4 The Governor is hereby authorized by and with the consent of the Senate to appoint some competent person learned in the law as an additional judge of said forty-fifth judicial district until the first Monday of January succeeding the next general election

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 285, as follows:

An Act providing for the appointment and qualifications of instructors and demonstrators in agriculture and making an appropriation for the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized to appoint ten citizens of this Commonwealth who shall be qualified by actual experience for such work as special instructors in the science of agriculture and demonstrators of approved agricultural methods The instruction shall be given and demonstration work done at such time and places and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture The sum of forty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be needed is hereby specifically appropriated for carrying out the provisions of this act for two years beginning June one one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, just by way of explanation I would say that the provisions of this bill are under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture, and is simply a measure to get the necessary information directly to the farmer, relative to the condition of his soil, etc. We passed a bill the other day, I believe, relative to the analyzing the quality of fertilizer, lime, etc., and this is a step along the same line.

The question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 351, as follows:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to regulate and determine what weight of anthracite coal shall make a ton in deliveries by retail coal dealers and to impose penalties for short weight" approved the twenty-sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five so as to make it a misdeameanor to sell anthracite coal by short weight

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That section two of an act entitled "An Act to regulate and determine what weight of anthracite coal shall make a ton in deliveries by retail coal dealers and to impose penalties for short weight" approved the twentysixth day of June Anno Domini one thousanl eight hundred anl ninety-five which section reads as follows

Section 2 Any person firm or corporation guilty of violating the provisions of section one of this act whereby it is attempted to sell less than two thousand two hundred and forty pounds to a ton or a proper proportion thereof to quantities less than a ton shall upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace or alderman after hearing on complaint made shall be allowed for variation in scales

Be and the same is hereby amended so that as amended the same shall read as follows

Section 2 Any person firm or corporation who shall sell less than two thousand two hundred and forty pounds of anthracite coal to a ton or a proper proportion thereof to quantities less than a ton shall be guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars for the first offense and for the second offense one hundred dollars and to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding one year or both or either in the discretion of the court Provided That in all cases thirty pounds shall be allowed for the variation in scales

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1302, entitled:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing a revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven amending sections two thousand six hundred and twenty-two thousand six hundred twenty-four two thousand six hundred twenty-six and two thousand six hundred twenty-seven thereof and also conferring upon tax payers similar rights in regard to the reports of auditors of school districts of the second third and fourth classes filed prior to the passage of this act as are hereby conferred by the above enumerated amending sections upon taxpayers in regard to such reports of auditors hereafter filed and providing a similar method of disposition of appeals from such reports of auditors filed prior to the passage of this act as is provided hereby in regard to appeals from reports of auditors filed subsequently hereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how the provisions of this bill correspond to the provisions of the bill introduced by the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North, which was passed a couple of weeks ago by the House. I think that bill covers the same points.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I was not aware that there was any other bill that met the conditions that this bill was intended to meet.

Mr. HUMES. I note that this bill is very much like the Act of 1911 with reference to the appeals from the Auditor's report, and it seems to affect the question of appeal more than any other feature of the law.

Mr. ALWORTH. This amendment is intended to make appeals from a surcharge by the Auditor effective. It provides that where a Board has been surcharged by the auditors that an interested taxpayer may upon filing a bond intervene as a party plaintiff and prosecute that appeal to a final judgment to the benefit of the school district. At the present time the fact has developed that where a school board has been surcharged by the Auditor that the Board itself would appeal from that surcharge and the appeal would remain stationary and the Board would positively fail to prosecute this surcharge against itself to final judgment. This amendment is intended to meet that condition so that where school boards are surcharged an interested taxpayer may intervene as a party plaintiff and make that surcharge effective against the Board.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks leave of absence for Messrs. Rockwell, Roney, S. B. Scott, and Kitts, to sit as a sub-committee of the Committee on Judiciary General, on the Public Utilities Bill for the balance of this afternoon's session.

The Chair hears no objection, and leave is granted.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1772, entitled:

An Act authorizing county controllers in counties containing a population of less than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants to appoint a solicitor prescribing the duties of such solicitor fixing his term of office and providing for his salary to be paid by the proper county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWNLEE. Mr. Speaker, this act is not mandatory; it simply provides that the controller in a county under 150,000 population may have a solicitor. The salary is not fixed, but it cannot exceed $1,000, and it must be approved by the court. A practice has grown up of allowing him to get advice from the solicitor to the county commissioners. This is a vicious practice, because they are often antagonistic. I think this is a meritorious act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 8 All laws or parts of laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this is the so-called Mothers' Pension Bill. The House passed a bill several days ago that continued the same subject matter as this bill, and called for the appointment of a commission. It seems to me, therefore, that it is hardly in order to consider this bill on its merits at the present time, and I, therefore, move that further consideration of it be postponed for the present.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I realize it is true that about a month ago this House passed a bill here requesting the appointment of a commission to investigate for the next two years as to whether or not the destitute children of this State were entitled to any pension, I feel that this bill as it is drawn by Senator Sheatz in the State Senate, and having passed the State Senate, should be considered here to-day, and I believe that the bill is meritorious and should be passed to-day by the members of this House. Had I known, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House, one month ago that the intention of the men who supported the bill for a commission was going to in any way injure the present bill now before us, I would not have sustained that bill. It was given to understand at that time that if we were to support the bill for a commission they would be willing to also support this bill. We consented to that proposition and I feel it would be very unfair to deprive the destitute children of the State of their individual rights simply because a bill has passed for the purpose of appointing a commission. We all understand that the Governor has either the right to veto or sustain the commission bill just the same rights that he will have if this bill is pased by this House to-day. The Commission bill has not yet been acted upon in the Senate. This bill has passed the Senate and I believe if we want practical experience as to whether or not this is going to be good legislation, or bad legislation, the best experience would be to experiment with this bill. If in two years from now, we think it is a failure and is not benefiting the State of Pennsylvania, there will be no trouble in repealing the act. I do not believe any of us feel like going to the expense if it is unnecessary and I believe if the body of men who may sit here two years hence should feel that this has been an expense and not the proper legislation will take the stand to properly repeal the act. I would ask, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that you sustain the bill to-day and vote down the motion to postpone for the present.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, just a word of explanation in regard to this bill. The bill provides that the state shall appropriate two hundred thousand dollars annually and apportion it among the counties in proportion to population so that the whole state is treated alike. It is a general bill. The money is appropriated by the state. The proposition contained in this bill is not new or startling.

In 1771 this identical principle was enacted into law. It was then enacted as a special act for the city of Philadelphia. It was then administered by overseers of the poor appointed in every township of the State. I think there were two or three appointed. This bill passed in 1771 for the city of Philadelphia was afterwards made a general statute, and it remained a law for a long time, and out of this statute were evolved the large poor houses which we have in the different counties I have on my desk now a contract containing such poor relief. It was entered into 1826 by the overseers of a township with the husband to the effect that he would well support his wife. They agreed to pay him three dollars a month for doing this. Under the Walnut bill we take these young children under sixteen years of age who are poor—that is the reason they work—under the age of sixteen we take them out of the factories where many of them take care of themselves and earn their own living and we give them no place to go to Why shall we not spend a little money to take care of them? We have money for everything else, why not a few dollars for these poor children who must either be supported or support themselves, but far above all there is a humanitarian principle contained in the bill. We are taking care of those who cannot take care of themselves, and therefore, let us vote down this motion and pass the bill as it is written. This bill and the Stein bill that we passed will go together for two years and at the end of that time we will evolve a principle that is just and proper, and there wont be any trouble in doing it because the poor and friendless will never have much powerful influence here as to bring up an act or a law that is not just and fair and right.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why we should postponed this bill. I think this has been fairly considered and that the people of this State expect it to be passed at this time. When the Stein bill asking for a commission to be appointed was before this House, it was referred to a committee and passed a few days later with the understanding by the sponsor of that bill that he was in favor of any of the mothers' pension bills then in committee. Now we have a bill before us which has passed through the Senate, and all that has to be done in order to complete that piece of legislation is for the House to pass it. And gentlemen, as far as explaining the bill is concenned, there is nothing much to be explained about it. It simply provides this. That there will be a commission of ladies appointed in the several counties and they will take up all such cases as should come under this measure, such as widows, or destitute women and mothers, or if they have a drunken husband, or a husband that leaves for some other cause, instead of being compelled to put their children in some home, they will be permitted to keep them at home by getting help through State aid Now, gentlemen, I do not see any reason why we should postpone this bill at all. I think it should be passed by this House by unanimous vote.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agree to.

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, there is opposition to this bill because it is based on the wrong theory. It is called a pension bill, while it is not a pension bill at all. A pension is based on the theory that a person receives a pension because he has done something entitling him to that pension. This bill is not based on that theory at all and this idea is not based on that theory. The relief that is distributed by the terms of the bill is based not on any service that the person is supposed to have performed, but on account of their being in need. In other words, it is simply another way of distributing relief that is already covered or allowed by existing law. I hope that the members of the House will not vote for this bill because of the belief which they may entertain that there is no law upon our statute book authorizing relief to be granted to destitute mothers and children, because we have such laws. The poor laws of the State provide for that very relief that is granted by this bill. It is nothing more or less than simply outdoor relief which is already granted by the poor commissioners and by the poor boards in cases where the laws are administered by such boards. So it is a misnomer to call it a pension bill; it is not a pension bill; it is simply another way of distributing some money for which there is plenty of law at the present time. The bill ought to be voted down. There is no demand for it.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I think if we ever have had a worthy bill before this House or in this session, this is the one. The gentleman from Beaver (George A. Baldwin) evidently failed to recall the scene in the widow's home when the poor director comes and requests here to hand her children—those children of hers—over to them or fails to realize the pangs when she accepts aid from the poor directors and that she be branded as a pauper. It is the children that we are thinking about in this bill; the little flock around the disconsolate widowed mother weeping under the loss of her husband, struggling night and day to keep that little brood with her where they may grow up under the care and under the domination of her good advice, to be brought up to be good citizens of this Commonwealth. If they are taken to an asylum, there is an average struck and the best child that goes there leaves very possibly one-half worse than when they went there. Asylums are a last resort and I do hope that the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania will not be repudiated all over the United States of America with so little heart that they will not take care of the desolate children and the widows and the abandoned mothers. The gentleman says "pensions are rewards for service" but what greater service to the Commonwealth has ever been rendered than that by the mother who brings forth her children and works and toils for them night and day? A soldier is entitled to no more credit than the mother who raises a good family of children.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Baldwin, G. A.,	Benninger.	Light,	Mitchell,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to file this my reason for voting for this bill, the Mother's Pension Bill.

Every right produces a corresponding duty, hence may be inferred the positive duty of society, to give every individual, an adequate opportunity and an adequate education to prepare it for future efficiency. For if society has the right to the services of every one of its members—this right necessarily involves some duties; and what can that duty more directly be, than that society should give all its children such an education, as will fit them for the services it intends to exact from them in after life? And if parents are unable to give their children such an education, it is the duty of society or the State to assist them; and if they are unwilling, society should take the place of parents, and perform the duties of parents. No one can violate the laws of God, nor the government of the world, with impunity; and the more sacred the trust, the greater will be the effects of a disregard of them.

Every one must and will find a livelihood; nor has society the choice, whether or not to provide for its members; for if an individual is not put in a way to make a living, he will seek it by unlawful means: if he is not educated—to lead a sober, industrious life, he will lead a life of dissipation; and if society refuses to take care of him, in his minority, he will force it to notice him—as an object of self-defence. This society cannot avoid giving an education and a livelihood to all whom providence has placed in its bosom; nor help devoting time and expense to them; for they are by birth and circumstances, dependent upon its assistance.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 743, as follows:

An Act relating to landlord and tenant where land is leased with rent payable wholly or partly by a portion of the crops and animals and fowls raised on such land and providing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where any land shall be leased the rent of which shall be wholly or partly a share or portion of the crops and animals and fowls raised thereon including a share or portion of the products of such animals and fowls it shall be unlawful for any tenant to remove or appropriate to his or her use from such land the share of the lessor or landlord unless specific permission in writing from such lessor or lanlord be given to such tenant so to do

Section 2 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the county for a period not exceeding six months or both

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment for information.

The amendment was then read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section one, line eight, insert the word "knowingly" after the first word "to."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment?

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I might say that the sponsor of this bill is perfectly satisfied with this amendment. Perhaps I might say to the House that they certainly don't intend that a person who may be a tenant, farming a property on share, who might unknowingly, perhaps, take a little more than his share that you are going to fine him a hundred dollars minimum or five hundred dollars maximum, or put him in jail. The word "knowingly" should certainly go in.

The SPEAKER. Does the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment?

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I object.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams, kindly act as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. WILLIAMS in the Chair.

The Chairman. The Committee of the Whole has under consideration House Bill No. 743, file folio No. 4987, to which the gentleman from Delaware desires to offer amendments.

The Clerk will read the amendments.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend section 1 by inserting the word "knowingly" after the first "to" in line 8.

Amend Section 2 by striking out all after the word "of" in line 3, down to and including the figures "$100" in line 4.

On the question,

Will the Committee agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee of the Whole House do now arise and report back to the House.

Mr. COX. Mr. Chairman, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House, I report back to the House, House Bill No. 743, file folio 4987, with amendments as inserted therein.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the report of the Committee of the Whole?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1319, as follows:

An Act to establish in cities of the third class a house or houses of detention for delinquent dependent and neglected children and providing for the management and maintenance thereof and providing for the payment of the expense thereof by the proper county

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in every city of the third class there shall be provided in the way hereinafter mentioned a house or houses of detention for the reception of all untried juvenile offenders and neglected and dependent children under the age of sixteen years of the county containing said house or houses of detention who may be in the custody of an officer appointed or elected under any law of this Commonwealth and whose cases may be under judicial investigation under any laws of this Commonwealth pending such investigation and final determination of such case or cases

Section 2 House or houses of detention established under the provisions of this act shall be provided by a board of managers consisting of three members said board of managers to be appointed by the judges of the court of quarter sessions of the peace having jurisdiction in the said respective cities

Section 3 The board of managers provided for in this act shall serve without compensation and shall hold office for three years and until their successors are appointed subject to removal by the judge of said court

Section 4 The duties of said board of managers shall be to provide a house or houses and may when possible contract with any duly incorporated society having for one of its objects the protection of children to establish maintain and conduct said house or houses of detention such contracts for establishing maintaining and conducting such house or houses to be submitted to the judges of the court of quarter sessions for its approval If such contract is not made then the board shall provide such house or houses by leasing the same or otherwise for the reception of children to be placed therein under the provisions of this act keep the same in repair and generally to fit and furnish said house or houses so that the same may be suitable for the care of the children intended to be received generally to supervise and oversee the management of said house or houses unless such contract as aforesaid has been made with an incorporated society as aforesaid in which case such society's board of managers or directors shall oversee and supervise said house or houses

Section 5 Expenses incurred in the performance of the said duties of the board of managers appointed by the court as aforesaid shall be itemized and presented with proper vouchers to the county commissioners of the county containing the city for which said board of managers were appointed who shall be required to pay the said expenses

Section 6 If a contract is not made with an incorporated society as aforesaid the board of managers as appointed by the court shall appoint a man and woman to take charge of the house and children committed to such house of detention which said appointees shall generally maintain order and discipline among the children so committed into their keeping The salary or compensation to be paid to said caretakers or appointees shall be fixed by the board of managers and certified to the county commissioners as one of the expenses of maintaing such house or houses of detention as are established by this act

Section 7 It shall not be essential to commit a delinquent dependent or neglected child to the house of detention established by this act if in the judgment of the probation officer now or hereafter to be appointed under any present existing law or laws of this Commonwealth it should be deemed expedient to otherwise dispose of said child

Section 8 The cost and expense of maintaining the houses of detention by this act established shall be provided by the respective counties containing the said house or houses of detention as the cost and expenses of maintaining county prisons are now provided

All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—7.

Kern,	Metzenbacher,	Trach,	Wilson, J. H.,
Matt,	Snavely,	Ulman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1816, (Senate Bill No. 518), entitled:

An Act fixing the salaries and providing for the expense of county solicitors in counties of this Commonwealth over one hundred and fifty thousand population and less than two hundred and fifty thousand population

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the members of the House to this bill, this is Senate Bill No. 518 and it was introduced by Senator Diax from Philadelphia. The bill provides that from and after the passage of this act the annual salary of each county solicitor, appointed or elected by the Board of County Commissioners in the several counties of this Commonwealth, having a population of over one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) and less than two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) may be twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) per annum, payable monthly etc.

The act of 1895 fixes the salary at one thousand ($1,000) dollars, and that is the amount paid now in Cambria County and the other six counties covered by this act; unless some of them have some special act for their particular county.

Mr. SPEAKER. I am opposed to giving any commissioner in any county the right to make a sliding salary of this kind, to my mind it would be bad legislation and would cause all kind of trouble and I do not believe this House will stand for it.

Again Mr. Speaker. This bill affects only seven counties in the State, namely Berks, Cambria, Fayette, Schuylkill, Lancaster, Montgomery and Westmoreland.

This bill does not affect Philadelphia County and I know of no good reason why a member of the Senate from Philadelphia should be the sponsor for it.

I don't think that any member from any county affected by this bill was even consulted about it, and I don't believe that any of them want it.

Mr. Speaker, I want to ask every member of this House to vote no on this bill.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill affects the county from which I come and while it seems a harmless proposition at first, the bill provides that the commissioners may pay twenty-five hundred dollars to the county solicitor. The Courts in some places have decided that "may" means "shall", and I feel quite sure that most of the counties affected by this bill will so decide that "may" means "shall" and the county solicitor will get about twenty-five hundred dollars, which is too much for any county solicitor in the counties affected by this bill. We get very efficient services in Westmoreland County,—I think we do mostly— for one thousand dollars.

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that we strike this bill from the Calendar.

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 432, entitled:

An Act defining the duties of the State Police

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the sponsor I move the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Section 15 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, I want to call the House's attention to the body of this bill. This bill, as I understand, has been before this House on many occasions, has been defeated on the floor of the House and on one occasion, I believe, vetoed by the Governor.

I am sorry that I have to take issue with my friend from Allegheny (Mr. Allen) the sponsor of the bill, but, gentlemen, I believe in all fairness to every man who strives for a livelihood in this Commonwealth, that this bill is an injustice. Permit me to cite you that this bill is very unspecific in what it shall be. First an foremost they are asking this House to pass a bill for their particular interests, the erection of a house upon which they neither have foundations or nothing else. They are asking you to give them a Board of Examiners. They admitted before the committee on Public Health and Sanitation that they had no recognized school in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That being true, and they admit it. I think it is wrong that they come here and ask us to give them a Board of Examiners before they have a recognized college in the State and set forth what studies shall be pursued in that college.

Secondly, they are not specific in stating as to what the applicant shall be examined in. All they say is, that the applicant shall be examined in optometry. The examination in optometry might be construed as a mechanical examination of the eye. To be a perfect optometrist a man must certainly have a knowledge of the anatomy of the eye; he must have some knowledge of the physiology of the eye and he must also be compenent in the pathological condition, in order to appreciate the condition of that eye. Now these men do not tell us what they are going to examine the applicant in but they ask us to give them a bill and they may ask the applicant a question in Greek, if they do not like him or if he does not come from the school they think he should come from. It is unfair to the medical profession. If they are sincere in what they want and if they are as specific in their bill and they want this act why are they not men enough to set forth the particular qualification and knowledge of diseases of the eye that shall be required of all applicants for examination. The position, gentlemen, is this: A boy who is going to school is required to have a perticular knowledge before he enters a medical college. He takes four years in that course on a theoretical basis and one year of practice. A man who possibly works in a jeweler's store, who has a side issue of examining eyes, has an employee who is possibly working there and sees Mr. Smith examining the eye by these lenses and feels that he is just as competent as Mr. Smith to examine that individual's eye or this, who may apply. He immediately puts out a sign "Optician." He may and he may not have gone to any school of optometry or any college or hospital to take a post-graduate course, but the mechanical knowledge he has learned by observation in and by practice as being in the position of a student in the store of the man who employs him. A doctor comes along who has taken a special course in optometry and he must compete with that man, who may know as much about the eye as the elephant does about flying an aeroplane. We do not ask anything, gentleman, but what is fair. If these men are sincere and they mean what they say, they mean to be honest, then they should in that bill provide a specific course of study, what the student has to study and what the applicant is going to be examined in when he comes before the Board for the examination. I will leave that to any fair-minded man. if that is not right.

In lieu of the fact that we do not know what they are doing, nor what they intend to do, I think, gentlemen of the House, that you should vote down this measure. It now than at any other time that it appeared before this has been voted down heretofore, and the bill is no different House.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. I will.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if there is any medical college in the State of Pennsylvania that provides for the examination of eyes, and testing by lenses in the regular course?

Mr. STEEDLE. No.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Why not?

Mr. STEEDLE. There is none. The people interested in this bill admit that they have no school in the State.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. I am speaking of the medical colleges.

Mr. STEEDLE. Oh, yes, there is a post-graduate course, which teaches not only mechanical refraction, but also the condition of the eye.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. I understand that, but what medical institution teaches practical refraction?

Mr. STEEDLE. All medical schools. You can take a post-graduate course in any of them.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Is it in the regular curriculum?

Mr. STEEDLE. Not in the regular curriculum but in a special course. Gynaecology is under a special course, and diseases of the ear and ear come under a special course.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Is there any medical college that provides the mechanical appliances for making lenses?

Mr. STEEDLE. Did you say grinding lenses? Is that what you said?

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Yes.

Mr. STEEDLE. No.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. I have had experiences with oculists and physicians in my time. I was at one itme made purblind by a physician.

Mr. AMBLER (in the Chair).

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is this: that the two gentlemen are talking to one another and not addressing the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is not well taken.

Mr LORENZO SMITH. One of the most prominent oculists in Philadelphia made me purblind for nine months. I did not know where else to go for redress, and at the request of the family physician, I went to a certain optometrist. I went there and by the lenses he gave me I have been given perfect vision, and have had it ever since. I think that so many people and physicians being oculists have spoiled a lot of good farmers and blacksmiths.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have refrained from the time that this bill has been upon the calendar from annoying the members in relation to this particular bill because of the fact that the bill was of some considerable length. The only thing I have done has been to call the members attention to the bill and ask them to read it for themselves. It has been suggested from various sources on the floor of this House, in a sort of secret lobby that has gone on, that this is a very vicious bill, and, Mr. Speaker, I want to go upon record in this matter, standing as sponsor for this bill, with a straight out statement that there is no vicious provision in this bill, that the bill is good, legitimate and a splendid bill to write upon the statute books of this great State and make the State of Pennsylvania the thiry-first State that has adopted this same bill. A few days ago, Mr. Speaker, I found in my mail an indication from some medical fraternity somewhere that three certain governors had vetoed a bill of this kind. Granted. At the same time, Mr. Speaker, thirty other governors, who perhaps were as broad-minded and as uninfluenced and unbiased as they, set their approval to this bill after it had passed in the various branches of the legislature in those thirty different States; and not later than this week, or the last of last week, did the Governor of New Jersey that progressive little State that has furnished us our last President, affix his signature to the bill, thereby enrolling the thirtieth State under the banner of this bill. Now I want Mr. Speaker, and I throw myself open on this matter to any inquiry that may come so soon as I have finished with the digest of this bill,—I want to digest this bill from the beginning to the end with this House, and I do that for the purpose that I believe I can enlighten some of the member of this House in relation to this matter, and dissipate that fearful ghost that has been held up that this is dark and forboding. The first section of this bill defines exactly what Optometry is, and I have refrained up until now from asking any of those opposed to the bill just what it means fearful that they may not have read the definition as set out in the bill and which will hereafter. if this bill becomes a law, define Optometry. It is the employment of any means other than the use of drugs for the measurement of the powers of vision, and the adaption of lenses for the correction and aid thereof. Nothing is simpler, nothing more simpler than that could be placed before an intelligent mind, and I believe, Mr. Speaker, that no one here can be mislead as to just what Optometry is, as we are considering that science to day. Section two of the bill tells you how the Board is constituted,—a new Board, like every other progressive step that has been made in relation to any branch of science,—a new Board is established and appointed by the Governor of this great Commonwealth for the purpose of watching the odds and ends, the details and workings of that particular branch, whatever it may be. Just a few years ago, Mr. Speaker, we have had several new branches recognized, and not only recognized but laws laid down for their regulation, in this and in all other Commonwealths and States of this great Nation. How long has it been Mr. Speaker, since the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania wrote on the statute books the rules and regulations governing Osteopathy, and who, today raises his voice against that particular branch of treatment? There are advocates of that school to-day that four or five or ten years ago fought, and fought viciously, that particular school. How long has it been since the two great medical schools of this nation were separated from each other and fighting each other at every point, and absolutely refusing to meet in consultation at the bedside for conference and consultation in relation to a case requiring medical attention? I need not say, I feel that every member of this House is acquainted with those facts, and I do not want to get too far away from this particular subject. Section three tells not who but to what class of people shall the Governor restrict himself in making the appointment for the Board of Examiners. Section four gives and defines the terms of the members of the Board, and also gives authority to the Board to have hearings in relation to such matters as may come before it for official attention. Section five tells you of the Board meetings, and the first meeting of the Board, while Section six gives you the time of examinations which the Board shall hold. Also it specifies in what manner these examinations shall be held, and the suggestion which was made a few moments ago in relation to this particular feature of the bill is so absurd that I hesitate even to recognize it in passing, that someone who is being examined, for whom the Board had it in, would be asked a question in Greek about which he would know nothing. How absolutely absurd; and if the gentleman would only acquaint himself with the conditions of the bill in relation to the examination, he would find that the examinations are to be conducted in writing, the same as any other examination, Mr. Speaker, if you please, and the same line of questions would be asked each individual applicant for that examination. The papers of the examination,—it might be conducted in a sub-committee of the General Board, and in that case the papers of the examination are filled with the General Board where they are kept open to public inspection for a term of five years, and at that time, or during that time, Mr. Speaker, if you please, any of those who might be opposed to this particular school, any of those who might be opposed to advancement in this particular line, have ready and free access to those files, and I doubt not but that if those reports were dishonest and if the results were certified as they should not be, and those eminent gentlemen were to call the attention of the coming legislators to those facts, no doubt the remedy would be provided.

There is nothing fearful in that.

Section seven provides for the fees for examination and also the salaries of the Board which are not, if you please, Mr. Speaker, at the State's expense but as is provided in the bill are to be paid solely and wholly out of the money which comes into the hands of the Board for examination fees. So then this does not cost the State one single penny except, perhaps, and I want to be just as honest as I know how, because perhaps it might cost the State ten or fifteen or twenty-five cents for a certificate—for the certificates which are granted to the original board appointed by the Governor and which the Secretary of the State must certify to and to which he must attach his seal. Section eight also provides in relation to the certificates and here again I go back to this section for just a moment. I might as well pay attention to this section in passing, because it is one of the important sections in this bill. The latter part of this section says

Every certificate to practice optometry issued under the provisins of this act shall be signed by each member of the Board of Examiners and shall have affixed to it by the person authorized to affix the same the seal of the State Board of Optometric Examiners Before such certificate shall be issued it shall be numbered and recorded in a book to be kept by the secretary of the Board of Examiners and the number of such certificate and the number of the book and the page therein containing such recorded copy shall be noted upon the face of said certificate

The reason for that evidences itself in the further reading of this bill which is so plain and so broad fixed and determined in its purposes that it seems to me that the reading of the bill will give greater weight and greater significance than I might be able to do in my own language. I will read:

A photograph of the person registered under said certificate shall be filed with the record and a duplicate thereof affixed to the certificate In all legal proceedings the record and photograph so kept in the custody of the Board of Examiners or certified copies thereof shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated Said records shall under proper restrictions for their safe-keeping be open to public inspection

As is provided further in this bill, Mr. Speaker, every practitioner of this sceince must have exposed in the most public place in his office where he practices optometry this certifiate; on that certificate is a registered number and on that certificate is his likeness. If that same practitioner goes from his office on a single certificate, he must furnish to the one to whom he makes it a bill of sale on which shall appear his recorded number and that for the purpose of identifying him absolutely in the home office and to the State so that no one other than he to whom the certificate was originally handed could appear under that name and under that certificate number. For the purpose, Mr. Speaker, if you please, of defeating any attempt at fraud or deceit on the part of the scores and hundreds of fakirs who infest this land. Section nine provides in relation to a preliminary examination and which to my surprise there is a showing of the absolute lack of information of those who are attacking this bill. It provides also as to the preliminary education with which one shall be possessed before he evens applies for an examination for a certificate to the optometry board. If the gentleman will stop and read on line seven under, section nine they will find out just as I have suggested. You will find it set out there just to that effect. Section ten provides in relation to those who have practiced and are now practicing and who hold certificates or, who are in other states which have adopted this law. It provides for who may have certificates in this State and who may receive certificates which will allow them to parctice under the laws of Pennsylvania, and under this law. Section eleven gives you the effects of the certificates. Section 12 tells you when those who are unauthorized by a certificates from a board to be established under this law when that shall stop, which is on the first day of January, 1914. The penalties, Mr. Speaker, are fully set out in section 12. I hesitate to take the time to discuss this and yet in the few more words that I may have to say in relation to the bill, I believe that I ought to say this in regard to the penalty. The penalties which are provided in this bill are penalties which would touch, if this bill were operative, that class of men who go about the country from door to door and impose upon an unsuspecting public in the way of having attention paid to their eyesight. There is no question on that, and I believe that the members of this House who live in rural districts that will agree with me that every day throughout this Commonwealth there are traveling men who impose upon the public. Doubtless some of these men know these facts and know that they do impose upon the public in this way. It is learned that some one has defective sight. Perhaps they have gone to an occulist, if you please, and even to one of the very highest class, that has failed to do them any good in the treatment of the same, and their sight has failed to respond and some one of these traveling salesmen comes along with a glass perhaps that may be a little off color and tells them that it is a medicated glass and if they will wear this glass, it will restore their sight and from what he has learned as to their financial conditions, he sets a price upon this glass of fifty to a hundred dollars and from that unsuspecting man or woman he gathers in his victim and one hundred dollars and leaves them with a pair of cheap glasses made out of the cheapest bottle glass. Now, Mr. Speaker, the balance of the bill is simply the penalizing and defining of the matters which are touched upon from these sections which I have just defined. The purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker, is not to recognize any particular branch of people who are doing business and who are not recognized. Let me call your attention to just one other thing, so that there may be no mistake. I want to read from line fifty, of section twelve, so as to dissipate from some of the minds of the members on the floor of this House, the charge that this bill affects the medical fraternity, "that nothing contained in this act shall be construed as effecting the practice of medicine or the practice of osteopathy, nor shall this act apply to persons who neither practice nor profess to practice optometry." So much in relation to medicine and further than that under section fourteen, line ten, it states "Nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to persons licensed to practice medicine or surgery in the State of Pennsylvania."

Now, why the interest which has been manifested against this bill and what is proposed in the bill? First, if you please, as to the purposes: The purpose of the bill is to meet the very condition which I have outlined a moment ago. It is to drive from practice these men in this State a practice to-day is not regulated by law; it is to drive that trade which is defrauding and deceiving the people of this Commonwealth, who are too poor, perhaps, to consult igorant. It is to keep them from being defrauded and an occulist, or, if not too poor, too greedy or perhaps too from being deceived and to drive these men out of this Commonwealth. The people who are to-day practicing that deceit and doing that defrauding; it is they that we wish to drive out. It is for that purpose and none other. If this practice were not already going on, there would be no call for such a bill as this. It has been suggested that there is no school is this State. Perhaps not, but I believe, if my observation serves me right, that the great surgeons of this country and the great doctors, if you please, of to-day, pride themselves upon having taken a post graduate course abroad. Why? Because of the fact that on the other side of the water, they claim to have schools that are more advanced than in this country. So it is in this particular branch as in all other branches of medicine, as in all other branches of science; as in all other branches, if you please, where the stamp of law has been placed upon any particular science, that there must be a starting point. That starting point, Mr. Speaker, is not to-day. It is not to-day and in this Commonwealth. That starting point was some years ago, after a strenuous and hard and bitter and continuous struggle for years and years that starting point has been made from that time on down until these states, one state after another, have fallen in and why? I ask the gentlemen who may oppose this bill whether or not with their breath of education and enlightenment in matters of this kind, whether or not a single state that has adopted the opometry board as provided for in this bill, whether there is any one single state that has wiped it off the statute books? Not one. Why? Because of the fact that it has been found that it meets the needs for which the bill is written and that it meets the conditions of those people who require it. Not every man, Mr. Speaker, can go to an occulist who may charge ten or fifteen or twenty-five dollars for a special eximination, as to his eyesight. Not every one can do that. If he cannot go there, let us at least have him go where there is protection, and that is what this is intended for. We can not go to all the highest price surgeon, as you or I might and are willing to do, Mr. Speaker, if we had an operation to be performed, we might want to go away off out beyond into another state, up in Minnesota.

The two brothers, whose reputation, perhaps, stands as high as any other in this land. We might want to submit ourselves to their care, or if we could not we would do the next best thing. No doctor, perhaps, would be justified unless he had a surgical training to amputate my left arm. I am sure no lawyer would. I am sure no banker would. And neither would the doctor feel justified in going into a bank and running a banking institution without some training, or before our courts of law to try out some serious question. Every tub stands on its own bottom, and in this particular case, Mr. Speaker, having fully set out in this bill our abolute divorcement from surgery, from medicine, or anything else that might claim to have a sisterhood or cousin relationship to this, we ask in the name of the people of this State of Pennsylvania who need this protection; we ask it not against any school of medicine, or surgery, or any school of oculists, or anybody else; but we ask it in the name of the people of this great State of Pennsylvania. This is a bill which has been adopted by thirty other states and has not, up to this moment been found wanting, and we ask that you adopt and pass this measure.

The SPEAKER. It is evident that this bill will involve some discussion, and the Chair would suggest that if the gentleman so desires, he can move to postpone further consideration until 10:30, or until whatever hour to-morrow he may prefer.

HOUSE BILL NO. 741 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I suspect that there will be other speakers in relation to this matter, and move that 11 o'clock A. M. to-morrow be made a special order for the consideration of this bill.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

An Act repealing part of section one of an act entitled "An Act relating to the service of certain process in actions at law and the effect thereof and providing who shall be made parties to certain writs" approved July ninth one thousand nine hundred and one

The SPEAKER. The House should have a session this evening. There may be, and doubtless are, a number of members who have committee meetings to attend, probably not a large number, but if we could sit this evening, as we did last week, taking up only such bills as the sponsors are willing to call up in a light House, a great deal of work could be done, occasioning no inconvenience. This is merely a suggestion of the Chair.

RECESS.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that we take a recess until 8:00 o'clock this evening.

The motion was agreed to and (at 6:08 o'clock P. M.) the House took a recess until 8:00 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER, (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. GLENN, asked and received unanimous consent to introduce an appropriation bill, the title of which was first read for information.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. H. B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1004, (Senate Bill No. 120), on page thirteen of today's Calendar.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill as amended in the Senate, is exactly the same as the bill we passed last week, the election bill, which was the bill introduced by myself, which was the same thing, and if we can get rid of it now, I am perfectly satisfied.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1004, (Senate Bill No. 120), as follows:

An Act regulating pay of election officers and clerks at certain elections hereafter held within this Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act the pay of judges inspectors and clerks at all elections to be held within this Commonwealth shall be five dollars each Provided That the provisions of this act shall not repeal any special act now in force in any of the counties of this Commonwealth and shall not apply to any city co-extensive with a county and shall not alter or affect in any manner the compensation of return judges as fixed by existing laws

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith except as recited in section one are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I want to call up House Bill No. 1013, file folio 2759, on page twenty-five of today's Calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1013, as follows:

An Act to amend further the tenth section of an act entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property an to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one as heretofore amended by changing the procedure for reviving and continuing the liens of municipal and tax claims

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section ten of an act entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" approved the fourth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one which as heretofore amended read as follows:

"Section 10 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after confirmation of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where an appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is fixed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Whereon final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no account is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said porperties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed in cases of tax claims either before or after judgment o nthe scrie facias and in cases of other than tax claims ater judgment on the scire acias or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scrie facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

The suggestion and averment shall be in the following form under the caption of the claim

And now the claimant by his solicitor suggests or record that the above claim is still due and owing to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The protonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index of it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment must be signed by the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment as directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim or the issuing of any writ of scrie facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing or any prior suggestion the averment of default shall have the same force and effect for the purpose of continuing and preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment or revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid it shall be wholly lost" shall be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where no appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If the final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Whereon final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed either before or after judgment on the scire facie or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

And now the claimant by his solicitor suggests of record that the above claim is still due and owning to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The prothonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment must be signed by the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment as directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim of the issuing of any writ of scire facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing of any prior suggestion and averment or default shall have the same force and effect for the purpose of continuing and preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment of revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid it shall be wholly lost

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. NEELY in behalf of Mr. Speiser, Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title in line nine by striking out the word "as heretofore amended" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"As the same was amended by an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven, and as the same was further amended by an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine, and as the same was further amended by an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven"

Amend section 1 line 12 striking out the words "as heretofore amended" and inserting in lieu thereof the following words:

"As the same was amended by an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven, and as the same was further amended by an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine, and as the same was further amended by an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1647, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering municipalities to establish separate and distinct grades on the same street or highway

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1809 (Senate Bill No. 316), as follows:

An Act to provide for the protection and preservation of elk and deer providing a method through which certain lands in the Commonwealth may be closed to hunting for a term of years and prescribing penalties for violation of its several provisions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the pasage of this act the Board of Game Commissioners of this Commonwealth shall have the power and authority to close for a term of years to the purposes of hunting elk and deer found in a wild state in any of the territory that may to the residents of that territory appear necessary to the protection of elk and deer placed or found thereon such territory in no instance to be less than one county in area and in no instance to exceed four contiguous counties in any one tract in this Commonwealth

Section 2 That whenever at least two hundred citizens of any county in this Commonwealth shall through written petition certify to the Board of Game Commissioners that in their opinion an absolutely closed season is necessary to insure the better protection and consequent increase of elk and deer found in a wild state in that county in which such citizens may reside and asking that such county be closed to hunting for a period the Board of Game Commissioners shall forward to said petitioners and others a blank form setting forth such questions as they may consider best suited to determine the quantity of game and game conditions in the county in question which said forms with replies to entitle such answers to consideration before said Board of Game Commissioners shall be returned to said board on or before the return day as fixed upon said forms such petitioners shall also publish for at least three consecutive weeks at their own expense in at least two prominent newspapers in the county to be closed the statement that such petition has been filed with its purpose and the return day for information as fixed by the Board of Game Commissioners and shall file with said board duly certified copies of such notices as published in each newspaper on or before said return day If the written answers as returned shall fail to satisfy said Board of Game Commissioners that such closed season is necessary or those opposing such action shall demand a hearing before said board then a hearing shall be had upon such date and at such place within the county to be affected as may be decided upon by the said Board of Game Commissioners the expense of such hearing to be paid by those demanding the same If after the receipt of the written answers or the public hearing or both the Board of Game Commissioners shall be satisfied such closed season is necessary to insure the better protection of elk and deer found in a wild state and its consequent increase they are herewith empowered and directed to declare a closed season not to exceed five years for elk and deer found in a wild state as the investigation may demonstrate is needy in that county or in those several counties not exceeding four in number and adjourning one another that through the separate action of its citizens has been in accord with the requirements of this act

The Board of Game Commissioners to make such closed season effective and binding shall be required to publish annually their decision and action regarding this matter in at least five newspapers if there be that many in each county affected thereby and to have notices of such ruling declaring such county closed to hunting printed upon cloth annually distributed in reasonable numbers throughout the affected territory

Each and every person violating the requirements of such ruling made by the Board of Game Commissions under the requirements of this act shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars for each elk and one hundred dollars for each deer taken killed wounded or attempted to be taken killed or wounded upon said closed territory

Section 3 Each and every magistrate justice of the peace and alderman within this Comomnwealth shall have the power to hear and determine all cases of summary conviction in matters pertaining to violation of any of the provisions of this act All actions for violation of any of the provisions this act except where the defendant is taken in the act of violating the law or in a pursuit immediately following such violation shall be commenced by affidavit made within one year after the date of such violation and any magristrate justice of the peace or alderman in this Commonwealth on complaint made before him by affidavit by one or more persons of a violation of any of the provisions of this act by any person is hereby authorized and required to issue his warrant under his hand and seal directed to any constable police officer game protector or any officer of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to protect the game and wild birds of the Commonwealth and cause such person to be brought before him such magistrate justice of the peace or alderman who shall hear the evidence and determine the guilt or innocence of the person accused and if such person be convicted of the offense charged he shall be sentenced to pay the full penalty prescribed by the section violated together with the costs of prosecution All penalties thus recovered in cases where the prosecutor is a salaried officer of the Commonwealth shall be immediately surrendered by the court receiving the same to the prosecutor who in turn as soon as may be shall forward or deliver such amount in full to the secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg Where any officer of the Commonwealth other than a salaried officer is the prosecutor one-half of any penalty thus collected shall be paid to such prosecutor by the court receiving the same and the remaining one-half shall be as soon as the case is fully determined before him forwarded by such magistrate justice of the peace or alderman to the secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg together with a statement of the cause for which such money shall have been collected the cost of which statement is hereby fixed at fifty cents and made a part of the costs of prosecution and it shall be the duty of said secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners to at least once a month make return of moneys thus collected to the State Treasurer who shall keep the moneys thus collected as a fund separate and apart solely for the purpose of wild bird and game protection and for the purchase and propagation of game under the supervision of the Board of Game Commissioners of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and for the payment of bounties under the provisions of law The several purposes to which the fund so received by the State Treasurer shall be applied to be clearly designated by an act of the Legislature either in the general appropriation act or by separate apropriation for the payment of bounties Any defendant being dissatisfied with the finding of the magistrate justice of the peace or alderman in a trial for a violation of any provision of this act shall be entitled to an appeal under the provisions of section fourteen of article five of the Constitution and the laws of Pennsylvania relating thereto which said court on the conviction of the defendant of such offense and his failure to pay the penalty in full imposed by this act together with the costs of prosecution shall commit such defendant to the common jail of the county for the time as prescribed by this act Provided That any person caught in the act or charged with a violation of any provisions of this act may at his descretion either before or after the bringing of suit sign an acknowledgement of the offense committed and pay to any duly authorized game protector or deputy game protector the penalty in full as fixed by the section violated together with costs if any to date and the receipt which he shall receive therefrom and which in all instances shall bear the imprint of the seal of the Board of Game Commissioners and the signature of its secretary shall be evidence of full satisfaction of the offense committed

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1476, as follows:

An Act creating a Rebuilding and Insurance Fund under the control of the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the restoration and repairing of any structure building or equipment owned by the Commonwealth and accidentally destroyed or damaged and for the payment of premiums of insurance upon such property and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That there is hereby established a Rebuilding and Insurance Fund which shall be used for the purpose of restoring and replacing any structure building or equipment owned by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which may be accidentally destroyed or damaged and for the payment of all premiums of insurance upon such structures buildings and equipment

Section 2 The Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Building is authorized to invest said fund in such securities as are authorized for the investment of the moneys in the Sinking Fund of this Commonwealth The Board shall make and publish annually in the month of January a report of the condition of said fund and the amount thereof expended during the preceding year

Section 3 The interest of said fund shall be used to restore and repair any structure building or equipment owned by the Commonwealth which shall be accidentally destroyed or damaged If at any time the interest of said fund shall not be sufficient for any such purpose the said board is authorized to use so much of the principal sum of said fund as may be necessary

Section 4 Payment of money from said fund shall be on requisition of the Board accompanied by itemized and certified vouchers and on warrant of the Auditor General

Section 5 All rebuilding authorized by this act shall be done in accordance with the original plans and specifications unless the Board shall deem it to the interests of the Commonwealth to deviate therefrom No part of said fund shall be used in the erection of new buildings nor in the erection of any new addition to any building

Section 6 After the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings to insure all structures buildings and equipment owned by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to use so much of the interest derived from said fund as may be necessary for the payment of the premiums of such insurance Whenever said fund shall amount to the sum of five million dollars the said Board is authorized and empowered to cancel all insurance upon such structures buildings and equipment and any moneys that shall enure to the Commonwealth by reason of such cancellation shall be added to and form part of the principal fund created by this act

Section 7 The sum of five hundred thousand dollars is hereby specifically appropriated to carry out the provisions of this act

Section 8 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like some explanation of this bill.

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, this is to create a rebuilding and insurance fund for the State. Large corporations like the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and like John Wanamaker of Philadelphia are doing this kind of work, and why shouldn't it be a good proposition for the State instead of paying out thousands of dollars yearly to insurance people. This bill has been recommended by the different Departments of the State. For instance, you will find in the Board of Public Charities that they have recommended a law of this kind.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KERN. I will.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how much of an appropriation this bill carries.

Mr. KERN. $500,000.

The SPEAKER. The attention of the Chair has been called to the fact that this bill has not as yet been before the Committee on Appropriations.

BILL RE-COMMITTED.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. KERN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 754, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings to let contracts for the building of a garage a main building and a subway at the State Arsenal Harrisburg Pennsylvania and making an appropriation therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings are hereby authorized and directed to have prepared plans and specifications for the erection at the State Arsenal Harrisburg Pennsylvania of a garage main building and a subway to connect the manufacturing and storage building with the main building and after advertising for bids in not less than two daily newspapers for a period of three weeks shall proceed to let the contract for the building of the garage main building and subway herein provided for to the lowest and best bidder with the right to them to reject all bids submitted and readvertise in the manner aforesaid for bids and upon the acceptance of the lowest and best bidder to enter into a contract on behalf of the Commonwealth for the same with such bidder under the advice and direction of the Attorney General

Section 2 That the sum of one hundred and two thousand five hundred dollars ($102,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings for the erection of said buildings and subway as follows namely

For the construction of an automobile garage of fire-proof materials the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary

For the construction of a new main building of fire-proof materials the sum of ninety-eight thousand dollars ($98,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary

For the construction of a subway to connect the proposed new fireproof main building with the manufacturing and storage building the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill appropriates over two hundred thousand dollars and has not as yet been before the Appripriation Committee. I do not know whether it is in order or not at the present time, but if it is I should like to move to recommit this bill to the Committee on Appropriations.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order at the present time except the calling of the roll. The Chair was about to suggest that the bill not having apparently received enough votes to secure its passage, that the roll may be announced, and then the bill be reconsidered and sent to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire whether or not remarks are in order at the present time? I ask unanimous consent of the House to say a few words on this bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to permit the gentleman to speak on the bill at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and permission is granted.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am very much afraid that the gentlemen are not familiar with the terms and conditions of this measure. In 1911, the General Assembly appropriated twenty thousand dollars for the purpose of reconstructing and remodeling the old arsenal building. Upon investigation it was found that this was absolutely useless because the building is inadequate and obsolete. The State of Pennsylvania has between eighty thousand and one hundred thousand dollars' worth of paraphernalia belonging to the National Guard of Pennsylvania stored in that building. The building itself is a veritable fire trap; the insurance premium on the building at the present time is one dollar and twenty cents per hundred. If any of you gentlemen know anything of insurance rates, you will know that insurance companies consider this a great risk. In order to safeguard the paraphernalia of the State Guard, the State has erected small wooden buildings throughout the grounds to accommodate a portion of this paraphernalia, so that in case a fire should occur that it will not all be consumed. It is not only the financial loss to the State that is involved, if fire should take place, but it would put the National Guard to a great deal of inconvenience if it should be destroyed. I believe that the proper thing to do is to pass this measure. I think it is a great mistake to vote this bill down.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection to the gentleman from Crawford, he can explain his position.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I want it distinctly understood that I don't raise this question because of any opposition to this bill or the purposes embraced in it. I believe the bill is probably a meritorious one but I believe that the practice of passing bills before they are considered by the Appropriation Committee is a bad habit we have gotten into and I think the Appropriation Committee ought to have a check on this expenditure and that is the only reason I raise the question and not because of any opposition to the merits of the measure.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which this bill failed on final passage.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules a motion to reconsider is not in order until some other business is transacted.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 754, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings to let contracts for the building of a garage a main building and a subway at the State Arsenal Harrisburg Pennsylvania and making an appropriation therefor failed on final passage be reconsidered.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BAYLES. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 754 (title just read) be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1024, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and eight of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven entitled "An Act to provide for licensing and regulating private banking in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing penalties for the violation thereof"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the first section of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven entitled "An act to provide for licensing and regulating private banking in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing penalties for the violation thereof" which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That except as provided in section eight no individual partnership or unincorporated association shall hereafter engage directly or indirectly in the business of receiving deposits of money for safe-keeping or for the purpose of transmission to another or for any other purpose without having first obtained from a board consisting of the State Treasurer the Secretary of the Commonwealth the commissioner of Banking hereinafter referred to as the "Board" a license to engage in such business Before receiving such license the applicant shall file with the Commissioner of Banking a written statement in the form to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Banking and verified under oath showing the amount of the assets and liabilities of the applicant designating the place where the applicant proposed to engage in business the names and addresses of all partners or members of the unincorporated association that the applicant is a citizen or if the applicant shall constitute a partnership or unincorporated association that a majority of the members thereof having a controlling interest in the business of such partnership are citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania In addition thereto there shall be presented to the Commissioner of Banking a bond to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania executed by the applicant and by a surety or sureties approved by the Board conditioned upon the faithful holding of all moneys that may be deposited with the applicant in accordance with the terms of the deposit and the repayment of such moneys so deposited upon the faithful transmission of any money which shall be delivered to such applicant for transmission to another and in the event of the insolvency or bankruptcy of the applicant upon his payment of the full amount recoverable under the conditions of such bond to the assignee receiver or trustee of the applicant as the case may require for the benefit of the persons making such deposits and of such persons as shall deliver money to the applicant for transmission to another The penalty of the bond shall be a sum fixed by the Board which shall not be more than fifty thousand dollars nor less than ten thousand dollars In lieu of the aforesaid bond the applicant may deposit and the Commissioner of Banking shall accept money and securities consisting of bonds of the United States or of this Commonwealth or any municipality thereof or other securities approved by the Board The money and securities so deposited shall be held in the conditions specified in the aforesaid bond If securities be deposited in lieu of the aforesaid bond and shall be accepted as hereinafter provided the Commissioner of Banking shall require the applicant to maintain such deposit at a value equal to the amount fixed as the penalty of the bond in lieu of which such money and securities shall be so deposited Upon the receipt of such application the Commissioner of Banking shall cause to be made an examination of the financial standing and moral character of the applicant as to whether the statements contained in the application are true and to this end the application shall be advertised by the Commissioner of Banking at the expense of the applicant once a week for at least three weeks in two newspapers of general circulation and in the legal periodical if any in the county where applicant proposes to do business or nearest county where such newspapers are published After such advertisement the Board may in its discretion approve or disapprove the application In the event of his approval he shall accept the money securities and bond if there be one and hold them for the purpose herein set forth and shall issue a license authorizing the applicant to carry on the aforesaid business at the place designated in the application and to be specified in the license certificate For such license the licensee shall pay a fee of fifty dollars Such license shall not be transferred or assigned It shall not authorize the transaction of business at any place other than that described in the license certificate except with the written approval of the Board Immediately upon the receipt of the license certificate issued by the Commissioner of Banking pursuant to this article the licensee named therein shall cause such license certificate to be posted and at all times conspicuously displayed in the place of business for which it is issued so that all persons visiting such place may readily see the same It shall be unlawful for any person or partnership or uncorporated association holding such license certificate to post such certificate or to permit such certificate to be posted upon premises other than those designated therein or to which it has been transferred pursuant to the provisions of this article or knowingly to deface or destroy any such license certificate If it shall be established to the satisfaction of the Board in accordance with the rules and regulations by it prescribed that an unexpired license certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of this article has been lost or destroyed without fault on the part of the holder the Board shall issue a duplicate license therefor The money and securities deposited with the Commissioner of Banking as herein provided and the money which in case of default shall be paid on the aforesaid bond by any applicant or the surety thereof shall constitute a trust fund for the benefit of the depositors of the licensee and of such persons as shall deliver money to such licensee for transmission to another and such beneficiaries shall be entitled to an absolute preference as to such moneys or securities over all general creditors of the license Such money and securities shall in the event of the insolvency or bankruptcy of the licensee be delivered by the Commissioner of Banking on the order or judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction to the assignee receiver or trustee of the licensee designated in such order or judgment The Commissioner of Banking shall cause to be printed annually on the first day of January and distributed upon application a list of all licenses granted and remaining unrevoked the Commissioner of Banking shall from time to time pay over to each such licensee all moneys received by him as interest upon any moneys or securities deposited in accordance wth the provisions of this article All moneys or securities deposited with the Commissioner of Banking hereunder shall be turned into the State Treasury and receipted for by the State Treasurer to the depositor and to be subject to withdrawal only upon the warrant of the Commissioner of Banking and all interest coupons on any securities deposited with the State Treasurer shall be surrendered when due to the owners of said securities upon their request" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That except as provided in section eight of this act it shall be unlawful for any individual partnership or unincorporated association to engage directly or indirectly in the business of receiving deposits for safe-keeping or for the purpose of transmission to another or for any other person unless a license shall have been obtained therefor in accordance with the provisions of this act Such license shall be issued only by a Board which shall consist of the Commissioner of Banking the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the State Treasurer No such license shall issue until the applicant shall have

1 Filed with the said Commissioner a written statement in the form prescribed by the Commissioner and verified under oath showing the assets and liabilities of the applicant designating the place where the applicant proposes to engage in said business setting forth the name and address of the individual applicant or of each partner or of the members of the association as the case may be The statement shall further show that the individual applicant or a majority of the partners or members having a controlling interest in the business as the case may be are citizens of the United States

2 Filed with the said Commissioner a bond to this Commonwealth executed by the applicant conditioned upon the faithful holding of all moneys that may be deposited with the applicant in accordance with the terms of the deposit and the repayment of such moneys so deposited and conditioned upon the faithful transmission of any moneys which shall be delivered to such applicant for transmission to another and in the event of the insolvency or bankruptcy of the applicant also conditioned upon the payment of the full amount recoverable under the conditions of the bond to the Commissioner of Banking for the benefit of the persons making such deposits and of such persons as shall deliver money to the applicant for transmission to another The amount of the bond shall be fixed by the Board and shall not be less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) nor more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) such bond shall have as surety a surety company authorized to act as surety in Pennsylvania or at least two sureties approved by the Board

3 Deposited in lien of such bond money and securities to an amount fixed by the Board The securities may be bonds of the United States or of this Commonwealth or of any municipality of this Commonwealth or other securities approved by the Board The money and securities so deposited shall be held subject to the same conditions as are required in case of a bond If securities shall be deposited and accepted in lieu of a bond the Commissioner shall require the applicant to maintain such deposit at a value equal to the amount that would be fixed in case of a bond

4 Paid into the State Treasury the sum of fifty dollars as a license fee

Upon receipt of such application the Commissioner shall cause an examination to be made of the financial standing and moral character of the applicant to ascertain whether the statements contained in the application are true A copy of such application shall by the Commissioner be published at the expense of the applicant once a week for at least three weeks in two newspapers of general circulation and in the legal periodical if any designated by rules of court for the publication of legal notices in the county where the applicant proposes to do business

After such publication has been completed the Board may in its discretion approve or disapprove the application If the application and the bond (or the securities) shall be appproved the bond (or securities) shall be accepted and held for the uses and purposes aforesaid Upon payment by the applicant of the costs of said advertising the license shall then issue authorizing the applicant to carry on the aforesaid business at the place designated in the application and to be specified in the license certificate Such license shall not be transfered nor assigned and shall be valid until revoked Except on the express written approval of the Board such license shall not authorize the transaction of said business at any place or by an person otherwise than as designated in the license certificate

Immediately upon receipt of the said license certificates which shall be issued by the Commissioner on the direction of the Board the licensee or licensees named therein shall cause such certificate to be posted and at all times conspicuously displayed in the place of business for which it shall be issued so that all persons visiting such place may readily see the same

It shall be unlawful for any person partnership or unincorporated association holding such license certificate to post it or permit it to be posted upon premises other than the place designated therein or to which it shall have been transferred in accordance with this act It shall be unlawful for any person to deface or destroy any such certificate or knowingly to permit it to be defaced or destroyed

Whenever it shall be established to the satisfaction of the Board in accordance with rules and regulations by it prescribed that any such license certificate has been lost or defaced or destroyed without fault on the part of the holders the Board shall issue a duplicate license therefor which shall be marked "Duplicate"

The money and securities deposited as aforesaid with the Commissioner and the money which in case of default shall be paid on the aforesaid bond by any applicant or the surety thereof shall constitute a trust fund for the benefit of the depositors of the licensee and for the benefit of such persons as shall deliver money to such licensee for transmission to another Such beneficiaries shall be entitled to an absolute preference as to such moneys and securities over all general creditors of the licensee Such moneys and securities shall in the event of the insolvency or bankruptcy of the licensee be delivered by the Commissioner on the order or judgment of a court of competent jurisidiction to the assignee receiver or trustee of the licensee designated in such order or judgment

The Commissioner shall cause to be printed on or about the first day of January of each year and distributed upon application a list of all licenses granted and remaining unrevoked

The Commissioner shall from time to time pay over to each such license all moneys received by him as interest upon any moneys or securities deposited in accordance with the provisions of this act

All moneys and securities so deposited with the Commissioner shall be turned over to the State Treasurer and receipted for by said State Treasurer to the Commissioner and shall be subject to withdrawal only upon written order of the Commissioner All interest coupons on any securities so deposited with the State Treasurer shall be surrendered when due to the respective owners of the securities upon their request

Section 2 The eighth section of said act which reads as follows

Section 7 The license or licenses provided for under the provisions of this act shall be granted by the city or county treasurer of the cities (boroughs or townships) for one year from the first day of May of each year upon application therefor upon the payment of the license fee as provided in this act by the owner or owners or lessee or lessees of such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures in which the same are to be held upon the certificate of the director of public safety of the cities of the first class or of the proper municipal officer of the cities of the second and third class boroughs or townships setting forth that the person or persons applying for such license are of good moral character and that the exhibitions performances or contests intended to be given, are not immoral in their nature or tendencies or otherwise unlawful or hurtful to the community and that such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures have been erected constructed or altered and in actual use as a "place of amusement" or as a "moving picture place" (whether stage scenery and apparatus are employed or not) or as a "theatre" in accordnce with the laws and ordinances regulating the erection construction or alteration of such places at the time of erection construction or alteration thereof either as a "place of amusement" or as a "moving picture place" (whether stage scenery and apparatus are employed or not) or as a "theatre"

Section 8 The Auditor General shall prepare and have printed proper blanks to be distributed by the mercantile appraiser of every county to the applicants who may be liable for the license as herein provided Such blanks shall require such information as will be necessary and shall contain a statement of the amount of chairs in such place of amusement building tent or enclosure or the number of cars which transports any circus trained animals menagerie or wild west show Every applicant shall be required to sign and make oath or affirmation as to the correctness thereof

If a false oath shall be made by any person to such application the one so swearing shall be guilty of the crime of perjury and shall be punished as such

Section 9 It shall be the duty of each applicant to fill up the blank as provided as aforesaid by the Auditor General and return the same to the mercantile appraiser of the proper county within ten days from the receipt thereof with an affidavit certifying as to the correctness thereof

In any applicant fails or refuses to make the statement required by this act to the mercantile appraiser when requested so to do it shall be the duty of the mercantile appraiser to assess him or it with the license tax as provided by this act

A certified copy of the said assessment shall be forwarded to the said applicant which assessment when so made shall be final and conclusive and without appeal and the applicant so assessed shall not be permitted in any manner to appeal and recover said assessment or deny the correctness thereof

Section 10 The mercantile appraiser or his duly authorized deputy shall have the right to visit such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures and require the person liable for the payment of the license to make said statement under oath or affirmation for the purpose of assessing the amount of said license for such place of amusement building tent or enclsure

If the mercantile appraiser is dissatisfied with the statement so made he shall ascertain and assess said license fee according to such sum as in his best judgment he believes to be correct

He shall also leave a written or printed notice to be prepared by the Auditor General specifying the amount of the license money to be paid by such person to the Commonwealth and also when and where an appeal will be held as required by law

Any person so liable for the payment of the license as herein provided who is dissatisfied with the assessment so made shall have the right to appeal to the mercantile appraisers and city or county treasurer in all counties except where there is a board of mercantile appraisers in which case the board shall hear all appeals

If the person so liable to the payment of the license as aforesaid is still dissatisfied with the finding of the mercantile appraiser and city or county treasurer or board of mercantile appraisers he they or it shall have the right to appeal to the court of Common Pleas of the proper county within ten days which appeal shall set forth the date and amount of said assessment the date of the decision of the appeal to the board and the facts in detail relied upon to obtain a reversal of said decision The applicant shall within five days after taking an appeal serve upon the city or county treasurer or the Mercantile Appraiser or Board of Mercantile Appraissers notice of said appeal including the court term and number of the case in which the appeal is taken On failure to comply with any of the provisions of this act in whole or part said appeal shal upon motion be stricken off The burden of proof of said appeal shall be upon the appellant

If any person fails to attend said appeal before the Mercantile Appraisers or city or county treasurer or Board of Mercantile Appraisers he shall not thereafter be permitted in a suit for the recovery of said license to set up a defence either that he is not subject to the payment of the license fee so assessed against him or any other ground of defence which might have been heard and determined either by the said Mercantile Appraiser or city or county treasurer or Board of Mercantile Appraisers or Court of Common Pleas on appeal as aforesaid

Section 11 It shall be the duty of every city or county treasurer to sue for the recovery of all licenses duly returned to him by the Mercantile Appraisers if not paid on or before the first day of July of each and every year within thirty days after that date provided however if said city or county treasurer is satisfied that such license fees cannot be collected he shall make report to the Auditor General of all facts connected with the case and the Auditor General upon investigation may exonerate him from the payment of said taxes and in such cases suit shall not be brought

Section 12 If for any reason the license aforesaid is not paid on or before the first day of July on each and every year a penalty of ten per centum of the amount of said taxes shall be added and collected by the city or county treasurer as aforesaid

Where suit is brought for the recovery of such license fees for which the party shall be liable it shall be the duty of the city or county treasurer to collect in addition to said license fee assessed against such person a penalty of fifty per centum of the license fee so assessed

The city or county treasurer shall at the expiration of each month forward to the State Treasurer the amount of said license fees collected by him including the said penalties as aforesaid

Section 13 It shall be the duty of every Mercantile Appraiser or Board of Mercantile Appraisers in counties where such board exists on or before the first day of May of each year to certify to the city or county treasurer the correct list of all persons assessed giving the names and business address of the persons liable to the payment of the license fees as herein provided and the amount of license due by each This list shall be kept by the city or county treasurer in collecting said license fees If appeals have been made and exonerations made a corrected list shall be certified by the city or county treasurer to the Auditor General on or before the first day of January of each and every year

Section 14 The rate of commission allowed city or county treasurers for their services in collecting fees as aforesaid shall be the same as in the case of mercantile license

Section 15 If upon the presentation of proof satisfactory to the city or county treasurer of the cities boroughs or townships) after hearing all parties under oath or affirmation which he is hereby empowered to administer it shall be proven that the exhibition performances or contests given under any license issued are in violation of the provisions of this act or any other act of Assembly or ordinance of such city borough or township he shall have full power to vacate annual and render void and of no effect the license or licenses which shall have been obtained under the provisions of this act and the city or county treasurer of the cities (boroughs or townships) shal have full power to prevent any exhibition performance entertainment or contest from being held exhibited or performed until the provisions of this act have been fully complied with

Section 16 The Department of Public Safety of the cities of the first class or the proper municipal officers of the cities of the second and third class boroughs or townships shall have full power to inquire into any immortal tendencies or any other matters or things unlawful or hurtful to the public at large that may be charged in writing as being the purpose of such exhibition performance entertainment or contest and shall further if said charges are proven (after notice to all the parties in interest) to be true forbid such exhibitions performances entertainments or contests and for that purpose shall have full power to direct the proper officers to close the said places of amusement buildings or building tents or enclosures in which said exhibitions performances entertainments or contests are intended to be held and prevent the entrance therein of any person or persons except the owner or owners or lessee or lessees of said place of amusement buildings or building tents or enclosures

Section 17 Any person or persons owner or owners lessee or lessees of any such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures who shall feel aggrieved at the act of the city or county treasurer or the director of public safety of cities of the first class or proper municipal officers of cities of the second and third class boroughs or townships in granting the certificate or certificates as herein provided or refusing to grant a license or in revoking any license so issued or in forbidding any exhibition performance or entertainment or closing any such place of amusement buildings tents or enclosures shall have the right to appeal in writing to the court of Common Pleas of the county wherein any such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures are situated which said court shall within ten days after said appeal is taken and filed hear the person or persons aggrieved and determine the character of the applicant nature of the exhibition or permormance and whether such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures have been erected constructed or altered and in actual use as a place of amusement or as a moving picture place (whether stage scenery and apparatus are employed or not or as a theatre in accordance with the laws and ordinances regulating the erection construction or alteration of such places at the time of the erection construction or alteration thereof either as a place of amusement or as a moving picture place (whether stage scenery and apparatus are employed or not) or as a theatre as to the said court may seem just and right and for that purpose shall have full and ample power if upon a reversal of the proceedings to direct what the city or county treasurer or director of public safety of cities of the first class or the proper municipal officers of cities of the second and third class or boroughs and townships shall do and perform in the premises

Section 18 The license fees herein provided for shall be in lieu of all license fees heretofore required by law to be paid to the use of the Commonwealth but this act shall not exempt any such places of amusement buildings tents or enclosures from the payment of such license fee as may be lawfully imposed on it by any city borough or township of this Commonwealth

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Section 19, line 6, before "an" insert double quotation marks.

Section 19, line 7, before "an act to create" insert single quotation marks.

Section 19, line 10, after "class" insert single quotation marks.

Section 19, line 11, after "ninety-nine" insert double quotation marks.

Section 23, line 9, strike out first "an" before "An" insert double quotation marks

Section 23, line 19, after ($30.00) insert double quotation marks.

Section 23, line 20, before "an" insert double quotation marks.

Section 23, line 21, before "an act to" insert single quotation marks.

Section 23, line 36, after "dollar" insert double quotation marks.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 330, entitled:

An Act providing for the return of statistics relating to the annulment of marriage and divorce proceedings requiring the clerks of the courts of common pleas to make such returns to the Department of Health of the Commonwealth providing a penalty in the case of neglect or refusal and making it the duty of the Commissioner of Health to report

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, this act was introduced and drafted for the purpose of conforming with the uniform divorce law which has been introduced in the House, passed on second reading, and recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General. The Committee on Judiciary General intend to report out the bill—(I see one of the members of that committee shaking his head to the contrary, but I think the bill will be reported out). If the bill is passed by this House and the Senate, it is simply for the purpose of providing statistics of pending divorces and divorces that have been granted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Frey,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1658, as follows:

An Act to amend section eighteen of an act entitled "An Act providing for the original location laying out and construction of public roads or highways in the several counties of this Commonwealth and for the permanent improvement of certain public roads or highways therein making such originally constructed or improved roads and highways country roads authorizing the relocation opening straightening widening extension and alteration of the same and the vacation of so much of any road as may thereby become unnecessary providing that the county Commissioners of any county may prescribe rules regulating the use of roads constructed or maintained by the various counties and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing for the taking of property for such improvement the compensation to be paid there for and the payment of damages resulting from such taking and the manner in which such damages may be determined providing for the payment of the costs and expenses of such construction or improvement and in thereafter repairing and maintaining said roads authorizing the levy of a tax or the issuing of bonds to provide a fund for the expenses thereof prescribing a method for improving a county road lying within or traversing a borough and apportioning the cost of such improvement and authorizing the vacation of any county road" approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven by authorizing counties to contract with boroughs in the improvement of a borough street connecting with a county road providing for the cost thereof prescribing the method by which the contract for such improvement shall be made and imposing cost of maintenance of such street on the borough

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That section eighteen of the act approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred forty-four) "An Act providing for the original location laying out and construction of public roads or highways in the several counties of this Commonwealth and for the permanent improvement of certain public roads or highways therein making such originally constructed or improved roads and highways county roads authorizing the relocation opening straightening widening extension and alteration of the same and the vacation of so much of any road as may thereby become unnecessary providing that the county commissioners of any county may prescribe rules regulating the use of roads constructed or maintained by the various counties and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing for the taking of property for such improvement the compensation to be paid therefor and the payment of damages resulting from such taking and the manner in which such damages may be determined providing for the payment of the costs and expenses of such construction or improvement and in thereafter repairing and maintaining said roads authorizing the levy of a tax or the issuing of bonds to provide a fund for the expense thereof prescribing a method for improving a county road lying within or traversing a borough and apportioning the cost of such improvement and authorizing the vacation of any county road" which reads as follows to wit

Section 18 "Where a portion of a highway constructed or improved under this act or former acts traversing one or more townships shall lie within the limits of or traverse any borough and where the failure of said borough to improve said highway within its limits would leave a break or unimproved section in such continuous highway it shall be lawful for the councils of such borough to authorize by ordinance that proper officials of the borough enter into an agreement with the county commissioners of such county providing that the said commissioners improve the shortest and most reasonable road through said borough which will connect the two ends of such highway or highways Such ordinance shall also stipulate that the borough shall bear thirty-three and one-third (33 1-3) per centum of the total cost of such improvement within its limits and the county shall bear the remaining cost thereof and it shall further provide that the county commissioners shall have the right to issue permits determining the manner in which public service or other corporations or individuals shall place on or under such highway its pipes conduits telegraph lines or other device used in the furtheance of its business After such highway or highways are improved under this section it shall be the duty of the county to keep and maintain such improved highways in good repair The right is reserved however to the borough of policing the portion of such highway within its limits" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows to wit

Section 18 When a borough intervenes between two ends of a county highway and the borough has failed to properly improve the street or streets constituting the shortest and most reasonable road through said borough which will connect the two ends of such highway it shall be lawful for the councils of such borough to authorize by ordinance that the proper officials of the borough contract in the manner herein provided with the county commissioners that the shortest and most reasonable route through said borough connecting the two ends of such highway be improved

Or when a county highway terminates at the corporate limits of a borough in the same or another county and connects with a borough street which the borough has failed to properly improve and the county commissioners of the county in which the borough is located deem the improvement of such borough street necessary in order to make such county highway easily accessible to the residents of the borough or to the traveling public it shall be lawful for the councils of such borough to authorize by ordinance that the proper officials of the borough contract with the county commissioners in the manner herein provided that such borough street be improved Whenever an improvement is made to a borough street pursuant to this section it shall be lawful for the county to pay the total cost of such improvement or the cost may be divided between the borough and the county The borough ordinance authorizing the improvement shall stipulate what percentage of the cost if any shall be borne by the borough and what percentage shall be borne by the county The contract for any such improvement may be taken by the county upon the stipulation of the borough to pay its proportionate share of the cost if any upon the completion of the work or it may be taken by the borough upon a like stipulation of the county or the improvement may be made by joint contract

Before any highway is improved under this section the county commissioners and the proper borough officials shall agree upon the maintenance of the highway Such agreement may provide that such highway shall be kept and maintained in good repair by the borough or it may provide that it shall be kept and maintained in good repair by the county and the cost thereof paid by the borough to the county

The proper borough officials shall have the right to issue permits determining the manner in which public service or other corporations or individuals shall place on or under such highway railway tracks pipes conduits telegraph lines or other devices used in the furtherance of business

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—2.

Keegan, McDermott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1683, entitled:

An Act to regulate the taking of samples of foodstuffs by the Dairy and Food Commissioner and any board of health or health officer or agent or employes thereof from any producer or vendor in this Commonwealth for the purpose of analysis or any test thereof to inquire into or determine the purity and quality of the said sample or foodstuff so taken and defining what shall constitute foodstuffs and imposing a penalty for the violation of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to hear this bill explained by the sponsor.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, in my experience as an attorney it has come to my notice that the Board of Health or other inspectors or some agent who is going about the county and city at large, taking samples of foods for chemical analysis to determine into their purity and quality and standard, etc., often goes up to a store or stand or farmer's milk wagon wherein any article of food products are sold and slyly sneaks away a sample and two or three months later a prosecution may be brought and the man who sold this particular stuff may be unaware of this intention and may be out of that kind of product and may not have a sample out of that particular can of milk and he is brought into court entirely unprepared to defend any prosecution, for violation of the Dairy and Food laws. I drew this bill to provide that when any Dairy and Food agent, or Board of Health or any other inspectors should go to the vendor of anything known as food stuff in this Commonwealth and take away a food sample for the purpose of later having it chemically analyzed that at the same time he takes a sample away, he shall hand to the vendor or man from whom he secures it, the same kind of a sample and in the same kind of receptacle and marked the same for identification. Then that gives the vendor or farmer or producer a little notice of what he may expect, and he himself can go out and have his food stuff analyzed and prepare himself if there should be a prosecution. For instance, let me relate a little experience: In my legislative district was a grocer, and one of the inspectors came along one day and said, give me a little lard; and he said, "I haven't any lard, but I have a compound;" and he sold it to him for just what it was, did not misrepresent it; it was branded on the tub, and the analysis was given, and a month later they instituted a prosecution against that grocery man, and in the meantime he had sold out of this particular product and had quit dealing with the firm from whom he bought it, and when he sent on he could not get a sample, such as was taken and used in the prosecution; and you can see the disadvantage the vendors are placed in when suit is brought.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that in some cases the agents or inspectors manufacture evidence and the man is placed at a great disadvantage. This bill is simply drawn and aimed to correct that difficulty. It requires that whosoever shall take a sample that that person shall give to the vendor a similar sample in a similar package, and on failure so to do that sample so taken cannot be introduced in evidence. It also provides for some penalty.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 3 It shall be the duty of every guest and of every one intending to be a guest of any hotel or inn in this State upon delivering to the proprietor of such hotel or inn to his servants any baggage or other articles of property of such guest for safe keeping (elsewhere than to the room assigned to such guest) to demand and of such hotel proprietor or innkeeper to give a check or receipt therefor in such case to evidence the fact of such delivery and no hotel proprietor shall be liable for the loss of or injury to such baggage or other articles of property of this guest unless the same shall have been actually delivered by such guest to such hotel proprietor or innkeeper or to his servants for safe keeping or unless such loss or injury shall have occurred through the negligence of such hotel proprietor or innkeeper or by his servants or employes in such hotel

Section 4 The liability of the keeper of any inn or hotel whether individual partnership or corporation for loss of or injury to personal property placed by his guest under his care other than that described in the preceding sections shall be that of a depository for hire except that in case such loss or injury is caused by fire not intentionally produced by the hotel proprietor or innkeeper or his servants such hotel proprietor or innkeeper shall not be liable Provided however that in no case shall such liability exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars for each trunk and its contents fifty dollars for each valise and its contents and ten dollars for each box bundle or package and contents so placed under his care and all other miscellaneous effects including wearing apparel and personal belongings fifty dollars unless he shall have consented in writing with such guest to assume a greater liability

And provided further whenever any person shall suffer his baggage or property to remain in any inn or hotel after leaving the same as a guest and after the relation of innkeeper and guest between such guest and the proprietors of such inn or hotel has ceased or shall forward the same to such inn or hotel before becoming a guest thereof and the same shall be received into such inn or hotel such innkeeper may at his option hold such baggage or property at the risk of such owner

Section 5 The keeper of any inn or hotel whether individual partnership or corporation shall have a lien on the baggage and other property in and about such inn belonging to or under the control of his guests or boarders for the proper charges due him from such guests or boarders for the accommodation board and lodging and for all money paid for or advanced to them not to exceed the sum of two hundred dollars and for such other extras as are furnished at their request and said innkeeper or hotelkeeper shall have the right to detain such baggage and other property until the amount of such charges is paid and such baggage and other property shall be exempt from attachment or execution until such innkeeper's lien and the cost of satisfying it are satisfied

Section 6 The innkeeper or hotelkeeper shall retain such baggage and other property upon which he has a lien for a period of ninety days at the expiration of which time if such lien is not satisfied he may sell such baggage and other property at public auction after giving ten days' notice of the time and place of sale in a newspaper of circulation in the county where the inn or hotel is situated and also by mailing a copy of such notice adressed to said guest or boarder at the place of residence registered by him in the register of such inn or hotel

Section 7. After satisfying the lien and any costs that may accure any residue remaining shall on demand within six months be paid to such guest or boarder and if not so demanded within six months from date of such sale such residue shall be deposited by such innkeeper or hotelkeeper with the treasurer of the county in which the inn or hotel is situated together with a statement of the innkeeper or hotel proprietors claim and the cost of enforcing the same a copy of the published notice and of the amounts received for the goods sold at said sale said residue shall by said county treasurer be credited to the general revenue fund of said county subject to a right of said guest or boarder or his representative to reclaim at any time within three years of the date of deposit with said treasurer

Section 8 Any person who shall obtain food lodging or other accommodation at any hotel inn boarding or eating house with intent to defraud the owner or keeper thereof shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisond in the county jail not exceeding three months

Section 9 Proof that lodging food or other accommodations were obtained by false pretense or by false or fictitious show or pretense of any baggage or other property or that the person refused or neglected to pay for such food lodging or other accommodation on demand or that he gave in payment for such food lodging or other accommodatin negotiable paper on which payment was refused or that he absconded without paying or offering to pay for such food lodging or other accommodation or that he surreptitiously removed or attempted to remove his baggage shall be prima facie proof of the fraudulent intent mentioned in section eight of this act but this act shall not apply where there has been an agreement in writing for delay in payment for a period to exceed ten days

Section 10 It shall be the duty of every hotel inn or boarding house keeper within this Commonwealth to keep a copy of section eight and of section nine of this act printed in distinct type posted in not less than ten conspicious places in said hotel inn boarding or eating house

Section 11 That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to insert amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Section 1, line 16, strike out "guests" and insert "guest."
Section 2, line 1, strike out "but such" and insert "any."
Section 2, line 7, after "innkeeper" insert "or."
Section 3, line 5, after "than" strike out "to" and insert "in."
Section 7, line 1, strike out "and," Begin "after" with capital "A."
Section 7, line 12, after "reclaim" insert "said residue."
Section 11, line 1, strike out "That." Begin "all" with capital "A."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1023, as follows:

An Act enlarging the powers of mutual savings fund or building and loan associations authorizing them to accumulate a reserve fund to pay contingent losses and validating such funds heretofore accumulated to permit members to secure the repayment of one half of their loans by a straight bond and mortgage for a fixed term and authorizing said associations to so secure loans authorizing said associations to make loans in certain cases upon a stipulated premium and further authorizing them to loan money to other like associations under certain conditions and repealing all laws inconsistent with this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for any mutual savings fund or building and loan association now incorporated or hereafter to be incorporated

(a) To set aside from the net profits a sum not to exceed five per centum thereof each year as a reserve fund for the payment of contingent losses until the total amount of such fund so set aside shall equal five per centum of the assets of such association provided that no association shall reduce the dividend or interest payable on voluntary withdrawal as fixed by the board of directors or its by-laws for that purpose and all such funds heretofore accumulated by any such association from its profits not in excess of five per centum of the assets are hereby confirmed and made valid

Provided however that if at any time the assets of the association shall become reduced in amount and the contingent fund should thereby exceed five per centum of the remaining assets of the association then at the next dividend period the amount in excess of five per centum in said contingent fund shall be transferred to the general profit account of such association

(b) To permit members when loans are granted to secure the repayment thereof if so desired by giving to the association a straight bond and mortgage on real estate for a fixed period for an amount not to exceed one-half of the loan and upon such other terms and conditions as may be agreed upon and for the remainder of the loan which shall be on shares of the association and installment bond and mortgage on real estate in form as now provided by law provided that it shall not be lawful to collect premiums or fines on such straight bond and mortgage

(c) To provide in its by-laws that the loans shall be made first to the members of the association or to persons intending to become members if the loan be secured who shall bid the highest premiums for the preference or priority in procuring loans and it shall be competent and lawful for the borrower from such association to agree in writing upon a given rate of premium not to exceed two per centum per annum upon the amount of the loan in addition to the interest to be paid upon such loan without bidding for preference or priority And no premium contracted for under this section with or without bidding shall be deemed usurious although in excess of the legal rate of interest

Section 2 When there are moneys remaining in the treasury of any mutual savings fund or building and loan association unapplied for by any of its stockholders and not required to pay withdrawals and matured stock and borrowed money if any it shall be lawful for the board of directors to make temporary loan of such moneys to other mutual savings fund or building and loan associations on interest bearing order note or bond Provided that such order note or bond shall not bear a higher rate of interest than the lawful rate provided further that the board of directors of any mutual savings fund or building and loan association shall not loan to any other one mutual saving fund or building and loan association more than ten per centum of its assets and not more than twenty-five per centum of its assets in the aggregate may be so loaned

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 952, file folio No. 5051, on page 15 of to-day's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 952, as follows:

An Act prohibiting the use of night soil on ground whereon vegetables are grown which are eaten uncoked for human food and providing penalties for the violation thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful to use night soil as a fertilizer or otherwise on any ground on which vegetables of a variety or varieties which are eaten uncooked for human food are being grown

Provided however that the term "night soil" for the purposes of this act shall be construed to include only human excrement and the contents of privy wells and that any such night soil which shall have been treated by any process approved by the Commissioner of Health of the State Department of Health to remove its objectionable features shall not be within the prohibition of this act.

Section 2. Any person firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) or more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) for each offense or imprisonment for not more than two months or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 3 This act shall take effect on the first day of September one thousand nine hundred and fourteen

Section 4 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill about which the members have been receiving letters from the Commander of the Navy Yard, and which some of my colleagues so seriously opposed until they had amended it. Now they are all in favor of it.

Session 1913 — 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16, 1913. No. 50.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, April 16, 1913.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

As the heart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth our souls after Thee, Oh God. Yes, our souls thirst after Thee, the living God. So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. Help us to always remember that the golden goal of each day is not man's approval but the Divine approval. Even Thy "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things." Help us this day, then, to be faithful in the work which Thou hast committed unto us. Help us to remember that "No man is born into the world whose work is not born with him." May we then do that work which Thou shalt commit unto us this day. May the record of this day be one of work well done and of service well rendered. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HOMSHER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO ENACT SUCH LEGISLATION AS WILL BE NECESSARY FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SYSTEM OF PAVED PUBLIC HIGHWAYS CONNECTING THE CAPITALS OF THE SEVERAL STATES OF THE UNION WITH THE NATIONAL CAPITAL AND WITH EACH OTHER, AND ALSO WITH THE PRINCIPAL NATIONAL PARKS.

Mr. McNICHOLS, from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways, reported concurrent resolution as follows, which was laid upon the table:

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Requesting Congress to enact such legislation as will be necessary for the construction of a system of paved public highways connecting the Capitals of the several States of the Union with the National Capital and with each other, and also with the principal National Parks,

Whereas, A uniform system of National Public Highways or roads, connecting the Capital of the several States of the Union with the National Capital at Washington, and with each other, and also with the principal National Parks, will vastly promote commerce between the several States, and reduce the cost to transportation thereof; facilitate and cheapen travel and social intercourse between the people; discourage sectionalism, and render the entire people more cosmopolitan, intellectually, morally and politically; aid the farmer in marketing his produce, and make farm life more agreeable, attractive and profitable; induce Americans to see and know America; beautify all parts of the Union; intersify industrial activities; encourage good road building throughout the continent and bring the entire people countless blessings, conveniences and joys known only to a highly developed country, and,

Whereas, To secure uniformity, thoroughness and economy in the construction, fitness and adaptability of grades, and avoidance of such local controversies in the selection of routes as would probably delay, if not defeat the entire enterprise, the cost of such a system of highways being beyond the probable financial resources of the several States, it would be necessary that it would be constructed at the expense and under the supervision of the General Government, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Honorable Congress of the United States is respectfully urged to enact suitable legislation for the location and construction, under the supervision and by the General Government of a system of National Highways or roads, which shall connect the Capital of the several States of the Union with the National Capital at Washington, and with each other, and also, with the principal National Parks; that such National Highways be constructed on firm concrete bases, with hard surfaces, and as nearly dustless as possible; that they be located solely with regard to the greatest public good and feasibility of route and grades, and,

Be It Further Resolved, That Congress is earnestly urged to provide in such legislation means of raising the necessary money for the location and construction of such National Highway by the restoration of the internal revenue tax of one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine on tobacco, or in some other manner, as to it shall seem meet and proper, and that the location and construction of such a stem of highways be commenced as means can be provided, throughout the country generally, without giving priority to any section or locations, and,

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this Memorial be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States; and,

Be It Further Resolved, That copies thereof be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Pennsylvania with the request that they use every effort within their power to bring about a speedy action for the accomplishment of the ends and purposes herein indicated.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the United States Senators and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania be urged to support the work of Biological Survey in every proper and consistent manner.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution just read may be considered at this time.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO ENACT SUCH LEGISLATION AS WILL BE NECESSARY FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF A SYSTEM OF PAVED PUBLIC HIGHWAYS CONNECTING THE CAPITALS OF THE SEVERAL STATES OF THE UNION WITH THE NATIONAL CAPITAL AND WITH EACH OTHER, AND ALSO WITH THE PRINCIPAL NATIONAL PARKS.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended in order to consider the resolution reported from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways at this morning's session.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The resolution was twice read as follows:

It is Further Resolved, That a copy of this Memorial be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States, and,

Be it Further Resolved, That copies thereof be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Pennsylvania with the request that they use every effort within their power to bring about a speedy action for the accomplishment of the ends and purposes herein produced

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. MARTIN. I rise at this time to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Martin, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. President, yesterday, when bills were on third reading, I was called from my desk by one of my constituents. While talking with him and before coming back to my desk again, the roll call had passed my name. I inquired from one of the Senators as to what bill was being voted on, and he replied the "School Bill," which is Senate Bill No. 888. I said I wanted to be recorded as voting for that bill, and I arose after the roll was taken and asked to be recorded as voting "aye." Afterwards I discovered that I had voted "aye" on Senate Bill 772, which was a misapprehension, as I was misinformed and by mistake I voted for a bill I did not want to vote for, thinking I was voting for Senate Bill No. 888.

Ordered. To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 895 House Bill No. 195), on second reading, entitled:

An Act declaring buildings and parts of buildings used for purposes of fornication lewdness assignation and prostitution to be nuisances providing a method of abating same establishing a method of procedure against those who used said buildings or parts for such purposes and providing penalties for violation of this act be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for amendment.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Monroe. Mr. Huffman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, for what purpose is this motion made?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, just as I stated, for amendment. I did not know the substance of this bill until this morning. Although I am in sympathy with the purpose of it, I am certainly not in sympathy with the bill as it is drawn. It has a provision in it, as an illustration, that a decree may be entered by an equity court under peculiar conditions and that decree be entered of record against the property in the Recorder's office as a mortgage is entered and that it shall follow the lands and the heirs and assigns of the owners of the property. I take it that if a decree of that kind were entered against a property that an innocent purchaser would become liable to action, liable to contempt of court. Now I am in favor of the bill if that can be modified so that it can be treated along regular lines.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I do not so understand My interpretation of the measure is a temporary injunction to restrain the present occupant of a building from using it for that purpose and to prevent the owner from renting it to occupants or another tenant for the same purpose and they have a right by trial. I am afraid that my interpretation and understanding of this bill is somewhat different from that of the Senator from Monroe. I really can see no harm in it. It cannot follow the property from tenant to tenant provided of course the property is used for proper purposes. I wish he would withdraw his objections and allow the bill to go over so that the Senator will nave ample opportunity to look into its provisions.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I am willing to do that. I am holding to my position, however, that this bill should be amended. It certainly is a piece of mongrel legislation as it stands now. I do not care if it refers to bawdy houses or to what it refers. I am willing to defend what I think is right on this subject, and I do not think that any Senator can afford to have real estate tied up in the way this bill would tie it up. I wish the Senator would withdraw his objection and allow it go to a committee of lawyers to consider, and I am willing to have it sent back here and will vote for it, and have no objection to the bill at all.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President. I want this bill right. I am very much interested in it and I have no objection at all to its going to the Committee on Judiciary General for the very purpose that the Senator from Monroe mentions, and from the fact that the membership is composed solely of lawyers I know from a legal standpoint it would be right, and I withdraw my objection to the motion of the Senator from Monroe.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion

It was agreed to.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported resolution as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE AND REPORT TO THE NEXT SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE ALL MATTERS PERTAINING TO COLD STORAGE AND THE PRESERVATION OF FOOD PRODUCTS.

A concurrent resolution for the appointment of a Commission to investigate and report to the next session of the Legislature all matters pertaining to cold storage, and the preservation of food products, and the length of time goods shall remain under refrigeration or cold storage, and to the branding and sale of such aticles, and making an appropriation to meet the expenses of the said Commission.

Whereas, There has been and is, considerable agitation regarding cold storage, and the preservation of food products, as well as the length of time that goods shall remain under refrigeration or cold storage, and the proper branding and sale of such articles

And Whereas, It is of the utmost importance that a thorough and complete investigation and study of the whole matter of refrigeration and cold storage should be made at the present time.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, (if the House concur) That a Committee of five members of the General Assembly, three to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and two by the Speaker of the General Assembly to investigate at the earliest possible moment, and to report at the next session of the General Assembly a comprehensive bill covering the following questions:—

1 The necessity of cold storage, and the proper provisions for the protection of perishable products.

2 The value of such products to the producer and the community at the period of the greatest production when the supply exceeds the demand and at all other times

3 The length of time articles should remain under refrigeration or cold storage

4 Whether refrigerator or cold storage products shall be branded, and if so, what shall be determined to be refrigerator products or cold storage products, or both.

5 The effect on the price of commodities by reason of placing them under mechanical refrigeration or cold storage.

6 The relation for cold storage or refrigeration to the high cost of living.

7 The effect of cold storage legislation in other States.

8 The advisability of a uniform cold storage or refrigeration law; provided that the actual expenses incurred by the committee shall not exceed the sum of $10,000, which shall be provided for in the general appropriation bill.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HUNTER, from the Committee on Mines and Mining, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 657, entitled:

An Act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROW, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 220, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the General Braddock Memorial Park Association of Fayette County.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. KURTZ, from the Committee on Mines and Mining, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 803, (House Bill No. 570), entitled:

An Act requiring any individual firm or corporation mining anthracite coal in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car to keep a record of all coal mined at the miners' chutes where said coal is loaded in cars, providing that said record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or refuse that may be loaded in said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining coal providing further that said record shall be open for the inspection of all miners and providing penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of this act.

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN RESOLUTION FIXING TIME OF ADJOURNMENT.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives, informing the Senate that the House of Representatives has non-concurred in resolution as follows:

In the Senate, April 16, 1913.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns to-day it shall reconvene on Monday evening, April twenty-first at nine o'clock.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move to amend the motion that the time of adjournment be changed from ten o'clock tomorrow morning to next Monday night at nine o'clock.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to amend?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania says that neither House of the Legislature may adjourn over three days without the consent of the other House, and I raise the point of order that the amendment is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair decides the point of order not well taken for the reason set forth in the decisions of the House of Representatives on points of order, etc., (page 951, Smull's Legislative Handbook, at the bottom of the page) as follows: " A motion was made that when the House adjourns this Wednesday evening it be to meet on next Monday evening at 9 o'clock. The point of order was submitted that it was unconstitutional for the House to adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the Senate. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken; that an adjournment of the House from Wednesday to the succeeding Monday was not an adjournment for more than three days as provided by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Sunday being a dies non. See Buckalew on the Constitution of Pennsylvania, edition 1883, p. 52, Construction: It has long been held that the three days' limitation in this section (section 14, art. 2) is exclusive of Sundays, and such is the settled construction. Therefore, whether natural or secular days were intended by the authors of the limitation is not now a question of practical importance. West Philadelphia Passengers Ry. Co. vs. Union Passengers Ry. Co., Bancroft vs. Same, 29 Legal Intelligencer, 196; 4 Leg. Gaz. 193 (Journal H. R. 1897, p. 1114).

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, It is not my understanding that the decisions of the House are binding upon the Senate, and there is no decision heretofore made by the Senate of Pennsylvania, or any presiding officer thereof, that adjourning from Wednesday until Monday is not adjourning over three days. I take the position that it is absolutely unconstitutional for us to adjourn without the concurrence of the House. The statement that Sunday is a dies non is not in point, for the reason that it has always been the custom under the Constitution of the United States for the Congress of the United States to sit when the last day of its term comes upon a Sunday to complete its work and Sunday is at least a day. The sun rises and goes through its usual course and sets, and I take the position that in writing the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania the people meant that a day was a day. The people pay interest on their money for Sundays.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, will state his point of order.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, my point of order is that the discussion is not germane inasmuch as the Chair has already disposed of this question.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair decides the point of order well taken.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, will prepare his appeal.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF THE CHAIR.

"The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, appeals from the decision of the Chair 'that an adjournment from Wednesday of one week to the next succeeding Monday is not an adjournment over three days under the Constitution of the Commonwealth.'"

(Signed) A. W. Powell, Seconded Charles E. Mills.

The PRESIDENT. The Secretary will kindly put the question.

The SECRETARY. The question is, shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

On the question,

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I do not want to leave the impression that I am making a foolish or senseless objection here, but this is a constitutional question. I suppose the situation is here that some of the Senators have bills that are on third reading and final passage in the House now. They are read and passed finally and some question comes up and this question goes before the Supreme Court and the record having been made, somebody is liable to lose his legislation. The members of this body are almost all here in the Senate and can meet tomorrow and adjourn, and I am only raising objection for the purpose of protecting somebody's legislation. Personally I have nothing in which I am interested. It seems to me that we ought to do the sensible and conservative thing and not get mad because the House of Representatives refuses to let us adjourn, rather take the chance of unconstitutional legislation.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, in the decision which was cited by the Chair upon this point of order there are expressly stated two decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania upon which the Speaker of the House of Representatives then relied, and surely, Mr. President, if the Supreme Court has decided in two cases which are cited in the decision which has just been rendered by you, there certainly cannot be any question in the opinion of this Senate, any honest opinion, on the question whether Sunday is a dies non. That has been decided by the highest court of the State and not having been questioned or overruled. There is no question of the constitutional provision that we cannot adjourn for any period longer than three days. We have the right, by the decision of the Speaker of the House in the session of 1897, to adjourn from this morning until Monday evening at nine o'clock.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I do not see that this question is anything more than a game of politics. My position here is that we having done all our work that is on the Calendar—I have reference to bills on second and third reading—there is nothing further for us to do. I have been in my seat every day, and I think nearly every other Senator has been, and it does not seem to me to be dignified to have the Senate of Pennsylvania sit in our seats here another twenty-four hours for the purpose of gratifying the wishes of an uproarious and unruly House. There has been no reason alleged here for keeping us in our seats. All of us have worked on Committees attending hearings and have been here taking care of the business of the State and our respective constituents. Laying aside all political questions, I want it distinctly understood that if there is anything to be done I am willing to stay here, but there not being anything I am against it, and I think the Constitutional question that has been decided here by the President is correct, because the Supreme Court has said it and of course would sustain it again and nobody's legislation is in harm or endangered.

And the question recurring,

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

By a viva voce vote it was agreed to and the appeal was not sustained.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to amend?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, in behalf of the amendment to the motion, I desire to say that no act of discourtesy of the Senate toward the House is intended. It was rumored on the floor of the Senate before the introduction of the resolution this morning that the House would not concur in the resolution to adjourn. The propriety or impropriety of submitting a resolution to the House was discussed and it was the unanimous opinion of those in conference that the Senate should not establish the precedent of extending any act of discourtesy to the House, and for that reason, with the knowledge that in all probability it would not be concurred in, the resolution was sent across. It was the position of those who discussed it that there was no ill feeling in the Senate of Pennsylvania toward the House of Representatives. The feeling is cordial, always has been cordial, and it is the desire of the members of the Senate that that relationship remain. The amendment to this motion was not offered at this time as any act of discourtesy on our part toward the House. We want the cordial relations to remain even after this amendment is adopted. There is no question about the Senate having the right to adjourn until next Monday evening at 9 o'clock. That question has already been decided. There is no necessity for the Senate remaining in session longer than three days a week as the Calendar now stands. It will be discovered that practically all of the bills on the Senate Calendar at this time are House Bills. There is no necessity from the standpoint of an overburdened calendar for the Senate to remain here and I sincerely hope the amendment to the motion will prevail.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I have always stood in the unique position here of not belonging to any political party in the Senate, and I certainly have no desire to shirk my public duty as the representative of my district, but it is quite evident to anybody who knows anything about the Legislature of Pennsylvania, that it is possible for the Senate to finish its work a day or a day and a half before the House, and that being so there is no reason why we should neglect our own duties to be here for a mere form, and therefore I do not see why the Senate should refuse to accede to this amendment, simply because the House is a little sensitive over something the Senate might have done. In the four years I have been in the Senate the House has always gotten a little offended at the Senate, sometimes one week, sometimes another, but after the session is over every little irritation that may be there is dissipated, and next time we come back just as cordial as ever, and I think it proper that we should take care of things at home so long as our business at Harrisburg does not suffer by reason of our absence, and as long as our Calendar does not require us, by all means let us adopt this amendment.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, the Senators seem to fail to realize that we passed this morning a great number of bills on second reading, which, if we stay until to-morrow will be on third reading, and we shall have the same sized Calendar we had this morning.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to amend?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion as amended?

It was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Senate adjourned at 1:22 o'clock P. M. until Monday evening, April 21, at 9 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, April, 16th, 1913.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.
The Speaker (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we pray for the great populous cities of our Commonwealth; those centers of large influence, with their splendid possibilities; with heir wealth of young, aggressive, virile life, reaching out upon every side of them and touchng for good or for evil the regions adjacent to them, where the forces of good stand forever face to face with the forces of evil; where law and order and virtue and temperance must forever contend with lawlessness, criminality, debauchery and vice.

We pray that Thou wouldst strengthen the hands of those who are earnestly trying to uplift and purify the cities raise up an increasing army of heroic souls who shall stand by them and fight with them. Give them wisdom and courage and persistent energy, and if there be any legislation submitted to us here which may help in those great interests, let us give thoughtful and serious consideration to them and utter our decisions in conformity with the truth.

We ask this in the name of Him who has taugh us to say: Our Father Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; for Thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory, forever, Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. Barner, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. SNYDER, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, House Bill No. 321, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to reimburse Mrs. Rose S. Zacharias for money erroneously paid into the State Treasury for purchase money of vacant land.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. GEISER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Goss, for the balance of the week on account of sickness.

Mr. MATHER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Stone for this morning's session.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. COCHRAN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the introduction of a joint resolution, the title of which was first read for the information of the House.

BILL RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR.

Mr. EHRHARDT offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the House of Representatives, April 16, 1913.

Resolved (if the Senate concur)That House Bill number seven hundred ninety-four, entitled "An Act making it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use the word Consul or Consulate or the coat of arms of a foreign country for advertising purposes and providing a penalty therefor," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION NO. 38.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, I call up resolution No. 38, file folio 6005, for the Investigation of telephone rates.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Whereas There has been universal complaint about the high telephone rates in all parts of the Commonwealth and

Whereas This condition has been exposed by the report of the State Railroad Commission wherein reduced rates and new schedules were suggested

Therefore be it resolved that the State Railroad Commission be instructed to confer with the telephone companies and bring about reduced rates along the lines recommended in their respective schedules and report to the House of Representatives within fifteen days

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented the following communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows, viz:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 85.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 85, entitled:

"An Act to repeal the second section of an act approved the first day of April one thousand seven hundred ninety-seven entitled 'An Act to regulate the manner of selling loaf-bread and to repeal certain existing laws respecting the same'"

The act of Assembly sought to be repealed has been in force for more than a century. I am not advised that it has worked any hardship, nor am I advised of any good reoson for its repeal at this time.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire just a moment of the House's attention in relation to this veto. It would seem from the veto and the reasons given therefore, that not only wine, but all things improve with age. This bill, as stated in the veto, has been upon the statute books for more than 100 years—116 years—and at the time the bill was before this House for passage I called the attention of the House to the provisions of the bill which was a repealer for this law which stands upon the statute books.

"All loaf bread made for sale within this Commonwealth shall be sold by the pound avoirdepois; and every baker or other person offering the same for sale, shall keep at his or her house, or at such other place at which he or she shall at any time offer or expose for sale any such bread, sufficient scales and weights lawfully regulated for the purpose of weighing the same; and if any baker or other person shall sell or offer for sale any loaf bread in any other manner, the contract respecting the same shall be void; and the person offending against this act shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every such offense, one half to the use of the informer, and the other half to the use of this Commonwealth; and it shall be the special duty of the clerk of the market, in any place where such officer is appointed, to discover and prosecute all persons offending against this act." Mr. Speaker, I submit as a matter of fact that this law has been on the statute books since that time, but I feel that the Executive has been illy advised in relation to the hardships which have been imposed on account of this act. I call your attention to a case cited in the Weekly Notes on Cases, No. 3, a case which was passed upon in 1876, in which a man by the name of Johnston had been working for a man by the name of Kolb and Johnston bought a loaf of bread from Kolb which he sold at six cents a loaf. Kolb was to furnish Johnston the bread at five cents a loaf. Johnston established a route for bread and had been working but about one month when Kolb, seing that the route had been established, concluded that he would take over the route, and did take the same away from Johnston. Johnston thereupon instituted a suit of law against Kolb to recover for his earnings and also on a breach of contract. The Court in that case held that Johnston had no action because of the fact that the contract was null and void for the reason that he had made a contract to buy the bread and sell the bread by the loaf instead of selling it at so much per pound. Then a motion was made to take off the non-suit which had been granted in the case, but that motion was overruled. This is but one of the cases which has fallen under this act and that act still stands to-day, and the courts now hold that if any wholesale baker were to sell and continue to sell for weeks and months bread in large quantities to any retailer, selling it to him by the loaf, and not by weight, that that contract is absolutely null and void. If I were to go to a retailer and that retailer were to sell me a loaf of bread for five or ten cents, and he sells it to me in any other manner than by weight, I can make a charge against him under this law, and all the court can do is to fine him ten dollars, and I take one-half of the ten dollars and the State takes the other half. The only reason that I take up this time at this moment in making the explanation of this matter is that I do not want any veto to be read before this House, and appear upon any bill which I may have had introduced and passed in this House without attempting to show that the bill did have some merit. I do not expect this House to overrule the veto of the Governor, but I do expect myself to go on record as against the veto which has been entered against this bill because I feel that the Governor has been illy advised in relation to this law.

The question recurring,

Also, VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 168.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 168, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act approved the fourteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, entitled: 'An Act relative to the organization of the courts of justice.'"

The provisions of this act are so broad in their application to all the courts throughout the Commonwealth, with respect to the appointment of criers and tipstaves and to the compensation to be paid them that, if enacted, there would be danger that it would repeal, by necessary implication, the provisions of laws enacted since the act of 1834, regulating the compensation to be made to tipstaves, according to legislative classifications, based upon the population of the several counties—a result which, though perhaps not intended, would doubtless be the effect of this bill if approved.

A bill confined to the appointment of additional criers necessary for the proper transaction of the business of the courts, (which was apparently the purpose intended to be accomplished), so as not to repeal the intervening legislation referred to, would receive my approval.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Also, VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 271.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 271, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to amend the first section of an act entitled 'An Act increasing the salaries of tipstaves in the courts of any county in this Commonwealth having a population of not less than five hundred thousand,' approved the thirtieth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, by changing the limit of population of such counties and increasing the minimum and maximum limits of said salaries," approved the first day of June, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven, by further changing the limit of population of such counties."

I know of no good reason requiring the increased compensation authorized under the provisions of this bill. I therefore withhold my approval from it.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Also, VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 189.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 189, entitled: "An Act to repeal section ten of an act passed the fifth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, entitled: 'An Act to vacate Long Lane in the County of Philadelphia, in relation to promissory notes and counterfeit endorsements and for other purposes.'"

The tenth section of the Act of 1849, sought to be repealed, was intended to remedy the hardships suffered by banking institutions, owing to the stringent requirements of the common law. Under this Act of 1849, when fraud has been practiced upon a banking institution, the bank is given the right to recover from the forger or from a person to whom it may have paid a check bearing the forged signature of one of its depositors or a forged endorsement.

The proposed repeal of the Act would therefore mean a return to the ancient policy of the common law and the hardships it was intended to remedy, in the face of the fact that such hardships would be multiplied many hundred fold, owing to the enormous increase in the volume of commercial transactions of to-day.

The well-considered Negotiable Instrument Act of 1901 did not repeal the Act of 1849. There does not seem to me to be any good and sufficient reason why such a repealing bill should now be passed, and I accordingly veto the same.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. FAHEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1208, file folio 4037, entitled:

An Act relative to the sale or pledge in bulk of the whole or a large part of a stock of merchandise and fixtures or merchandise or fixtures not in the ordinary course of business providing certain requirements therefor imposing certain duties upon the seller and the buyer upon the seller or pledgor and the buyer or pledgee making their violation a misdemeanor and providing penalties therefor failed on final passage on April 9th, be reconsidered.

Mr. C. A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the motion to reconsider.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 47 gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and 61 in the negative,

The motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1590, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize cities of the first class to levy and fix a tax rate to fix the time of opening and closing the tax duplicates to regulate the appropriations and expenditures of said cities and prescribing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act" approved the eleventh lay of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill that was prepared by the Advisory Committee under Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia. The Mayor of Philadelphia has requested this House to pass it.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 695, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the State Highway Department to cover a deficiency in the automobile division

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to hear from the sponsor of this bill as to what the object of the bill is.

Mr. NEEL. Mr. Speaker, this bill is to provide for the deficiency in the Highway Department—in the Automobile Division. The appropriation that was made two years ago was not enough to carry on the work of the department for two years by $35,000.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1447, entitled:

A further supplement to an act entitled "An Act establishing the office of State Fire Marshal defining his powers and duties providing for his compensation and the maintenance of his office giving courts the power to punish witnesses for contempt of his authority and to review his orders and making it the duty of officers of public instruction and persons in charge of public or private schools to instruct children as to the dangers of fire and the prevention of fire waste" approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven to provide revenue for the enforcement of the act to which this is a supplement by imposing a tax upon the premiums of all fire insurance companies and associations doing business in this Commonwealth."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill placing a tax of one-fourth of one per cent. on insurance companies, to be used for the purpose of paying the expenses of the Fire Marshal's Department. As it affects mutual companies, there has been such great opposition to it, that I thought I would not at this time insist on this bill being passed.

BILL STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I therefore move, that this bill be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1446, entitled:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act establishing the office of State Fire Marshal defining his powers and duties providing for his compensation and the maintenance of his office giving courts the power to punish witnesses for contempt of his authority and to review his orders and making it the duty of officers of public instruction and persons in charge of public or private schools to instruct children as to the dangers of fire and the prevention of fire waste" approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven making it the duty of every fire insurance company or association doing business in this State to give certain notices and make certain reports to the State Fire Marshal with relation to fire losses on property in Pennsylvania and of any rating bureau to furnish information to said State Fire Marshal and providing penalty for the violation of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill simply provides that fire losses shall be reported to the State Fire Marshal's Department. It is simply a bill in keeping with the following bill which has been proposed at this time, and which I ask you to support, in order to make the State Fire Marshal's Department a real beneficial institution, so far as the interests of the State are concerned.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Allen,	Henninger,	McDermott,	Snyder,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The SPEAKER. The hour of eleven o'clock having arrived the House will resume consideration of House Bill No. 741, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of optometry in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for the establishment of a State board of optometric examiners to define the powers and duties of said board of optometric examiners to provide for the examining and licensing of optometrists in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act the question being

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, when the House adjourned last evening, I was endeavoring to obtain recognition by the Speaker for the purpose of making a reply to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny, the Sponsor of what is known as the Optometry Bill.

Now Mr. Speaker while I do not propose to go into the demerits of this bill at very great length, I wish to voice my opposition to its enactment into law.

Of all the delicate and important organs of the human body, the eye is considered the most important and to become an eye specialist skilled in the diagnosis and treatment of its disease, long years of study and practice are necessary. A real qualified eye specialist should have been an experienced general practioner before taking up this important specialty so that he might be able to appreciate the results of diseases of other organs as affecting vision in a reflex way which is well known to frequently occur.

Section eight of this bill provides:

Any person who is engaged in the practice of optometry in this State at the time of the approval of the act may deliver to the secretary of the board of optometric examiners on or before the first Monday of January one thousand nine hundred fourteen a written application for a certificate to practice optometry together with satisfactory proof that the applicant is not less than twenty-one years of age is of good moral character and that he or she has been engaged in the practice of optometry in this State for more than two years next prior to the passage of this act and upon the payment by the applicant of a fee of five dollars the secretary of the said board of optometric examiners shall issue to such applicant a certificate of exemption from such examination which certificate shall be registered and entitled and authorize such applicant to practice optometry in this State and which certificate of exemption shall be subscribed by every member of the Board of Optometric Examiners

It will be noticed that if this bill is enacted into law it will permit any person over twenty-one years of age who has been peddling "Specs" up and down the highways and byways, lanes and alleys of this State for more than two years, upon the payment of $5 to the Secretary of the Board of Optometry Examiners to receive a Certificate of Exemption from examination which will authorize him to practice Optometry in this State and is permitted to practice, he will be authorized to append the letters D. O. meaning—Doctor of Optometry to the end of his name and another swarm of doctors manufactured by the quick process, or while you wait and being of the commercial varisty. They will soon be advertised as D. O. in every neighborhood in the Commonwealth. If I remember correctly, the gentleman from Allegheny intimated in his remarks that if he were in need of the services of an eye specilist, he would consult one of established reputation and ability and I agree with the gentleman that he would be wise in doing so and the humblest individual in the land would be equally wise in doing the same thing. All occulists, I mean real eye specialists, write prescriptions for opticians or would be optometrists or Doctors of Optometry to fill and this is as it should be a practitioner of medicine sends his prescriptions to a druggist, a surgeon requiring apparatus for the correction of a deformity, sends his patient to the maker of such apparatus.

These mechanical trades are not professions, they are occupations affiliated with the medical profession and in accordance with the eternal fitness of things they occupy the exact status with relation to the medical profession they should occupy and I hope this House will not disturb this relation by giving this bill a majority vote. In this connection, Mr. Speaker, I desire to read for the further edification of the Members of this House a couple of communications from Medical Societies of Standing in this State which speak for themselves.

The first is under date of April 1st, 1913, addressed to a member of this House.

Dear Sir:—At a special meeting of the Allegheny County Medical Society, the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That the Allegheny County Medical Society, made up of eight hundred and fifty-five legally qualified and registered physicians, hereby protests against the passage of House Bill 741, which has for its purpose the legalizing of opticians so as to give them the power to do what properly belongs to the ophthalmologists and is a well recognized part of the practice of medicine. We feel that the passage of this bill would be unwise legislation and would not properly safeguard the people of this great Commonwealth. It is a well-known fact that the work these men propose to do without the use of drugs, cannot be done thoroughly, accurately and scientifically without the use of drugs, and especially so in children, whom it is the duty of the State to safeguard above all others,, for they are not possessed with mature minds to cry out against any mistakes which may be thrust upon them and who are not able to describe their symptoms accurately or intelligently. We, therefore, feel that the passage of this bill would put the stamp of approval and the seal of this great State upon work which at best, under the proposed act, could only be done in a haphazzard fashion and that it would result only in harm to the people of this Commonwealth.

We would respectfully call your attention to this Bill, and request your aid in defeating it. Respectfully yours,

JOHN W. BOYCE, President.
S. A. CHALFONT, Recording Secretary.

Further, a communication forwarded by the Commission for the Conservation of Vision of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, as follows:

To the Members of the State Legislature:

We respectfully call your attention to the following facts in reference to House Bill No. 741, introduced by Honorable G. W. Allen, which relates to what is termed "Optometry."

Governor Deneen, of Illinois, in his veto of the Optometry bill, said: "A doctor who treats the eye is called an oculist as distinguished from a person, uneducated in medicine, who may learn to use a set of trial lenses in a few weeks and call himself an Optemetrist."

In his veto of the Optometry bill in Ohio, Governor Harmon said: "One who is not skilled in optical surgery and medicine surely cannot be safely trusted to tell whether these are not required instead of the mechanical treatment (testing for glasses) he is able to give, and the time lost in discovering the need of these will often make resort to them useless."

"* * * * * by giving the authority of the State to many who lack the proper education and training, as this bill would, in my judgment, do, the public would be misled as to their qualifications."

"Many of them (schools of Optometry) are mere correspondence schools."

Governor O'Neal, in his veto of the Alabama Optometry bill, said: "While Optometrists propose to deal only with the optics of the eye, to draw the line that separates the optics of the organ from its diseases must require a thorough knowledge of everything that appertains to the eye; that is, of its optics, anatomy, physiology and its diseases."

"In vetoing this bill I am not depriving opticians or persons dealing in glasses of any right that legitimately belongs to them."

As members of the Commission on the Conservation of Vision we believe that in certain cases the use of drugs is necessary to accurately determine the proper glass. That the assertions of the Optometrists that certain famous oculists approve of Optometry is wholly unwarranted, and at the time at which they wrote some of these oculists, now dead, had probably never heard of "Optometry," while the statements of others have been rendered possible of being misconstrued because they have not been fully quoted.

Finally, as representing some ten thousand physicians in Pennsylvania, we respectfully request your aid in opposing a measure, by means of which the moral and legal support of this great State is to be granted to a certain class of practitioners, giving them an authority, prestige and privilege not warranted by their insufficient preparation and training."

By opposing this bill we believe you will be protecting the interests of your constituents and the citizens of this State.

This communication is signed by the leading occulists of the City of Philadelphia and in the State, among them the following:

S. D. Dixon, M. D., Honorary Chairman.
W. C. Posey, M. D., Wills Eye Hospital, Chairman.
C. P. Franklin, M. D., Philadelphia.
Wendell Reber, M. D., Temple University.
T. B. Holloway, M. D., University Hospital, Secretary.

Frank Miles Day.
A. C. Dinkey.
Theo. N. Ely.
L. C. Madeira.
I. P. Pardee.
Col. J. M. Schoonmaker.
Benj. G. Wells.

I also want to read you some of the reasons why the physicians of the State of Pennsylvania oppose this bill, which are as follows:

"This bill grants to opticians (optometrists) the right to adjust lenses to people's eyes in need thereof, and denies them the right to use drugs. Without the use of drugs, in certain cases, even the most competent physicians cannot properly adjust lenses to eyes, especially in children, and great harm can be produced by attempting such practice without the use of drugs.

"This bill is an invasion of the Sphere of Medicine in one of its most important branches, and confers privileges on certain people, which, in accordance with the wording of the Act, they are utterly incompetent to exercise

"The knowledge of optics alone, however extensive, does not render a person competent to do the work this bill would give opticians the right to do.

"The many diseased conditions of the body which may influence the eyes and vision are not considered at all.

"The ability to make a diagnosis is necessary to enable one to discriminate between visual defects due to diseases and those due solely to optical errors, both of which often exist at the same time and this ability requires more than a knowledge of optics.

"It is a most vicious type of special legislation in that it permits an examining board of opticians to discriminate between opticians who apply for certificates of exemption.

"The recommendation of this board is necessary before these certificates can be granted and this board can limit its recommendation to a chosen few, forming an optical trust.

Gentlemen I think I have made it as plain as possible why this bill should not become a law and I hope that it will be defeated and defeated finally. There is no reason why Pennsylvania, the home of medicine in America, where the science first took his origin, should approve of a measure of this kind, because some other State does so.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the arguments brought forth by the gentleman from Allegheny in his speech last night, I would like to prove to the members of this House that this is not only a vicious bill, but also a deceiving bill, deceiving in so far as States that it wishes to protect the public from the traveling salesmen of glasses and vicious in spite of the fact that they say they wish to protect the public in that they wish to take that money away for the traveling peddler and put it in their own pockets.

Now, before we go further, let us understand the meaning of some of these terms that have been put forward in this bill, First, an oculist is a man who has had a preliminary training in the fundamental principles of the science, has spent four years in a medical college and then taken a post graduate course of probably a year or more, and the man who is a specialist in eye diseases is an oculist and physician. An optician is a man who has not studied any fundamental diseases of the eye, has not gone to a medical college and not a graduate and therefore has had no post graduate work. That man is an optician. Now opticians are divided into two classes. First, we have the manufacturing optician. This is a man who manufacturers lenses and mountings and he sells them to the retail optician. The retail optician is divided into two classes. First we have a dispensing optician. This is the man who mounts lenses and fills the prescriptions of oculists. Then we have the refracting optician. This is the man who besides grinding lenses and mounting them and filling the prescriptions of doctors, that man also measures eyes. No last of all is the optometrist, who is merely the tester of eyes. In their definitions in this bill you will read where they say that optometry is "defined to be the employment of any means other than the use of drugs for the measurement of the powers of vision and the adaptation of lenses for the correction and aid thereof." Note, that this is without the use of drops. Now we claim that there is no man that can measure or test the eyes adequately without the use of drops. Why here is a lot of men coming to you to-day and asking you to vote for a bill, an optometry bill, who do not know any more about the inward working of eyes about the retinae, about the crystaline lenses, about diseases of the eyes, than what you do. All that these men know how to refract lenses and to fit for glasses. That is all they know; and how these men are going to give an examination to men to pass an examination which they think is something adequate for the protection of the general public is something I do not know.

They tell us to vote for this bill in order that they may have the right to examine the eyes. How can they make an examination of the eye when they do not know anything about the eye or the inner workings of the eye, and would not know a cataract from a glaucoma. There is no man here who can stand up and tell me that he can examine eyes without the use of drops. They tell us that the use of drops is a serious matter, but I tell you gentleman that it is not a serious matter, between childhood and the age of forty to use drops in order to be adequately informed as to what you have when you do make an examination of the eyes. One disease that we find from examination of the eye is the chocked disk that you find from the start of Bright's Disease, and that can be found from an examination of the eye. In the examination of the eye, a man who is a physician is better able to detect that condition, so far as the examination of the eye is concerned, than these optometrists. They will tell you that the reason they want this bill to pass is because they wish to stop those traveling vendors from selling glasses and faking the public. There is no set of men who can stop them. If they wish to go around to the different houses and the people allow them to do it, and the authorities allow them, there is no set of men who can stop these fakirs. There might be a law to get some of them, but you cannot stop them all. The idea of this bill is this; the members of that profession or business want to have their profession recognized, and the moment that they do have recognition, they will be able to advertise in the newspapers and in the journals and call themselves doctors of Optometry, and the moment they put that word "Doctor" before their names, they begin to fake the public, because they are not doctors. Instead of being oculists, they will call themselves doctors of Optometry, and will advertise, "I cure without the use of drugs. The moment they do that, they are commencing to fake, just as they are faking in their bill, and I want to read you a part of the bill. On Page 5001 it reads like this:

> And whenever practicing said profession of optometry outside of or away from his or her principal office or place of business he or she shall deliver to each customer or person so fitted with glasses a bill of purchase which shall obtain his or her signature home post office address and the number of his or her certificate of registration or exemption together with a specification of the lenses furnished and the price charged therefor and any person who shall practice or attempt to practice optometry as defined by this act or who shall use any of the terms or letters optometrist optometry doctor doctor of optometry diplomat in optometry or Opt. D. or any other title or letters under such circumstances as to induce belief that the person who uses such terms is engaged in the practice of optometry without having first obtained the certificate herein provided for.

If you have a matter of law that you wish to have put through this House, would you have it put through by a doctor or by a lawyer, I ask you that first? In this instance we have a lot of men instead of coming to the physicians for a confirmation of the bill, they employ a lawyer to do this work. Why do they do this? There are nine or ten doctors in this House and one oculist. It does not mean a cent to me one way or the other whether this bill passes or not. I do not treat eyes. If I find a diseased condition of the eye I send the case to the oculist. If there is some error in refraction, I send it to the optician. If these gentlemen are sincere why do they not go to the State Board of Licensure. This Board will meet them more than half-way in an effort to draw up some law to protect the public. There is no man but knows that we have in this State a Board which is second to none in the United States, and I will not take off my hat to any one from any State who says his Board is as good, or equal to ours. We have on that Board seven good, honorable, upright men. I only want to close by saying this, that if you pass this bill and it goes to the Senate and is OKed by the Governor, you have placed these men upon pinnacle to examine other men. You are going to allow these men to examine the eyes when they know nothing about the eyes, being simply testers of eyes. I ask every man in this House to vote this bill down, because it is a most vicious and deceiving bill, no matter what any person says to the contrary.

Mr. CHEESMAN. Mr. Speaker, I shall not take much of you time in what I have to say on this bill but I want to make plain to you some things that seem to be mistifying. In the first place, I want to say, there is no law to-day that protects the public against fakers in Optometry. Any man can go out and advertise himself as a specialist in fitting glasses to the eyes, and there is no law to hinder him, no law to protect the public against him. We propose by this law to measure out some protection to the public. Can we make things any worse than they are by the passage of this law. If it is not a complete law, affording complete and absolute protection, it is better than none, and it will regulate to some extent the nefarious practice of those who are utterly incompetent to treat the eyes in any shape at all. This bill is in force, or a similar law, in thirty States of this Union. Can it be such avicious law if it is enforced in thirty States in the Union. There is nothing vicious in it. Where does the opposition to this bill come from? We find a large part of the opposition in the medical profession, but not all doctors are opposed to this law. I have had a letter from one doctor in Butler county asking me to vote against this bill. Not all of them, but some, and many of them and physicians in this House, have admitted to me that there are merits in this bill. The medical profession asks that they alone be allowed to exercise this right. Now let me call your attention to this. The medical schools do not provide any regular course of medicine for a special course for the treatment of the eye. If a physician is to practice as an oculist, he must take a special course. Now if this is the case, why is it that none of the doctors should practice it? That contention will not stand. As to the use of drops, I want to say this, as the speaker before me, the gentleman from Allegheny, has said that eyes cannot be fitted except by the use of drops, correctly. Personal illusions are not to my taste, but here I ask your indulgence. I had my eyes treated by different doctors, I had my eyes treated by a doctor who used drops, and for ten years I failed to get a satisfactory adjustment of the lenses for my eyes. I went to an Optometrist and the first and only test I had gave me a complete and perfectly satisfactory adjustment, and the use of drops did not do it. My experience has been duplicated by others which I know of personally. Then again the optometrist does not charge the exorbitant prices. A member came to me a few minutes ago and said that he had paid an oculist twenty-five dollars for fitting glasses to his eye, and that he got a good fit. I paid five dollars and received perfect satisfaction, and gentleman that is the reason why the medical profession are opposing this bill, if you sift it down. They it will bestow upon the one receiving the certificate, the title of doctor. Why are they so jealous about the use of the title? This bill provides for some preparation, that the applicant must have been for two years in the office of some practicing optician, or in some school of Optometry. It gives him some title, and if he has the title of doctor, what is wrong about it. He can go out to-day and hang up his shingle and call himself a doctor without any certificate at all. I can see no reason now why any man should vote against this bill, and I hope it will receive the support of all the members of this House.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. FAHEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the gentleman from Dauphin is attempting to do something here that he does not appreciate his action. The bill has been discussed at some length, was discussed yesterday at some length, if you please Mr. Speaker, and was put over until this time for further consideration. It was presumed at that time that the bill would be thoroughly discussed pro and con. I challenged debate on the matter yesterday in opening upon this bill. The challenge has been accepted up to this time. I saw at the time the gentleman from Butler was recognized by the Chair some two or three gentlemen who seemed to be anxious to be heard on the matter. It being my privilege to open the discussion, I felt that these gentlemen would have the privilege of taking their turn and being alowed to talk on the merits of the bill. The motion to strike from the Calendar will not clarify matters, Mr. Speaker, because that will require a yea and nay vote, or it could be demanded just the same as on a bill.

It will not advance matters in the least, if the bill itself were to be defeated on final passage, and if the bill were to be stricken from the calendar by a roll call it would take the same length of time to call the roll, as it would upon final passage. If the House stood and refused to strike the bill from the calendar then in that event there would be two roll calls. Now, why this action? I hope, Mr. Speaker, in order that this question may be thoroughly thrashed out, in order that proper courtesy may be shown to the members of this House who have some interest in the passage of this bill, the same courtesy that has been accorded to other members of this House in relation to their bills, I ask that this motion be voted down at this time, and if there be further discussion in this matter, then that it be allowed to proceed.

Mr. DICKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion to strike the bill from the Calendar.

Mr. RUNK. Mr. Speaker, I am going to give you specific charges against optometry, right in Harrisburg. There are cases right here that are sufficient grounds for opposing this bill. If I will be given the attention of the House ,I can present to you in three or four minutes all that I wish to say.

Mr. Speaker, Dr. Steele has given us a comprehensive definition of the Oculist, the Optician and the Optometrist. I shall refer only only to the Optometrist. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Here are a few references which can be easily proven:

Inquiries among a number of eye specilists, revealed fifty cases of blindness, resulting from Glaucoma, or what is known as hardening of the eye balls, which was not recognized by the Optometrists, who placed glasses on these patients, all of whom were told to that if they would wear the glasses for awhile their sight would return. Had these patients been properly treated they would not now be blind. These are the Optometrists whom it is proposed to in this bill to license and thereby give a false standing in the eyes of the public. Does this look as though the Optometrists refers all cases of diseased eyes to the physician?

The Optometrists claim that they give cheap service to those who cannot afford to pay an occulist his fee. The occulist of this State give more than half of their time without compensation to examination and prescribing for the poor and those who are in moderate circumstances. One specialist whose office I visited last week, treated forty-five patients in one day. Twenty-one of these patients paid him a fee for services. The other twenty-four received treatment free, and those who needed glasses received them at a price, averaging $3.00. Does this look like prohibitive prices on the part of physician specialists?

Into an eye specialist's office in Harrisburg some time ago, came a young man with twelve pair of glasses, one pair from each of twelve Optometrists he had visited for treatment. Examination revealed the fact that he had a disease of the eyes which was cured by the proper treatment and he needs no glasses and never did. Do we propose to license these twelve Optometrists without an examination and thus aid them in further deceiving the public?

You have no doubt all noticed the tall blind man selling chewing gum opposite the Court House on Market street in this City. He had his right eye removed seventeen years ago and has worn a glass eye ever since. The nerve of the left eye has been absolutely dead for four years. At various times, each of three Optometrists, without an examination, approached this man and offered to give him his sight in the left eye for sums varying from fifty to two hundred dollars, and one man offered to give him sight in the right eye for $300.00, notwithstanding this poor man had a glass eye.

A gentleman, who operates one of the machines, setting the type by which these vast numbers of bills before us are printed, lost two and one-half years trying to regain his eyesight, which had been gradually failing. Before he went to a specialist when his disease was discovered. He was nearly blind and talked of jumping into the river. His disease was in his small bowels, and when corrected his eyesight cleared up and he has not lost time in five years. He needed no glasses, although Optometrists had given him glasses for two and one-half years.

Last and not least is the case of a Harrisburg High School girl. I have photos of her eyes, before and after an operation by a specialist. Seven pair of glasses had been furnished her by Optometrists until her vision disappeared entirely. The eye specialist performed an operation on her brain which brought back full vision in one eye and half vision in the other. She needed no glasses, is now married and is the mother of a healthy boy.

These men who have made these disastrous blunders are the men whom you propose in this bill to license without examination and thereby legislate an aducation into their offices artificially bringing them in the eyes of the public on a plane equal to the eye-specialist, who has spent seven years or more in college and many more in post-graduate work. You will put them in position to make many fold more blunders.

The sponsor of this bill has said that the optometrist of the future according to this bill will have to be educated. What? He must have two years high school and then spend a certain time in the office of one of the men who make these awful bunders. Is the pupil likely to be superior to his teacher?

I know there are people who cannot afford to pay high prices to an expensive occulist but a great many occulists will treat free where people cannot afford to pay the prices. Take the institutions in Philadelphia; I can point you to one after another, among them the Medico-Chi College, and I don't know how many hundreds of cases are treated there every year for nothing, and these institutions receive appropriations for that purpose from the State. If these optometrists can be licensed through the passage of this bill, they will put the name "Doctor" on their windows and they will go on faking the public. I am opposed to giving these men a license and I have made specific charges why a license should not be granted. The only stock in trade an optometrist has is his glasses, and that is all he knows and he does not pretend to know anything else. He will drive people into blindness and I wish everybody could see these pnotographs.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, just one word. Yesterday, when the discussion was open, I tried to carry the House through the bill pointing out the various provisions in this bill challenging the gentlemen who had opposed it on the floor of the House to indicate in any section or in portion of the bill where any great danger lay. This morning I have listened with some considerable interest to all that has been said and to the action that has been taken and to the open charges of fraud and deceit and all that based upon I know not what. Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Mountour.

The Speaker. Will the gentleman from Mountour, Mr. Newbaker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not he be an M. D?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir, I am.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he now makes the eye a specialty?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether or not he relies on his own examination in reference to the eye?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, I do so far as diseases are concerned which can be treated by a general practitioner, but when I find anything which I don't understand as a specialist, I recommend my patients to an eye specialist for a consultation.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Montour whether or not there are any evidences of troubles which manifest themselves in the stomach when the source of trouble lies far distant from that organ?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, exactly; I agree with that.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask further if in such cases and under such circumstances, it would not be necessary to call in nerve specialists and that specialists would be needed for proper examination and would they not be the proper persons?

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, No, sir; Because an eye specialist and not a general practitioner would be required, who is conversant with all those pathological conditions which in a reflex way effect the vision. That is why you would consult an occulist.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what the word "doctor" means?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I will have to answer that in my own way.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what the word oculist means? But first what D. D. means?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, Doctor of Divinity.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, what does doctor mean particularly in connection with divinity?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, that he must be a graduate from a college and hold a diploma from that college and be a professional man.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what D. D. S. means?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, It means Doctor of Dentistry.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what M. D. means?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, it means doctor of medicine.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, what does doctor mean?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, it is used in connection with medicines; he must have the science of medicine to practice, and necessarily is required to have a diploma by law, in order to treat disease.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the meaning of the word "Doctor" expresses in one word learned—is not that it?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, not necessarily so.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I said a moment ago that I had listened with some degree of expentancy to see where they could indicate in this bill any deficiencies or its dangers and up to this moment, I challenge the honest judgment of every member of this House, as to whether or not that challenge was accepted or whether anything has been done in that particular line. It was indicated Mr. Speaker, upon the floor of this House a few moments ago by the gentleman from Allegheny and I use his own words that if the optometrists want recognition, let them go to our Board of Licensure—our Board of Licensure and why? They don't propose, Mr. Speaker, to practise medicine. They use no drugs. Optometry itself, as the gentleman stated in his opening argument, was defined in the bill and he said in his own words, that it meant absolutely nothing and yet, in the very next breadth before the intelligence of this House, he says "Go to our Board of Licensure" and if they place their stamp of approval upon you, it means something. Why? A doctor of dentistry, if you please, would not need to go to a State Medical Board of Licensure in order to prove himself a dentist; neither would a blacksmith, neither would a fireman, neither would a lawyer.

Well, I don't know, Mr. Speaker, that there is anything so hallowed that has ever manifested itself and hung a halo around the word "doctor". Let us be fair. The statement was urged that there were no honest men to-day who knew anything about their profession who are to-day fitting glasses, unless they come under our Board of Licensure, and know how to administer drugs. Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to take up the time of this House; I know its value. I do not propose to take up the time of this House in answering every insinuating innuendo that has been worked into this argument. It was suggested that if this profession, if you please, if this profession which, according to the medical catalogue, seems to be at the very foot, and is named before the refracting oculists, and those other varieties—I could not keep up with them because I am not a medical man—who if this profession saw fit to introduce a bill so that the first place they could come would be to our profession, the medical profession.

And I say they took somebody that was not a medical man to introduce the bill upon the floor of this House. I presume, Mr. Speaker, that when they sought a lodging place for the handling of that bill, they thought it would be better in the hands of a layman who was better able to take care of it justly and fairly and according to its merits and without any bias of any kind, whatsoever. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to say to the members of this House that there is merit, and no demerit has been held up before you by any single one of those who have attacked this bill; there is merit; there is meat in every line of the bill; and has anyone yet told you why, starting in 1901, twelve ago, when this law was first written upon the statute books of one single state in these United States, and that during the last twelve years it has come down and been written into the statute laws of thirty states, has anyone told you that any of those states have found it to be a fake, or have repealed the law when it was once written upon their books? No. Not that. But we don't want it unless it comes under the State Board of Licensure, and if it comes under that we will take care of that particular branch. Why, Mr. Speaker, it is not the first time that the same bid was made by this same profession, and yet it has broadened, and broadened from year to year. As was suggested upon the floor of this House yesterday by one of the same profession, this bill has been before the House before. Yes. And it was suggested to you further by that same authority that when it was first introduced it failed to come out of the committee. Very true. And as time went on it was re-introduced and came out of the Committee. Very true. And was licked upon the floor of the House. Very true. And it was said that again it was introduced and that it came out from the Committee, was passed and was vetoed. Progress, progress every day. Yes, Mr. Speaker, and when this Legislature in its wisdom writes upon the statute books of Pennsylvania this same bill that is now before you for your consideration to-day, it will but be doing that same thing which the states and states of high intelligence have done during the past twelve years, and Pennsylvania has the opportunity to-day to be the thirty-first in that same category on this subject, and I ask this House to support this bill.

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, so far as I am able to respond.

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether in the study of law there is any department devoted to the science of oculists.

Mr. ALLEN. No.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me to be the delight of the member from Allegheny to try to lessen the courtesy of the members of the House toward the medical profession and of the medical profession to themselves. But because that gentleman has dared to say that, I wish to inform you, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, that he has not succeeded in doing it with me. And although he has not tried to uphold our State Medical Board of Licensure in Pennsylvania, it will not make me believe that. I believe it to be the finest medical board in the United States, bar none.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, with reference to the address of my colleague the sponsor of this bill, yesterday he informed this House, and tried to bring out the result of the happy family of the medical profession, due to the various branches being joined under the Act of 1911, when the osteopathic, homeopathic, eclectic and allopathic joined hands. That, gentlemen, is the very thing we were glad to hear him say. That is selfevident and proof of my argument of yesterday, when we asked that those gentlemen, with their bill of optometry, specifically tell us what they are going to do and what they are going to examine their applicants in.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. Delighted, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, when he says, "tell us," whom does he mean?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, the members of this House.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I beg pardon; I misunderstood the gentleman.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I quote you from the Act of 1909, when the Osteopathic Bill passed this House. In their bill they specifically state what the student of Osteopathy shall be taught. They further go into the subject and state what the applicant before the Board of Examiners shall be examined in, and which is specifically set forth in the bill in the Act of 1909. They say:

"Upon the making of said payment and proof, the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, if satisfied with the same, shall admit said applicant to examination as to his other qualifications for the practice of steopathy: which examination shall include the subjects of anatomy, physiology, chemistry, toxicology, pathology, diagnosis, hygiene, obstetrics," et cetera.

And that is, gentlemen, just exactly what we want these gentlemen to do; to show us in their hearts that they are sincere; that they are not going to infringe upon our profession; stating it before this House; and in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, I ask you whether those thirty states who have recognized this act have not specifically set forth the study and the questions that the applicants are examined in.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, having asked the question of me, I wish to say in reply that this is the same bill that has passed in those states.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, if those gentlemen in the other states have erred, it is no reason why Pennsylvania should do likewise. It is right and only proper that we should get that protection, just as well as the legal profession by introducing a bill in this House that would permit the layman to practice law before a squire and not before the Judges of the Supreme Court. And that is what this this is. These men have stolen an art and they are asking this House to protect them and to protect that stolen art that they have stolen from the medical profession.

In reference to what the gentleman from Butler has said, he is absolutely misinformed when he says that the medical colleges of this state do not teach diseases of the eye. I want to inform the gentleman that at the University of Pittsburgh, if you will look at the curriculum, three hours every week are required on diseases of the eye.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEEDLE. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker. I desire to ask the gentleman if he means to say that this course must be taken by every student.

Mr. STEEDLE. Absolutely; in his fourth year; yes.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I was informed by a member of this House, who is a physician, that such is not the case. If it is, I will turn it over on the other fellow.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to that that it is only hearsay that the gentleman has. We will prove that in the University of Pittsburgh, University of Pennsylvania, the Medico-Chi and the Temple of Philadelphia all provide that a certain number of hours per week be given to education on treatment of diseases of the eye. It is in the curriculum and is stated very plainly therein.

The gentleman from Allegheny makes it a question of our board of licensure. It is not ours; it is the State's and belongs to the people. He saw fit, in 1911, as a member of this House, to pass this medical licensure act, and the medical licensure board willingly invite these men to apply to them to be taken in under the fold and give them the necessary protection. But no. In their subterfuge in this bill, they refuse to do that. Why? Because they know that if they do not comply with what is right; if they do not take up the study; have no preliminary qualifications; that they shall not practice optometry. Therefore, gentlemen, I ask you, in all fairness to every man—we are not opposed to the bill , without due occasion. If it were not for the subterfuge; if they would specifically state what they would teach us, or what they would teach their men; and specificaly state what they would examine their applicants in we would not oppose it. Therefore, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to vote this bill down and vote no.

In answer to the gentleman from Allegheny when he said that no other state specifically states what questions shall be asked of the applicants, I want to say that in Massachusetts and New York they do qualify them.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, up to within an hour of this bill's being put on the calendar as a special order, I was opposed to it, but since listening to the arguments made in this House, I have been convinced by the opposition to this bill that we ought to pass it. And the very first question I will ask is: Have we been mistaken in the past in this State when we provided what we thought was a protection to the public, when we required the legal fraternity, the medical fraternity, and those who practice pharmacy to be somewhat qualified and to be of good character before they can hang out their shingle. If that be true, that we were mistaken in that, then we should not only vote this bill down, but go a step further; we should abolish this board that makes the examinations of those who shall have the right to use the "M.D." We should dismiss the board that gives the legal fraternity the right to hang out their shingle; and also the board which examines applicants to conduct a pharmacy. I don't think we have been mistaken. Now, every member of this House knows well, if he will stop to think, that, at the present time, no person, irrespective of character, irrespective of ability, can start down the road with some glasses in his hand and call himself an optician as anybody can hang out a shingle in Harrisburg or any township, borough or city in this State and practice optometry, without character, without any of the requirements that his legislature certainly ought to give to the public. The first thing, in my judgement, of importance in your medical board is to examine character, because the truth is that when I get sick the only man interested in keeping me sick is the medical doctor whom I call in to attend me. But as a matter of fact, conditions are not as they were fifty years ago when the fakes were imposing upon the public in practicing medicine and hanging out a shingle with M. D. I recollect very well of one of them when I was a boy fifty years ago, who simply read a few books and then started out in the neighborhood with a little satchel and was an M. D. But legislatures in the past saw the evils of that condition and they have now statutory law that thte man must present himself before a Board skilled or learned in that profession and after he proves his character—the most important part of it because if he has no character and practices the medical profession he may keep me sick to get my dollar and if he has good character, which I am glad to say that I believe ninety-nine and half per cent. of those practicing to-day have, he will absolutely, honestly treat his patient and try to cure him or try to relieve him, in other words. Now that thought you can all see as it runs through my mind, without my enlarging upon it. At the present time in this State anybody can go out and fake himself as an optometrist. If you pass this bill you will at least do one thing: Hereafter they will have to appear before a board appointed by the Governor of this State who will undoubtedly, irrespective—the Democrats think they will have control next time, and I have no doubt if they elect a governor they will elect a man who will see that the Board he appoints, is composed of men of good character and ability and they will inquire into the character of these men that ask for this privilege. They will see that they have had at least two years experience. Wont that be better than the conditions we have now? If it will better the conditions, and if it has been shown that these boards that have been created in the past to protect the public against fakirs have been along the right lines, have produced good results, then why should we hesitate one second to pass this bill and give to the Governor of the State the right to name the number provided for in the bill to make this examination which will at least insure good character in the future, if nothing more, and that is the great protection in the bill after all. I believe the bill should pass, and it is along the line we have gone in every profession The legal profession will not let you go so far as to let you read law without passing on you and when you read law four years they will want to see if they will allow you to hang up your shingle. If this thing is wrong, then those things are. We reap benefits from that and we will reap benefit from this, not in a year, but in the end undoubtedly it will elevate the profession and it will put men in that profession, who when I go to have my eyes eamined, will say, "You are not a fit patient for me. Go see an oculist". It is undoubtedly a proper bill to pass and it is not dangerous.

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, I wish to state that the Board of Medical Licensure and Examination will take care of all applicants who wish to qualify as professional optometrists. They have offered to do so and we only need one Board. We have a single Board of exaimners in this State. The policy of legislation to control medical sects in this State is to require all sects to be examined before one Board. Afterwards they can practice any particular school of practice they wish to do. That is the policy of this State and it is statutory for all other sects. That is what I wish to say.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Walton, and others, but no other gentlemen desiring to insist upon discussing the bill, the question was put by the Chair.

Shall the bill pass?

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, April 14, 1913.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that when the Senate adjourns to-day it shall reconvene on Monday evening, April 21, at 9 o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it appears that the Senate is refusing to take any action whatsoever on the most important measures which the House has passed to the Senate. The Senate by its vote has placed itself on record that it will not discharge the committees which are holding these measures. It seems to me that the House must in some way express its disapproval of the action of the Senate in regard to these matters. I think the way to do it, Mr. Speaker, is to refuse to permit the Senate to adjourn until there has been some action on the measures which the House has passed. I am utterly opposed to this resolution, and in order that the members might go upon record, I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, on page 23 of Smull's Handbook, in section fourteen of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, it reads as follows: "Neither shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting." On page 951, in the decisions of the House on points of order, you find the following: "A motion was made that when the House adjourns this Wednesday, it will be to meet on next Monday evening at nine o'clock. The point of order was submitted that it was unconstitutional for the House to adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the Senate. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken; that an adjournment of the House from Wednesday until the succeeding Monday was not an adjournment for more than three days as provided by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Sunday being a dies non. See Buckalew on the Constitution of Pennsylvania, edition 1883, page 52. Construction: it has long been held that the three days limitation in this section (section 14, article 2), is exclusive of Sundays, and such is the settled construction. Therefore, whether natural or secular days are intended by the authors of the limitation is not now a question of practical importance. Judicial Opinion: West Philadelphia Passenger Ry. Co. vs. Union Pacific Ry. Co., and Bancroft vs. same, 29 Legal Intelligencer, 196, 4 Leg. Gaz. 193." What is the use of all this talk and buncombe when it makes no difference to the Senate whether we concur in the resolution or not. Since Sunday is a dies non it is immaterial whether we concur in that resolution or not.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I take it that the resolution simply sounds the sentiment of both branches of this Legislature as to the action of these two bodies. If the approval of this House is stamped upon the resolution which is now before us, then in that event those members of the House who see fit can place themselves on record as standing shoulder to shoulder with the line of action adopted by the Senate. If this House, notwithstanding the fact, perhaps, that it may not be able to reconvene the Senate or hold it in session until such time as we may allow it to adjourn until next Monday, notwithstanding the fact, Mr. Speaker, the voices of the individual members of this House upon a vote upon this resolution either says that they approve or disapprove of the action of the Senate. It seemed to me a week ago when this same resolution was introduced into this House that the sentiment of the members was evidenced itself here in unmistakable terms, and I believe that at this time the members of this House individually who are responsible to their constituents for not only the work that is being done here but the work that is being done across the way, are willing to go upon record and I heartily approve of the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, that a roll call be taken on this matter so as to determine the individual sentiment of the members of this House in relation to this matter.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. The suggestion that has been made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, that the concurrence of the House in this resolution is not necessary, to my mind is not relevant to this present question now before the House. The Senate has seen fit to send a concurrent resolution to this House for us to approve of their adjournment until Monday. It is for this House to say whether or not we do approve of their adjournment. If we do not we should vote against concurrence. If the Senate sees fit through their presiding offer to decide that they have the right to adjourn or to take a recess until next Monday night, that is for that body to decide through its presiding officer, and we have no way of enforcing their proper decision But for a gentleman of this House to raise the question here and ask us to concur in the concurrent resolution of the Senate merely because of the decisions which he has read to the House, which many of us feel have no weight, it take it it should in no wise guide the votes of the members of this House. We are here now to say whether or not we approve of the defiant attitude of the Senate, whether or not we will become a party to their refusing to act on the legislation that we have sent there. We have by this vote to say whether or not we approve of the Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee, for instance, standing on the floor of the Senate and refusing to give even hearings, refusing to give either hearings to the members of the Senate or outside parties to so important a bill as the Constitutional Convention Bill; whether we approve of the Chairman of the Elections Committee refusing to put upon the floor of the Senate so important a bill as the State-wide Primaries Bill which has been clamored for throughout this entire Commonwealth; whether we are going to approve of such conduct, whether we are going to become a party to such stifling of legislation. Mr. Speaker, I hope that the members of this House, for the sake of ourselves and for the sake of the presiding officer of this body, will stamp our disapproval upon such conduct and refuse to concur in this resolution for adjournment.

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, this is an important matter, and I do not regard any action of the House in refusing to concur with the Senate's desire to adjourn is a discourtesy to the Senate. I sponsored certain election bills which the House passed. Those bills carried out the pledges of a political party of this State and were agreed to by another party of this State. They have been in the hands of the Senate Elections Committee for weeks and weeks. They have taken no action upon them. yet week after week they come here with a resolution asking us to consent to their adjournment stating broadcast to the State that their calendar is clear. The calendar may be clear, but the truth of the matter is that these important measures are still in the hands of the committees and the Senate refuses to discharge its committees from the consideration of those measures. It is not the question here of whether or not the Senate has the right to adjourn without our consent. The question here is that they ask our consent and if you agree to it as members of this House, you agree to their manner of acting on these measures, and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that it is about time that the House refuses to approve of the conduct of the Senate on matters of legislation which have been promised to the people of Pennsylvania, and I ask this House not to concur in this resolution for adjournment.

The question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. S. B. SCOTT and Mr. ALLEN, and were as follows:

Good,

So the question was determined in the negative and the resolution of the Senate is not concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1444, entitled:

An Act to amend the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh eighth eleventh twelfth and fifteenth sections of an act entitled "An Act establishing the office of State Fire Marshal defining his powers and duties providing for his compensation and the maintenance of his office giving courts the power to punish witnesses for contempt of his authority and to review his orders and making it the duty of officers of public instruction and persons in charge of public or private schools to instruct children as to the dangers of fire and the prevention of fire waste" approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven by extending the powers and duties of the State Fire Marshal his deputies and assistants and providing penalties for violations of said act as amended and to repeal the fourteenth section of said act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a special amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was then read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, line 40, by adding after the word "whatever' 'the words "within the corporate limits of cities, boroughs and villages of the Commonwealth."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I object to the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection to the amendment.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, if I might be allowed to explain the purpose of this amendment I should like to do so.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the gentleman will be permitted to explain the purpose of this amendment.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the House the amendment will be again read. (the amendment was then again read)

Will the House give its unanimous consent to accept the amendment?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I object to the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Josiah Howard, desires to explain the amendment, if there is no objection?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, under an act of Congress the National Government has a testing bureau at Pittsburgh for testing explosives of all kinds. They have a corp of chemists which give you a permit for your powder. Your powder goes to the testing station, then you get a permit to use that powder in mines and other places. There is also a national board for the safe transportation of explosives of all kinds. The head of that board is in New York. This board has power to visit your factory and power to make regulations regarding the packing and storing and transportation of dynamite all over the United States. I believe. This bill as now worded gives the fire marshal of this State power to do all these things and do them with more force than this national board has. There is no limitation whatever to this fire marshal's power. The purpose of this amendment is that the fire marshal shall have power to regulate the storing of dynamite in the cities. boroughs and villages so that no store-keeper can keep explosives in his store or building except under such regulations as the fire marshal provides. The purpose of the amendment is that he shall not have power to visit the dynamite factories and the powder magazines and regulate the packing and the storing of these explosives in the magazines and at the factory themselves, but shall have absolute power in the cities and boroughs and villages and this amendment puts it in those words, "boroughs and villages." I think it is very necessary that these words go in to limit this power to the "villages and boroughs."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I object and if the House will permit me, I will explain my reasons for the objection.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, in this amendment, the purpose of which is to restrict the supervising powers of the fire marshal, except as to cities boroughs and villages, this would permit the storage of large quanitities of highly explosive materials in other portions of the Commonwealth outside of boroughs where there would be no supervisory powers for the protection of human life and property. As I understand the question, the federal law on explosives in the United States inspection only applies as to manufacture and shipment, but it would not affect the storage of it. They would have no supervision over the storage of dynamite in the State—is that right?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, no sir. They do have supervision on the packing and storage of explosives and on the manufacturing and packing, and state that boxes shall be lined and what kind of boxes shall be used and how it shall be stored and shipped and the grade of explosive matter is determined by this National Board. I will like to say, for instance, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company under the rules of this Board has no right to carry any powder that has over 60 per cent of nitroglycerine in it, anyway at all, and it is by commission instead of by one man.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cameron.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Josiah Howard permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Cameron, is there any inspection as to the storage of explosives in country stores by the government?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I don't know. My amendment gives this fire marshal that power in the country stores.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, that is not an answer to my question. I ask if there is any inspection of explosives in country stores?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I don't know.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, then I renew my objection to the amendment.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Whereupon, a division was called for and 33 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 79 in the negative.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I was not aware as to whether or not any very great consideration had been given this bill by the members of this House, but those who have not investigated its provisions, I believe should. There are two ways in which the expenses of the State can be built up to an outrageous degree; one is by a salary-raiser the other is by a job-creator, and this bill comes under the latter class. This bill, to start with, provides for two more special deputies than the existing law provides for, at a salary of $2,500 a year; it also provides for a statistician at $2,500 a year; a chief clerk at $2,000 a year; a messenger at $1,000 a year, and such other clerks and deputies as the Chief Fire Marshal shall see fit to appoint, and the compensation shall be fixed by him. This bill even goes further than that; it provides that the chief clerks of the boards of county commissioners and the supervisors of townships shall be assistant fire marshals under the provisions of this bill, and that it shall be their duty, every time a fire occurs in their community, to communicate by wire that fact to the Chief Fire Marshal, and it makes it a misdemeanor for any one of those supervisors to fail to telegraph the notice of the fire to the Chief Fire Marshal. Why, I can imagine no greater outrage than to undertake to impose a duty and to make the failure to perform that duty a misdemeanor, upon county supervisors, county commissioners' clerks, burgesses, and chairman of councils in boroughs—

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, Very gladly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, where in this bill does it appear that the Assistant Fire Marshal must wire to the State Fire Marshal?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will indulge me just a moment—

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I would call your attention to Section 4 on page 7, which says that the report shall be made in writing.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would call your attention to the provision in line 52 on page 7 of the bill, "Provided however That such assistants shall notify the State Fire Marshal at his office in Harrisburg immediately by telegraphic message of not more than ten words of the occurence of any such fire;" and next in line 59 it says, "Any of the aforesaid assistants of the State Fire Marshal who shall neglect or refuse to report to the State Fire Marshal," et cetera, "shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether in line 59, making it a misdemeanor, it refers to telegraphic messages or written reports.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, the reports that the act calls for are telegraphic reports, and the final clause sets forth that failure to report as required by the act shall be a misdemeanor, and I think that the members of the House can interpret that without my going into the question any further.

With reference to the powers given to deputy fire marshals to destroy buildings where the buildings are dangerous in the fire sense, it also gives that power to assistant supervisors and county commissioners' clerks as assistants to the chief fire marshal. Are you in favor of extending such a power as that to the promiscous fire marshals that this act provides all over the State. And it goes further and authorizes the Chief Fire Marshal to employ such attorneys and detectives as he shall see fit. Now, I only mentioned the provisions of this bill in a general way. I call your attention to a condition which is confronting this House and this Assembly. We are confronted to-day with the General Appropriation bill that is from ten to twelve million dollars in excess of the amounts appropriated in that bill two years ago; and to-day the Appropriations Committee is struggling in an effort to cut down these general appropriation bills to a point that will be within the estimated revenues for the next two years. In that bill of two years ago, there was an appropriation of $70,000 to the Chief Fire Marshal and his Department. In this bill this year the State Fire Marshal is asking for $273,000, and that bill and the appropriation that he is asking for is based upon the theory that you are going to enact this bill into a law and make necessary an increase of over $200,000 in the estimated expenses of that Department. The general appropriation bill discloses more than this bill discloses. You will note in this bill two new deputies are provided for—the third and fourth special deputies—at $2,500 a year, with the power to employ such others as the State Fire Marshal may deem necessary, and the general appropriation bill shows what the purpose is. They dared not in this bill put in the real purpose and the real motive that is back of this bill, but in the general appropriation bill they ask for an apropriation covering forty deputy fire marshals in the State, so that by this bill you are not only creating those two additional special deputies, but you are enabling the State Fire Marshal to appoint forty additional deputies that the general appropriation bill provides for. It is about time that we call a check on some of these expenditures, if we are going to get them within the revenues of the State. The passage of this bill means that in the General Appropriation bill you have to increase that $70,000 that was appropriated two years ago to $273,000 that is being asked for by that department this year. I think this bill ought to be defeated by this House.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill to reorganize the State Fire Marshal's Department. It is to make it an efficient branch of the State government, and it is quite true, as the gentleman from Crawford has said, that in the redistricting of the State for the purpose of the work of the Fire Marshal's Department, that forty additional inspectors would be required for the purpose of doing efficient work. If, however, the House in its wisdom should feel, when the general appropriation bill comes up, that the forty inspectors provided for in the general appropriation bill would not be a good thing, as regards the matter of expense, that can be taken care of; but I do not want the House to lose sight of the fact that, if we are to have a State Fire Marshal's Department that is worth being called a State Fire Marshal's Department, it is going to cost some money. Now, the great difficulty which the State Fire Marshal's Department has been working under, under the act of 1911, is that it has no police powers. They simply go and investigate a fire and can only rely upon the action taken in that district by the district attorney of the county in which it occurs. They are asking for police powers, and they are asking that reports, written reports of the fires in the various parts of the States, be immediately transmitted to Harrisburg, so that the proper statistics may be had for use in its report. It is only in case of fires of incendiary origin, where is to make an investigation as to the cost of it, that a telegraphic message has been required. I admit that the act is not particularly clear in respect to that, but that is clearly the purpose of the Fire Marshal in regard to that. Now, gentlemen, I do not think the cry about the increase in the appropriation ought to be the controlling question. This House is going to pass at this session of the Legislature, I hope, bills which will increase the revenues of this State between six and seven millions of dollars. I want this House to consider the one primary question. Is this State Fire Marshal's Department worth having? Is it doing anything or not? Gentlemen, I ask you in considering this bill to bear in mind that the State Fire Marshal wants control over the whole State insofar as supervision, jurisdiction and inspection is concerned. There is some opposition from the cities on the ground that it interferes with the local control exercised by the local fire department. I say that insofar as that is concerned, it is only a questinon of concurrent authority, concurrent jurisdiction, and there will be no conflict in the working out of this bill by them. This bill, whilst it provides right here definitely for two assistant deputy fire marshals, a chief clerk and a statistician, and whilst in the general appropriation bill, there is a provision for the appointment of forty additional inspectors, I say that these two propositions are separate, and the question now is whether to reorganize the department insofar as regulation is concerned, with powers over the whole State, and in addition of giving this State Fire Marshal and his deputies police powers, are matters for this House to consider now. I ask the members of this House to support this bill.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, just one word in reply to the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia. I do take issue with the gentleman that it is the province of the Fire Marshal's Department to make this a detective bureau for the purpose of tracing down and punishing crimes. I do agree with the gentleman that it is probably within the proper province of that department to use all reasonable means so that proper precautions are taken to prevent fire, but I say that after a fire has occurred, whether it be the result of a crime, or whether it be simply from the misfortunes of war, that the responsibility for punishing and invoking the criminal law lies with the criminal courts and the criminal authorities of the several communities, and I want to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that where there is any question as to a fire being of incendiary origin, the insurance companies themselves undetake to investigate as to whether or not there is a criminal offence. Very few men will undertake to say that an insurance company does not go to the limit in ferreting out the crime of arson. I believe—

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that the insurance companies in the State of New York have been lately discovered to be forming an arson trust?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I think it is not. That might have been the purpose of some of the local agents but it has not been the purpose of the companies themselves. I believe the criminal laws of this Commonwealth should be invoked by the State authorities. I believe the departments of the State government should direct their efforts to improving conditions generally in this or any other particular and leave the criminal laws to be enforced in the criminal courts by the district attorney and county detectives of the local communities, aided, as they will be in this case, by the insurance companies that are most concerned.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether I can make myself heard or not, or whether I can make my voice heard on this question, but I want to go back to the session of 1911, when the Fire Marshal Bill was originally passed. There seemed to be a demand for regulation of this character to investigate the causes of fires and to trace out their incendiary origin and prosecute the perpetrators if possible. There were two companion bills introduced, the Fire Marshal Bill and the bill to tax insurance companies one-fourth of one mill upon their gross receipts for the purpose of paying the expenses to be incurred under the Fire Marshal Bill. The Insurance companies were in favor of both of them. It was agreed in the Insurance Committee that they were both to go through, that the Fire Marshal Bill was not to go through unless the revenue raiser went through. When the taxing bill came out it was defeated in violation of the agreement and the understanding and they passed the Fire Marshal Bill. When the Fire Marshal Bill came up in 1911, I opposed it as being in violation of that understanding and agreement and I made a speech on the floor of this House against it, and I and my colleague from my county and several others even though we voted against it, were recorded as voting for it. I did not vote for it, but I am opposed to it because it was in violation of the gentlemens' or legislative agreement entered into at that time. Now, we come here for this consideration of a bill to reorganize a Department which has only been in existence two years and has only been in working order for four, five or six mnoths, and we have a proposition to change the salary list, from $70,000.00 to $303,000.00, and I have before me the report of the appropriation Committee in which these items are asked for and I will read them for your information.

They ask for the salary of the Fire Marshal, $10,000.00, for the salary of the Chief Assistant, $8,000.00; for the salaries of four deputies, $24,000.00; for the salary of the Statistician, $5,000.00; for the salary of the Chief Clerk, $4,000.00; for the salary of the messenger, $2,000.00 for the salaries of clerks and stenographers, $30,000.00; for the salaries of forty deputies, $120,000.00; for contingent expense, $100,000.00, making a total of $303,000.00 asked for in the General Appropriation bill for two years; and the appropriation for 1911, was $70,000.00, making an increase of $273,000.00. For these reasons it seems to me that a Department which has only been organized for the short term that this has, ought to be let alone and get itself in some kind of shape before we approach it in this magnificent form that this bill calls for.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the salary proposition is contained in this bill? That is correct, is it not?

Mr. ROCKWELL. I understand this salary proposition in the Appropriation Bill was based on this bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House I know that my friend from Tioga never tries to give a wrong impression to the House. I know that absolutely, but I have found him to be like myself, and like myself sometimes he makes mistakes. I make them oftener than he makes them, sometimes.

It is true that there were two companion bills here in 1911. It is also true that the Standard Insurance Companies, doing business in the State of Pennsylvania, did agree absolutely that the great benefits that would come from the Fire Marshal's Department would mean in the end, in their opinion a great economy, not only to the people but to themselves. They must have believed that or they would never have authorized those whom they knew intimately in the House to go on the floor and say so. I am a local real estate and fire insurance man and naturally come in contact with the leaders of the fire insurance companies in Pennsylvania doing business with headquarters in the City of Philadelpha. On account of that, they naturally, when they come to Harrisburg, talk to me on legislation on that line. Some people may call it "lobbying" but I believe that is the proper thing to do. I do not think anything of a legislator who allows himself to be influenced; but however, my friend from Tioga forgets that after the proposition to tax these companies was opposed the representatives who were acquainted with and in close contact with the Standard Fire Insurance Companies, myself amongst the number, and the records, if you will go back to the session of 1911, will prove that that is so,—stood for this tax, insofar as the Standard Companies were concerned and almost exhausted themselves on this floor to persuade the House to pass that bill in accordance with that agreement. Now, my friend from Tioga well knows that that whole proposition came from the Mutual Companies. I do not know at all whether the Mutual Companies did say in any way or indicate in any way that they would be willing to bear part of that expense. I do not know whether the gentleman from Tioga knows that, but I say that I do know that insofar as the Mutual Companies are concerned that they did indicate that they would be glad to bear an expense of one-fourth per cent. on their business, to assist the State in putting this into operation and it was believed at the time that if all the companies would agree to it it would be no burden on the State, but when the bill came up all the mutual companies, or at least men whom I think were in contact with the desires of Mutual Companies, persuaded the House not to pass the bill because they persuaded the House that it would not be right to require Mutual Companies to pay that tax. They persuaded the House that in the past the Legislature of Pennsylvania, having never placed a tax on Mutual Companies, that it should not now place a tax on Mutual Companies. The point I want to make, the most impressive point I want to make is, that I think my friend from Tioga will concede that he was mistaken when he gave the House the impression that there was any bad faith on the part of the Standard Insurance Companies. That answers the question of what occurred in 1911.

Now, getting a little further into the bill, the gentlemen from Tioga and the gentleman from Crawford, I think agree that this bill that is now before us, carries with it no appropriation. The bill perhaps provides for more deputies than the old law. This bill provides for more deputies, but it says nothing about salaries, consequently the salary question should not be considered in considering this bill.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Sure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if he has read the bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I have not read it carefully enough. If I mistake not, the bill don't do anything but increase the number of employees, but don't increase the salaries.

Mr. ROCKWELL. It increases the salaries. It fixes the number of dollars.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to misinform the House on that particular, but I do want to impress the House that that ought not to defeat this bill. That if that salary proposition is one that you don't agree with that you ought to postpone the bill. Every member of this House knows well that with the cost of the fire losses to the citizens of Pennsylvania and the great fire losses in this government of ours, we certainly need something to be done. Over in continental Europe where they carry out the very principles involved in this bill, where the government takes a hand in investigating every fire, where the government takes a hand in ferreting out and punishing those responsible for incendiarism, I think that is responsible for the fact that the fire loss in continental Europe is about 10 per cent. on the average of what the fire loss is in America and in the State of Pennsylvania. Now, if the fire loss in continental Europe is ten per cent. of what it is in this State there is something they are doing over there that we are not doing. Those who have studied the question and have given the most thought to it, believe it is because the government has not depended upon the local authorities to ferret out and punish. Experience, I think, will teach all of us that while we have a suspicion that a neighbor has done something that has led to a fire, we don't like to meddle with it, we don't like to get into a quarrel with our neighbor and don't want to be at odds with him because he is our neighbor. The result is, if you have a State Fire Marshal's Department, with men entirely out of the neighborhood, the men can go down there and get the facts and I believe a great good will come from this bill. I want to say I hope this bill will not be defeated. If it provides for undue salaries I do think the gentleman from Philadelphia, the sponsor of the bill, should have it postponed until that salary question can be adjusted, I don't want to see the bill defeated. There is too much good in it. There is too great an interest at stake to defeat it.

Mr. JOSAIH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill says that perhaps it is not properly worded. There is only one part of it that is properly worded, and that is the part which is to give absolute power to one man. There is no question about that in the whole bill; one man should have all this power to appoint his own assistants, as many as he pleases, to do what he pleases and through the General Apropriation Bill he asks for three hundred thousand dollars, as reported, which is four times as much as the present law requires for two years. This bill would never have been passed, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion, if these drastic measures had been there two years ago. The bill was simply a Fire Marshal's Bill, to act as detective in finding out the cause of fires and finding ways to prevent fires from being set. Mr. Speaker, I just want to call your attention to one clause. The State of Pennsylvania manufactures more explosives of all kinds, black powder, dynamite and explosives of all kinds, caps and fuses, than any other State in the Union. This business is not alone the business of the explosive people, but Mr. Speaker, I want to read from a letter I receivd this morning:

"That in a State with so many industries and enterprises depending to a greater or less extent upon the use of explosives, for the prosecution of the business, no one man is sufficiently well qualified to make reasonable and just rules applicable alike to all such enterprises; that this act if it became a law would make the handler and consumer of explosives wholly subject to the will, and perhaps the caprice of a single individual."

Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the members of this House that the explosive factory has to ship its goods on the same days on which they are made. An explosive factory perhaps produces two carloads of explosives in one day. These goods must be forwarded at once. There is no provision in this bill for the manufacturer to appeal from the decision of the fire marshal. His order is arbitrary. It would mean that he would shut down the factory because there is no way of getting out of it. You cannot appeal to any body. I was talking to the Fire Marshal this morning and he said "Oh, yes, you can appeal to the Court". If you read Section 3, there is no appeal in it.

Mr. Speaker, there is no way at all for a person to get away from the orders of the Fire Marshal in any part of the State. The bill is so arbitrary and so drastic in its provisions, Mr. Speaker, that I move it be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. HUMES Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

BILLS POSTPONED.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1076, entitled:

An Act amending section one of an act entitled "An Act dividing the cities of this State into three classes with respect to their population and designating the mode of ascertaining and changing the classification thereof in accordance therewith" approved June twenty-fifth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by dividing cities of the State into four classes with respect to their population and providing that the laws relating to cities of the second class shall apply to cities both of the second class and third class as herein provided was not agreed to on third reading on April 9th be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion to reconsider.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced by Mr. Kaiser of Allegheny County, providing for the reclassification of cities and it was not agreed to last Tuesday. A number of persons interested from third class cities desire a re-consideration. A number of members are anxious to permit certain amendments, which would be satisfactory to those who raised objections at the time of its defeat.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill (title just read) be now recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RE-RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 125, file folio of the Senate 119, entitled:

An Act regulating the payment of any deposit made with any bank trust company or savings institution in the name of two persons on page two of yesterday's calendar defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the motion to reconsider.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill defeated yesterday, the first bill on the calendar, with a light House, by a few votes. It will be placed on the postponed calendar and the amendments inserted to meet the objections. I hope the members will not hesitate to reconsider this vote. The gentlemen interested in it are anxious to reconsider it.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House for the suspension of rule 33, inorder that I may present at this time a concurrent resolution. The resolution that I propose to present calls for an amendment to the Constitution. This resolution was presented at the last session of the Legislature and was favorably acted upon but through some over-sight was not presented for final action. It provides for the continuance of judges whose terms expire in an off year that they may continue through their term without the necessity of a re-appointment. I therefore ask the House to give unanimous consent to the suspension of the rule in order that that resolution may be presented.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the suspension of the rule for the purpose stated?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a ruling of the Chair as to whether or not it would be possible in view of the fact that this amendment was passed as a concurrent resolution whether or not it could be introduced as a joint resolution at this session.

The SPEAKER. The form of the resolution would necessarily vary. It might be better for the gentleman from Philadelphia to ask for the suspension of the rule which prevents his introducing it as a joint resolution.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, in order that the Chair may permit my request, I understand the Chair to say that it would be better for me to ask for the suspending of the rule?

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not sustain the point of order. There was no point of order raised but the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, suggested the question as to whether a resolution having passed at the last session in the form of one resolution could be passed at this session in a different form and if it would be effective?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, at the last session it passed as a concurrent resolution. In view of the new rule a concurrent resolution cannot be used. Mr. McNichol has requested the suspension of the rule to pass the resolution. I would like information as to whether or not this resolution which had been a concurrent resolution in 1911 can be introduced as a joint resolution in 1913, or whether it would have to follow directly the same form of resolution.

The SPEAKER. As it was a concurrent resolution, in 1911, it would be the opinion of the Chair that it would be much safer to pass it as a concurrent resolution now. That is the form in which the gentleman desires to present it. The Chair hears no objection to the rule being suspended for that purpose. The rule is therefore suspended and the gentleman from Philadelphia offers the concurrent resolution which will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO SECTION THREE, OR ARTICLE EIGHT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the Senate concurs), That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the Eighteenth Article there.

Section 2. Amend Section 3, of Article 8, which reads as follows: "All judges selected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All the elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts for the county, city, ward, borough, and township officers, for regular terms of service shall be held on the municipal election day, namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd number of years, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; provided, that such election shall always be held in an odd number of years," so to read:

Section 3. All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All the elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day, namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto, provided that such election shall always be held in an odd numbered year: Provided further, that all judges for the courts of the several judicial districts holding office at the present time whose terms of office may end in an odd numbered year shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January in the next succeeding even numbered year.

The SPEAKER. Ordered to lie over for printing.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 937, file folio, entitled:

An Act to establish a Bureau of Housing for the Sanitary Inspection and control of tenement boarding and lodging houses defining its powers and duties and providing certain penalties was defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, last Thursday evening there were ninety-five votes for the bill and twenty-eight against it and eighty-three absent.

This is a worthy bill and has no appropriation to it. It regulates mining towns more particularly than anything else where these is no municipality, that grow up possibly in a year to one thousand fifteen hundred people, possibly eighty-five per cent. of them foreigners. I would like very much that it be put on the calendar and have an opportunity to pass.

On the question recurring.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 937, entitled:

An Act to establish a Bureau of Housing for the Sanitary Inspection and control of tenement boarding and lodging houses defining its powers and duties and providing certain penalties

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 497, as follows:

An Act relating to the nomination of candidates for the office of United States Senator; providing for the expression by the electors, at the general election next preceding the election of a United States Senator by the General Assembly, of their choice of candidates for such office; providing for the counting, returning, tabulating and certifying of the votes cast at said general election for all candidates for the office of United States Senator; prescribing the manner in which candidates nominated by nomination papers or certificates of nomination for the General Assembly may declare their intention with respect to their voting in the General Assembly for the choice of the electors for the office of United States Senator and providing for notations on the ballot respecting declarations made by candidates for the General Assembly, however, nominated."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is an amendment to the constitution, and as such I think this bill should not be passed at this time.

I therefore move that further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1400 (Senate bill No. 405) entitled:

An Act to amend the third section of an act entitled "An Act relative to the supervision and control of hospitals or houses in which the insane are placed for treatment or detention" approved the eighth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three so as to fix the number and compensation of the officers of the Committee on Lunacy

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of the House to the fact that House Bills Nos. 1400 and 1401 are practically companion bills enlarging the powers of the committee on lunacy and of the present department of charity. When the bill creating the present department of charity was passed in 1869, there were but five purely state institutions, and ten semi-state instiutions over which that department had control, and upon which they could make recommendations. To show you how the work of this department has grown allow me to say that the year after this bill was passed—1870—the entire appropriation of the State to private institutions was $387,205. In 1911 the total appropriations to State, semi-State and private institutions amounted to $15,558,453. From these figures, you will see the enormous increase in appropriations to charity.

The Act of 1269 which established the Board of Public Charities was passed when there were only five institutions entirely supported by the State and ten institutions partly supported by the State. The compensation of the Secretary was then fixed at $3,000 a year and has remained so ever since, nothwithstanding the fact that in 1913 his duties have increased a hundred fold and at the present time the State institutions, semi-State institutions, private hospitals, Sanatoria and Homes that receive State aid, amount to 309.

In addition to this, the Secretary of the Board has to keep an eye on the institutions which do not receive State aid and the total number of institutions under the supervision of the Board of Public Charities amounts to at least five hundred.

Besides inspecting these institutions, the Secretary of the Board of Public Charities has to approve the maintenance accounts of the 17,000 insane scattered through the State and County institutions of Pennsylvania, for which this year the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will appropriate four millions of dollars, every cent of which has to be approved by him before the Auditor General can issue warrants on the State treasurer.

In addition to this, the Secretary and General Agent of the Board has to keep a close supervision over all jails, almshouses, penitentiaries and reformatories.

In view of this tremendous increase in the responsibilities devolving upon those officials, in view of this tremendous increase in the amount of money for which they now make requisition to this Legislature to appropriate for the maintenance of these different institutions. I think it is only fair that the salary that was fixed when that board was established in 1869 should be increased as per this bill, and I trust that this House will vote in accord with that system.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I am not prepared to say just what the merit or demerit of these particular bills may be. At this time I do not care to oppose any meritorious feature of the bill, but merely to call the attention of this House to the condition that confronts us. The platforms of all political parties last fall promised some reform along the line of controlling and supervising the charitable institutions. This is one of the bills that it is contended by the Board of Public Charities would be a step in that direction. There are other bills pending in the Legislature which have for their purpose the carrying out of this same purpose. These bills are in committee. The other two propositions have not up to this time been presented to the House for its consideration. I believe the purpose of all of us is to do what is best for the institutions of a charitable nature in the State, but I do not think that it is fair to ask this House to pass this particular portion of legislation along the line until we have had an opportunity to consider the whole question as it has been presented in the other legislation that is pending. It strikes me that all of these bills should be considered by the committee at the same time, and in order that that may be done, I want to move at this time that further consideration of these bills, Nos. 1400 and 14001, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SHERN in the Chair.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, allow me to say, in answer to the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Humes, that the Speaker is conversant with the fact that several additional bills are now being considered by committee, covering practically the same grounds, and I am sure that the committee to which they are entrusted will give them due consideration and do what in their wisdom seems best. If those bills come out upon our calendars and this House in its wisdom sees fit to pass them, they go to the Senate and are passed by the Senate and become a law, it would simply repeal these bills, so that this House takes no chance whatever in passing these bills at this time, because if the bills that the gentleman refers to should eventually become law, they would supersede and repeal these bills. If they should not, then there is no question but that this department should have enlarged powers in accord with the declarations of the platforms of several of the parties. And these bills will establish that provision, and I trust that the House will not vote to have these bills postponed at this time.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. The gentleman from Crawford is correct. It is very strange that when there are matters requiring very careful handling, there is a measure raising salaries, but not reaching the heart of the situation. Now, I think there is no greater affair in our State Government. There is no more legal reform that can be instituted than a proper correlation and control of the general charitable appropriation. This can only be done by instituting some adequate department, or else by general constitutional or statutory reform, by which the Legislature is not compelled to decide upon the merits or demerits of every charitable institution, but make the appropriations in one lump. One or the other of these logical methods must be adopted if we are to reach the seat of the trouble; not simply raising salaries, and increasing the powers of the board of charities. I think this bill ought to be postponed until the whole subject can be adequately determined.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, 80 voting in the affirmative and 82 voting in the negative,

And the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that these bills ought to be defeated at this time. It has been correctly stated by the gentleman from Crawford that these bills do not touch the heart of the trouble. What this House ought to do is to insist that the bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, provdiing for a complete reorganization of the whole subject matter, come out of the committee. Now, that bill represents the specific party pledges, both of the Republican and Washington parties, and a majority of the members of this House are specifically committed to the passage of that legislation. It is the bill prepared by the Republican State Committee and has the endorsement of the Washington Party State Committee. As I said a moment ago, it represents the written pledge of a majority of the members of this House, and we should not agree to any half-way measures as proposed in this bill, which after all is only a salary-raising subterfuge.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, these two bills taken together embody a considerable increase in the expenditures during the next two years and the question naturally is, is there a corresponding benefit. These bills have not been considered in connection with the other legislation before this House, and I do not want to be placed in the position of having anything that I may say, indicate that I am expressing myself in favor of any part of the bill to which the gentleman from Beaver has just referred. Personally I think it accomplishes nothing toward the reform that we are seeking; but we know that this subject must be met; we know that an additional expenditure must be made. The other bills affecting this subject are now in the hands of the Appropriation Committee and it strikes me that this bill ought to be in their hands, in order that it can be considered along side of the other legislation that is intended to accomplish the reform that we all pretend to seek. There is no allegation that this bill in itself will accomplish anything toward the reforms sought and I therefore move that this bill be recommitted to the committee on appropriations.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I demand a roll call.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, there is unquestionably a very great deal of merit in this bill. It increases the powers of the Board of Charities. A number of things that in the past they could only recommend, they can enforce under the provisions of this bill. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Humes, has admitted that this bill is an improvement over the law at the present time. In view of the light House at this time, I will withdraw my objection to the postponement, so that each one shall have an opportunity to study these bills carefully. They don't carry with them the expenditure of very much money. The amount of additional money that these bills carry with them is very small as compared with the additional expenditure that is carried with the other bills, that have been referred to in the discussion on this bill, and if it is the sense of the House that more information is wanted, there are members who wish to study these bills more completely, I will withdraw my objection to postponement at this time; in fact, I will move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will remind the gentleman that that motion was made and defeated and the motion now before the House is, that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, if the mover will withdraw that motion, I will move to have further consideration postponed.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I insist on my motion.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be heard on this question. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, I am very much surprised to hear from the gentleman from Crawford (Mr. Humes) who thus far has cried reform, and now is working reform backward. The only thing on earth is to move forward and when you tell me that the old State of Pennsylvania cannot afford to pay her hired servants the wage that is their due, I cannot understand the gentleman from Crawford (Mr. Humes), who comes from no mean city, no mean county, rich in her agricultural resources, rich in every line, and yet he stands on this floor today and questions the meagre salary of men that are earning their wage. Gentlemen we are rich; we are powerful; and shall we rank with those lower things in life where we question the man that earns his money? Shall we come here and try to delay this question from time to time in order that we may defeat it? Let us look under the sinister motives. They tell us future legislation is in store. I tell you that to-day is due today's duty; tomorrow something else. Therefore, Gentlemen of this House, I trust that you will not stand by this motion that the gentleman from Crawford County has made, but that today you will answer this question and give to the men of Pennsylvania, that are faithfully serving the old State of Pennsylvania and her charitable institutions, that which belongs to them.

Mr Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House, I thank you.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, is a motion to amend the motion so as to postpone the bill and place it upon the postponed calendar in order?

The SPEAKER. No, the only matter in order is the motion to recommit, which was duly made and seconded. The roll will be called.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. SHERN in the Chair.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion is out of order. There is nothing before the House except the calling of the roll.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker are we voting upon the bill or upon the motion to postpone the consideration of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The House is voting upon the bill.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Then, Mr. Speaker, I desire to change my vote from aye to no.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his quesiton of information.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, after we had finished voting on the question to recommit this bill to the Committee on Appropriations, the gentleman from Lancaster arose to make a motion, and the Chair refused to recognize him. I would like to know why he was not recognized.

The SPEAKER. There was nothing in order but the calling of the roll. A motion to postpone having been defeated, and a motion to recommit having been defeated, there was nothing before the House except the calling of the roll.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, could not another motion to postpone the bill be made.

The SPEAKER. No, sir. A motion to reconsider the vote by which the motion to postpone was defeated could have been made. The gentleman from Lancaster had his opportunity to make this motion when he arose to ask the gentleman from Crawford to withdraw his motion to recommit the bill, in order that the gentleman from Lancaster could make a further motion for the postponement of the bill. A motion to postpone having previously been defeated and a motion to recommit having been defeated, and there being no other motion before the House, there was nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the Speaker, whether or not the Speaker understood the motion of the gentleman from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. No, I did not. But the gentleman from Lancaster has been here for a number of sessions and is well versed in parliamentary procedure. The Chair cannot read the gentleman's mind.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, how could the Chair rule a motion out of order if the motion was not understood by the Chair?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster did not make a motion to reconsider the vote, and there was nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, I call for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. Is the call for a verification seconded?

Mr. HEMMINGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the call for verification.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask if it is necessary to have a call for a verification of the roll seconded?

The SPEAKER. No, sir.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1401 (Senate Bill No. 406), entitled:

An Act to amend the fourth fifth eighth and ninth sections of an act entitled "An Act to create a Board of Public Charities" approved the twenty-fourth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine so as to confer additional powers upon the said board and extend the duties and fix the compensation of the secretary and general agent

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1371, entitled:

An Act empowering poor districts to establish and maintain an industrial home for the care and training of pauper children

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the sponsor of this bill some explanation of the purpose of it.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is clearly set forth in a very concise way in the body of the proposed act itself. This bill was given to me by the directors of the poor of the county of Allegheny. The present law provides that the directors of the poor shall take dependent children and place them in homes or charitable institutions. In that county they have sixty children, or over, and have been unable so far to procure homes for them, or to place them in other chaitable institutions. Therefore, this act is offered, in order that they may erect somewhere a school for these children.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill reverses a policy which has existed in this Commonwealth since 1883. Prior to that time, I believe they had homes for dependent children. It was determined that it was highly improper, and would be very much better to put children in private homes than it was to create a place of general public detention. I believe we should consider seriously this bill before we reverse this policy.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALNUT. Yes, sir.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman what he would suggest as to the situation that I have outlined where directors of the poor have found it impossible to provide for these children places in homes or private institutions.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking altogether in view of the objection that I have heard raised to this bill by people in Philadelphia who take the point of view that I have just expressed. I am not thoroughly familiar with the circumstances to be remedied in Allegheny, but apparently the same situation has not arisen in Philadelphia, and this bill applies, not only to Allegheny County, but to every county in the State.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I hate to take issue with my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Lowers, but to pass this bill at this time would be a step backward. Under our law, children can only be put in the almshouses and retained there up till about three weeks. At the end of that time, they are either put in private institutions or are put in private families. Now, the fact that these children can be put in private families is good for the children, and you will, by passing a law of this kind, put all of our children in almshouses, the stigma of which will stay with them for the rest of their lives. Mr. Speaker, as I said before, a vote for this bill would be a step backward.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steele.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Yes, sir.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman from Allegheny what he would suggest as to the disposition of the sixty or more children that are at present committed to the Allegheny County Home.

Mr. STEELE. With reference to the sixty or more children that we have in the Allegheny County Home, I do not know whether we have that many, but if we do I think it is a very small majority of dependent children in Allegheny, if we have only sixty in Allegheny County.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I submit that the gentleman did not answer my question. I am interested in the care of those children, in the disposal of their future, and if the gentleman or any member of the House can suggest a wiser plan to care for those children, I would be very glad to join in bringing about that plan.

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Alegheny, Mr. Lowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOWERS. Yes, sir.

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that those children are now in a new county almshouse or poorhouse, and your bill proposes to put up an additional almshouse, does that better their condition any?

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question, I would state that they do not propose to erect a new home in the sense that they are going to erect an additional building. They already have a home in which these children are housed. But they have no provision made for the education and training of those children, looking towards their future lives, and this bill provides for that.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lowers.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOWERS. Yes, sir.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, would not this bill have a tendency to reverse the present policy of the children's protective societies, which is to keep small children away from poorhouses?

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in reply to that, I am told that the societies referred to by the gentleman have so far neglected to take care of the sixty children of that county that I refer to, and if they have neglected and failed to take care of those children, we must necessarily make some provision for them. This act is not mandatory; it is in the nature of an enabling act.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—4.

Haggerty,	Keegan,	McDermott,	Mellott,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 872, as follows:

An Act to further amend the sixth section of an act approved April twenty-third Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three entitled "An Act defining the powers of the several courts of quarter sessions of the peace within this Commonwealth with reference to the care treatment and control of dependent neglected incorrigible and delinquent children under the age of sixten years and providing for the means in which such powers may be exercised" by extending the application of said section to dependent neglected and incorrigible children

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the sixth section of an act approved April twenty-third Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three entitled "An Act defining the powers of the several courts of quarter sessions of the peace within this Commonwealth with reference to the care treatment and control of dependent neglected incorrigible and delinquent children under the age of sixteen years and providing for the means in which such power may be exercised" which section as amended by the act approved the first day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven reads as follows

"Section 6 In the case of a delinquent child the court may continue the hearing from time to time and may commit the child to the care and guardianship of a probation officer duly appointed by the court and may allow said child to remain in its own home subject to the visitation of the probation officer such child to report to the probation officer as often as may be required and subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear to be necessary or the court may commit the child to the care and guardianship of the probation officer to be placed in a suitable family home subject to the supervision of such probation officer or it may authorize the said probation officer to board out the said child in some suitable family home in case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of such child or may direct that the payment of the board of such child be made by the proper county until a suitable provision may be made for the child in a home without such payment or the court may commit the child to a suitable institution for the care of delinquent children or to any society duly incorporated having for one of its objects the protection of dependent or delinquent children" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 6 In the case of a delinquent dependent neglected or incorrigible child the court may continue the hearing from time to time and may commit the child to the care and guardianship of a probation officer duly appointed by the court and may allow said child to remain in its own home subject to the visitation of the probation officer such child to report to the probation officer as often as may be required and subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear to be necessary or the court may commit the child to the care and guardianship of the probation officer to be placed in a suitable family home subject to the supervision of such probation officer or it may authorize the said probation officer to board out the said child in some suitable family home in case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of such child or may direct that the payment of the board of such child be made by the proper county until a suitable provision may be made for the child in a home without such payment or the court may commit the child to a suitable institution for the care of delinquent children or to any society duly incorporated having for one of its objects the protection of dependent neglected or delinquent children and may direct that the payment of the board of such child shall be made by the proper county

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Hemminger,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 176, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weight and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven by vesting the appointment of inspectors of weights and measures in cities of the first class in the county commisioners

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That section one of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for their compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibiting vendors from giving false or insufficient weight and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the several boards of county commissioners and the mayor of the several cities of the Commonwealth may and are hereby authorized to appoint such members of competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures as they may deem proper to protect the public from the use of false weights and measures and whose duties it shall be to faithfully enforce and execute the laws of the Commonwealth now in existence or which may be hereafter enacted with reference to weights and measures Provided that county inspectors of weights and measures shall have no authority to inspect weights and measures in cities or to execute the laws of the Commonwealth in regard to the same or the ordinances of municipalities as they apply to cities within limits of their respective counties Neither shall the city inspectors have any jurisdiction outside of their respective cities

"The compensation and expenses of such county inspectors shall be fixed by the respective boards of county commissioners and paid by appropriations directly from the proper county treasuries and the compensation of city inspectors shall be fixed by ordinance such compensation and allowances for expenses shall be paid by appropriations made from the respective city treasuries" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the several boards of county commissioners and the mayor of cities of the second and third classes of the Commonwealth may and are hereby authorized to appoint such members of competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures as they may deem proper to protect the public from the use of false weights and measures and whose duties it shall be to faithfully enforce and execute the laws of the Commonwealth now in existence or which may be hereafter enacted with reference to weights and measures Provided that county inspectors of weights and measures shall have no authority to inspect weights and measures in cities of the second and third classes or to execute the laws of the Commonwealth in regard to the same or the ordinances of municipalities as they apply to cities of the second and third classes within the limits of their respective cities In the cities of the first class the inspectors shall be appointed by the county commissioners of the county in which the said city may be located

The compensation and expenses of such county inspectors shall be fixed by the respective boards of county commissioners and paid by appropriations directly from the proper county treasuries and the compensation of city inspectors shall be fixed by ordinance such compensation and allowances for expenses shall be paid by appropriations made from the respective city treasuries

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, we are opposed to this bill. This bill is directed directly at the Mayor of Philadelphia, and its only purpose is to strip him of some of his appointive authority. We are not opposed to the principle of having proper inspection of weights and measures. The act of 1911 passed by the last session provided for an appointing of sealers of weights and measures by the several boards of county commisisoners and by the mayors of the several cities. Unfortunately, that act made no provision for the number of inspectors to be appointed; made no provision for their compensation as to amount. This bill, in its passage through the House, we have endeavored to amend so as to provide the number of inspectors to be appointed in cities of the first class, and also the amount of compensation. Since the 27th of January we have been endeavoring to secure proper amendments to this bill. The sole purpose, as I said, is to take the appointing of those inspectors out of the hands of the Mayor of Philadelphia and place that appointive power with the county commissioners; and it has this direct result, that by the appointing power being with the commissioners it will mean that they can appoint any number of inspectors of weights and measures, and use that power for political patronage to defeat the progressive principles in this State, and the reform which is going on throughout the State, and toward which the election of Blankenburg in 1911 was the first step, and has been advocated and carried throughout the State. Mr. Speaker, all you men from the country districts that have come here in the past know what you have to contend with from the machine in Philadelphia. Now, Mr. Speaker, I submit that there is only one way in which we can accomplish any good results and secure any reasonable legislation in this House, and that is to carry on the success that was brought about at the polls last November. Mr. Speaker, the members of the House will remember that in 1905 the Legislature passed a "ripper" bill for Philadelphia. At that session of the Legislature, the appointing of the directors of the various Departments was taken out of the hands of the Mayor of Philadelphia and placed with the city councils, and the result was just this: That there was such a furore of dissent, such an opposition, arose to the legislation of 1905, that the Legislature was reconvened in special session for the purpose of repealing that legislation. Now, Mr. Speaker, I submit to the members of this House that unless this House proposes to put itself in the same ridiculous position that the Legislature did in 1905, it should defeat this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that it is only fair that, as sponsor of this bill, I should say a few words in its behalf. From the statements that have just been made, if you were all convinced along that line of argument, you would be led to believe that this is a "ripper" bill. I would like every member of the House of Representatives to know that this is not a "ripper" bill. If the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia had complied with the law of 1911, then we might say to the members of this House that it was a "ripper" bill. But, on the other side, the Mayor has refused to comply with the law of 1911 passed by the Legislative body here in the appointment of sealers for the City of Philadelphia. If he has refused to comply with that law, I desire to know from anyone who may feel that this is a "ripper" bill, how it can be a "ripper" bill. We have no sealers of weights and measures in the City of Philadelphia to-day. In 1911, when that act was passed in the legislative body here, they had given the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia the power of appointing sealers of weights and measures. He has neglected his duty as Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. I do not know of any one man in this Legislature to-day serving in this legislative body, who did more or exercised more influence than I did when that man was a candidate for Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. I stood behind, on the back end of an automobile before the workshops, preaching to the workmen of my city day after day, asking them to place this man in the office of Mayor. That man who will stand on the floor of this House and say that I am doing this to try to cut this man who is Mayor of our city, out of power, makes an unfair statement. I have no bitter feeling toward the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. My only feeling, my only interest in the City of Philadelphia to-day is the protection of those families who live there.

We have in the City of Philadelphia today 350,000 homes and then when it comes down to the question of asking the mayor of the City of Philadelphia, some time ago, to make some provision for the protection of those homes, he stated that he had another scheme that he could recommend to councils of Philadelphia. What was his scheme to councils of Philadelphia? He said to councils: "My dear Councilmen, I would suggest that instead of appointing the sealers of weights and measures in Philadelphia that you purchase in the City of Philadelphia, 25,000 scales and place those scales in the homes of the housewives and the working classes of that City." Ah, men, tell me how 25,000 scales are going to cover 350,000 homes. Tell me that again. Are you going to hold the housewives of Philadelphia responsible for the prosecution of the vendor who will come along with his quarter peck measure with a false bottom? Are you going to hold the housewives responsible for the man who has the false weight which is lacking one or two ounces? Why not put this in the hands of the parties that will take care of it? If the Mayor is neglecting his duty, while I have no bitter feeling toward him, there is no reason why, if he neglects his duty that I should neglect my duty to my people. I am not here to-day, trying to force politics into this issue. I know that some statements have been handed to a number of you men here on this floor against this bill and I know that the statements put forth the argument that it was only a political move on my part to secure appointments in Philadelphia. If I want to use the same words back to you men, I might ask, is it not true that the men who want to defeat this bill may have some promises from the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia that they may receive the appointments rather than on my side. I am here today in defense of this bill because I believe I am serving the interests in my particular City. I have here a statement that I want to quote to you. Every one of you present do not know the heads of Departments in the City of Philadelphia, but I have one statement here from the head of a Department in the City of Philadelphia. It comes from Doctor Burke, who is the head of the Mayor's Municipal Research Bureau. He has made an investigation of the subject of sealers of weights and measures after council turned out the request for the 25,000 scales and after his investigation he estimates to-day that the housewives of the City of Philadelphia are robbed annually of three million dollars because of false weights and meausres. I feel men, that you will do justice to the people of tme City of Philadelphia, where we have three hundred and fifty thousand homes, by voting for this bill, not from a political point of view—God forbid that I stand here and fight for this bill to go through, from a political point of view—but I have pledged myself to the people of my city that I will work in their interests, and I am here today working in their interests and asking the passage of this bill that the housewives of the City of Philadelphia may receive full value for the amount of money they pay for their purchases, and I ask you men to vote aye on this bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. I ask the House to study this bill and see what it does and then I leave it to the House whether or not it is a matter of politics rather than of real significance. The act which is to be amended provides that the several boards of county commissioners and the mayor of the several cities of this Commonwealth may appoint these inspectors or sealers of weights and measures. That is to say, there is a perfect general scheme by which the county commissioners appoint and that wherein these counties there are cities, the mayors of the cities shall appoint, Now the amendment reads: "That the several boards of county commissioners and the mayors of cities of the second third class." In other words, this perfectly general scheme is to be so changed by singling out the cities of the first class, and it is to be held that in the city of the first class the mayor is incompetent to make these appointments; but in the cities of the second and third class that mayors are competent. Now there is only one city of the first class and only one mayor of a city of the first class, therefore this bill simply says: "Rudolph Blankenburg, you shall not be considered competent to make the appointments of sealers of weights and measures." Now it takes it out of the mayor's hands and gives it to the county commissioners. Now when you take into consideration the results of prior elections and realize that two out of the three county commissioners belong to the party opposite to that to which the mayor belongs, it seems to me an incontrovetible conclusion that this is a political measure.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill a couple of question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman why it is that there is not a limit put on the number to be appointed.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I would say that there was no limit put on the number of men to be appointed two years ago, and if there is a limited number made now and as the law must be to pass, if it is passed here without the limit of number and after the selection is made it must be through an ordinance of councils, I don't think it would be fair to name any certain number of men when we do not know just the amount of men the City will need for this particular time.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman and ask him why there are no salaries fixed in this bill.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, I believe that if he will consider legislation, the law proper, take it in its full significance, he will find that where counties are compelled to pay their employees, they have no right by an act of the legislature to set their salary. That is up to councils of every county where the salaries are paid.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. I am very intimate with some of the backers of this bill and had many conversations with them about this bill, and the gentleman who just took his seat says there is no politics in it; but it looks to me from the statement of one of these gentlemen, "that there will be a hilarious old time when it comes to making the appointments, because you know you cannot get anything from that old so and so at City Hall. If you want anything, why this is the law that gives you the opportunity." I asked why there was no limit to the number of appointments to be made and they said: "Well we do not know how many we want." To me, Mr. Speaker, it looks altogether to be a scheme of politics to give a lot of fellows some good jobs, nothing more and nothing less. I know that from the backers of the bill, and possibly the framers of the bill.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the members of the House that in my estimation I do not believe that if this bill should become a law that there is any party of men in charge of any particular office that are going to try to injure the taxpayers of his City when he knows that he depends on those taxpayers for election to the office in which he is serving. I feel and believe that there will be no more and I feel very nearly sure that the necessary number of inspectors required, I feel that fifteen men in the City of Philadelphia will cover that City. Some men have said here that one hundred men might be appointed. That would be absurd. Because, if you appoint one hundred men, you would appoint two men to every ward in Philadelphia, which is not necessary, and I believe if the law was good two years ago, to leave it to the discretion of the mayor to name as many as he wanted it will be just as good now to leave it to the county commissioners to name theirs and I feel sure there will be no more than fifteen appointed in the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. It appears to the Chair that there is not the necessary number seconding the motion.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to call the attention of the House to the fact that there is something else in this bill which should be considered aside from the question of politics. We have in the City of Philadelphia under our charter of 1885 a City Government that takes charge of all of the City functions. We have concentrated in our Mayor and Councils of Philadelphia as much power as we could possibly gather under that head. We have attempted, in line with all modern progress, with the same progress that is evidenced by the bill for a commission form of government for third class cities that passed through here, to concentrate the responsibilities of our city government. For that reason the appointment of the sealers of weights and measures should be continued in the hands of the mayor. Our county commissioners in Philadelphia have by no means the same duties or the same responsibilities that county commissioners in other counties have. Upon them is placed almost wholly the duties incident to the conduct of elections. This bill proposes to place in their hands something else and take it out from the concentrated power of the mayor and councils. For that reason I think that aside from the question of politics altogether, in view of the fact that we are legislating not for the present special situation, when we consider the proper theory of our municipal government, we certainly should not pass this bill.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Walnut).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the House why this bill has been on the statute books for two years and the present mayor has had his seat for about sixteen months and has not appointed one of these men, when the citizens of Philadelphia have been robbed right and left and he refuses to appoint these men? Can he answer that question?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am glad that question was raised. We have at present in Philadelphia a very serious financial situation. Ever since the new mayor has been in, in fact, under the mayor who preceded him, the question of sufficient finances to properly conduct the city government and to take care of the offices and all necessary positions, is one that has involved the administration in the greatest degree of perplexity. The present mayor found that difficulty facing him when he went into office. It has been his desire to do a great many things for the City of Philadelphia, and he has been doing his very best to accomplish those things. When he came to the appointment of sealers of weights and measures, he proposed what he considered an excellent substitute and he presented that proposition to councils. The councils refused to acquiesce in it and the mayor very naturally enough refused to appoint the sealers of weights and measures, and I believe in view of the fact that his previous proposal has not been accepted that if it is possible to secure the money for the payment of the salaries of these people and if councils will give it to him, I have not the least doubt but what he will make the appointments, because there is no man in Philadelphia, more interested in accomplishing the purposes of this bill than the present mayor of Philadelphia.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. PIPER. I would ask as to whether or not the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Walnut) is aware of the fact that the Grand Jury of last August condemned Mayor Blankenburg because of his failure to accept and place in effect the provisions of the law in relation to sealers of weights and measures?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, the mayor has been condemned for a good many things; not only that, but probably many other things that were absolutely beyond his power to remedy. I think the same difficulty faced him in this question as faced him in a great many others, and in view of the fact that his previous proposal was not accepted, I believe that he will make these appointments when the money is provided.

Mr. PIPER. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia. I would ask him whether or not he will admit, or whether he knows that when the mayor offered his scheme to councils for twenty-five thousand scales that councils reported out that they were favorable and whether or not after the report was made he did not direct Doctor Burke to make an investigation before even the scales were purchased.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am not aware of that fact, but if so, I think it was a very proper procedure on his part.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, that proves to me that the sincereness of the mayor in recommending that the housewives of the City be protected was not sincere. He was not in sympathy with the law of 1911.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

This was done as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now take a recess until eight o'clock to-night.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I think that we ought to wait long enough to record ourselves on this next bill, which is a joint resolution. I think we should take it up and then adjourn until to-morrow. There are a great many of us who cannot be here to-night who would like to vote on it.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1330 (Senate Bill No. 68), as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposin an amendment to article nine section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennnsylvania authorizing the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the improvement of the highways of the Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That section four of article nine which reads as follows "Section 4 No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue repel invasion suppress insurrection defend the State in war or to pay existing debt and the debt created to supply deficiency in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any one time one million of dollars" be amended so as to read as follows

Section 4 No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State except to supply casual deficiencies of revenues repel invasion suppress insurrection defend the State in war or to pay existing debt and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any on time one million of dollars Provided however That the General Assembly irrespective of any debt may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is known as the Fifty Million Dollar Bond Issue. Some of us on the second reading of this bill voted for the recommitting of the bill to the Roads Committee. When that vote was successful we expected to have a meeting for the purpose of getting information. Subsequently it happened that the vote was reconsidered and the bill was again placed back on the calendar and subsequent to that there was a resolution addressed to the Attorney General asking whether or not there would be enabling legislation offered or could be passed at this session of the Legislature. That has been replied to, that such legislation cannot be passed successfully and that it would be unconstitutional. Therefore, that portion of the information that was sought by those of us who voted for the recommitting of this bill has been answered to us. Some of us were opposed to this legislation on principle that this rich Commonwealth does not require the issuance of bonds for the purpose of establishing good roads. I desire to say that we all are in favor of good roads. Some have one view of getting them; some have a contrary view.

We have in this House now legislation that has been recommended by a commission of which you, Mr. Speaker (Mr. Alter), are a member, proposing that revenue to the extent of six or seven million dollars be raised annually by taxation of the various corporations. The passing of this amendment at the present time will in no wise effect those of us who oppose raising the money for good roads by the means of taxation. The legislation that is now before the House, having been voted out of the Ways and Means Committee last evening, will subsequently come before the House and will be before the members of the Legislature for their vote; if that legislation prevails then six or seven million dollars will be raised each year which can be used for the building and the keeping up of good roads. So, therefore, it is quite consistent for those of us who are for good roads and who don't agree with some of the gentlemen who are also for good roads as to how to raise the money for establishing them. It is quite consistent for us now to vote on third reading for this bill which merely places this joint resolution before the people to be voted upon at the next November election. For myself, I don't believe that Pennsylvania should borrow a dollar by bond. I don't see why so rich a Commonwealth as Pennsylvania, that is liberal to its charities, should be compelled to go to the money lender for the purpose of building her roads. I believe that this Legislature is bound to enact the legislation that has been advised by the Tax Commission; a commission that has been in existence for four years and which cost this Commonwealth fifty thousand dollars for the information that the legislation suggested by that Commission is the really true and proper way for this Commonwealth to raise the money for the purpose of building her roads. But that view should not deter any of us from placing this question before the people. If this Legislature passes the revenue raising bill. of course the people of the Commonwealth will know that fact and they can refuse to pass or ratify this resolution to amend the Constitution at the next November election. If the people of Pennsylvania pass upon the amendment and see fit to allow the Constitution to be amended that does not mean that there will be passed legislation such as the amendment will permit. The answer by the Attorney General to the resolution passed by this House asking as to whether or not there could be enabling legislation by this Legislature for the purpose of raising this fifty million dollars, or a portion of it, during the present administration; it has been answered that no such money could be raised by legislation. That removed to a great extent the opposition of many of us. Many of us are opposed to this administration and many of us disapprove of the action of the Highway Department as to carrying on all the cost, and many of us stand for it today ready to vote for this joint resolution, but we are also ready to fight to the very last ditch against any legislation which will give to the present administration and the present Highway Department the spending of the money that can be raised under this bond issue. Therefore, my position in this House is not to oppose good roads; is not opposed to this legislation. I will vote in the affirmative for this proposed joint resolution and in doing so I will place upon the record practically what I have stated here upon the floor of the House.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution. the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—2.

Scott, S. B., Snavely,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. E. L. HUMES. In voting "aye" on the Senate Bill No. 68, known as the $50,000,000.00 bond issue amendment to the State Constitution, I wish it understood that I am not giving any approval to the policy of the State's bonding itself in this or any other sum for the purpose of the construction of roads. I believe, however, that this is a question in which the people of the State at large are sufficiently interested that the question should be submitted to them for a referendum vote, and the only way that the people can be permitted to legislate on this for themselves, is by the enactment of this Bill by the legislature, so that it may be submitted to a popular vote. I do not believe that this bond issue should be authorized, if at all, unless it is accompanied by legislation that will secure an equitable distribution of the proceeds of the sale of the bond to each county of the State. I am also pursuaded that a fair and just equalization of the tax burden in the State would secure a sufficient increase in the State's revenues to permit the State to expend each year, in addition to the amount which present revenues permit of, as large an amount as the State Highway Department can properly and economically expend. It is bad public policy for a Commonwealth as rich as Pennsylvania to incur indebtedness for this purpose, as it is the experience of every State and municipality, that the life of a permanently improved highway is not to exceed thirty years. The bonds, if issued, would be for a period of from thirty to fifty years, and the roads for which the money was expended would be worn out before the indebtedness was paid. If these bonds are issued for 30 years at 4 per cent. interest the State would, at the maturity of the bonds, have paid $110,000,000.00 for $50,000,000.00 worth of roads. If they were issued for 50 years, the State would have paid $150,000,000.00 at the maturity of the bonds for $50,000,000.00 worth of roads. With these bonds issued the State would be compelled each year to appropriate and set apart for interest and sinking fund, between three and four millions of dollars. The amount, added to such annual appropriation as the State can from time to time afford to make, would create as large an annual appropriation for good roads as could be judiciously expended by the Highway Department.

I therefore wish to have it understood that my vote on this Bill is not an expression of approval of a bond issue, but merely a reiteration of my belief in the referendum on all such important questions as this one.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state to the House that there is on the desk considerable routine business. We have not a very large second reading calendar for to-morrow. The Chair had hoped to pass the first reading bills at the opening of this afternoon's session, but they were not on the files. They will be on the files at 8 o'clock to-night. If we could have a session, as we had last night, it would enable these things to be done and give us a good second reading calendar to-morrow and we could pass some of the common-place bills, as we did last night.

RECESS.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now take a recess until 8 o'clock to-night.

The motion was agreed to and (at 6:32 P. M.) the House took a recess until 8:00 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 8:00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER. (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

SENATE MESSAGES.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract form the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate April 14, 1913.

Whereas, The protection of the migratory and insectivorous wild birds is essential to the prosperity of man, because of their work in consuming insect pests and the seeds of noxious weeds; and,

Whereas, The Biological Survey of the National Department of Agriculture has been engaged in exhaustive investigations to determine the foods of said birds, and their effect on said destructive insect pests and noxious weeds; and

Whereas, The publication and distribution of information concerning the beneficial results of the work of said birds has been resulting in a steady and increasing appreciation of the necessity of protecting and preserving the birds aforesaid; and,

Whereas, There is now pending before the Congress of the United States a joint resolution looking toward the international protection of migratory birds, which is known as Senate Resolution No. 25; therefore, be it

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the United States Senators and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania be urged to lend their votes and influence to the end that Senate Resolution No. 25 shall be passed and the international protection of our migratory birds be thus assured; and, be it further

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the United States Senators and the members of Congress from Pennsylvania be urged to support the work of the Biological Survey in every proper and consistent manner.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution will lie over under the rules for printing.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the Senate, April 7, 1913.

Requesting Congres to enact such legislation as will be necessary for the construction of a system of paved public highways connecting the Capitals of the several States of the Union with the National Capital and with each other, and also with the principal National Parks.

Whereas, A uniform system of National Public Highways or roads, connecting the Capital of the several States of the Union with the National Capital at Washington, and with each other, and also with the principal National Parks, will vastly promote commerce between the several States, and reduce the cost of transportation thereof; facilitate and cheapen travel and social intercourse between the people; discourage sectionalism, and render the entire people more cosmopolitan, intellectually, morally and politically; aid the farmer in marketing his produce, and make farm life more agreeable, attractive and profitable; induce Americans to see and know America; beautify all parts of the Union; intensify industrial activities; encourage goood rad building throughout the continent, and bring the entire people countless blessings, conveniences and joys known only to a highly developed county, and

Whereas, To secure uniformity, thoroughness and economy in the construction, fitness and adaptability of grades, and avoidance of such local controversies in the selection of routes as would probably delay, if not defeat the entire enterprise, the cost of such a system of highways being beyond the probably financial resources of the several States, it would be necessary that it would be constructed at the expense and under the supervision of the General Government, now, therefore,

Be it Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Honorable Congress of the United States is respectfully urged to enact suitable legislation for the location and construction, under the supervision and by the General Government of a system of National Highways or roads, which shall connect the Capital of the several States of the Union with the National Capital at Washington, and with each other, and also, with the principal National Parks; that such National Highways be constructed on firm concrete bases, with hard surfaces, and as nearly dustless as possible; that they be located solely with regard to the greatest public good and feasibility of route and grades, and

Be it further resolved, That Congress is earnestly urged to provide in such legislation means of reaising the necessary money for the location and construtcion of such National Highway by the restoration of the internal revenue tax of one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine on tobacco, or in some other manner, as to it shall seem meet and proper, and that the location and construction of such a system of highways be commenced as means can be provided, throughout the country generally, without giving priority to any section or locations and,

It is Further Resolved, That a copy of this Memorial be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States; and,

Be it further Resolved, That copies thereof be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Pennsylvania with the request that they use every effort within their power to bring about a speedy action for the accomplishment of the ends and purposes herein indicated.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution will lie over under the rules for printing.

SENATE NON CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate insist on its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 52, entitled:

An Act amending an act approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two entitled "An Act regulating lateral railroads" extending the length thereof to ten miles and including lessees of fire clay and minerals and changing number of viewers

And has appointed Messrs. Hall, Vare and McNichol a committee of conferrence to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments an dthat a committee of conference be appointed.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 591, entitled:

An Act relative to mercantile appraisers' lists

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 939, entitled:

An Act relating to the real estate of persons presumed to be dead and providing a method of freeing such estates from all claim or interest of such persons

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, This bill is intended to correct a defect in the law where a man has disappeared for seven or more years and is presumed to be dead and, under the present law, nothing whatever can be done with his real estate. When this was called to my attention, it was through a case that came up in my office. The Committee has favorably considered it and I have no fear of bringing it up even in this light House.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1132, as follows:

A Supplement to an act approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand nine hundred three entitled "An act to designate a uniform date when the commissioners of the several counties shall issue their precepts to assessors to make the triennial assessment and the reasessment between the periods of the triennial assessment of property and fixing the time for the return thereof" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the county commissioners may in their discretion issue their precepts to the assessors of the respective wards districts boroughs and townships on or before the first day in March of each year for the assessment of such persons as may remove into the respective township ward borough or district since the last assessment and for the resasessment of such property as may have been transferred since the last assessment and for the assessment of those who may have been omitted from the last assessment And it shall be the duty of such assessors to make such assessment and return the same before the twenty-fifth of May For such service the said assessors shall receive out of the county funds such compensation as may be fixed by the county commissioners not however exceeding the per diem compensation fixed by law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, in the absence of the sponsor of the bill, I think this bill ought t opass and I will say a few words in explanation of it. The act of 1911 does not seem to be very explicit in the time for the readadjustment of the different assessments throughout the Commonwealth. There seems to be a difference of opinion among the different attorneys, and the same thing is true in the Department of the Auditor General down stairs here. This bill makes it explicit, fixing the date when the precepts ought to be issued by the commissioners of the different counties to the different assessors and when the return is to be made, so I think there ought to be no question but what this bill ought to go through and settle this dispute between the lawyers.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill 1225, on page 6 of to-day's calendar, Bills on Third Reading, which have been passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1225, as follows:

An Act to prohibit experiments on any human being by the application of drugs instruments or deleterious substances of any kind or by inniculation or injection without the consent of the person subjected to such experiment his or her parent or guardian and providing penalties therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act it shall be a felony for any person to perform experiments upon any human being either by the administration of drugs or deleterious substances or by the admission within the body of any instruments of any kind whatsoever or by the injection or innoculation of any substances whatsoever without the consent and approval of the person thus subjected given after full knowledge or the nature and probable consequences of the act intended to be performed and in cases of minors lunatics or persons not sui juris without the consent and approval given as aforesaid of the parents guardians or committee of the person to be subjected Provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit any treatment or operation upon an unconscious person immediately necessary to relieve or cure said person from physical ailment And provided further that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the injection or innoculation of any virus or any other substance for the purpose of vaccination

Section 2 Any person or persons convicted of a violation of this act shall ipso facto be forever disqualified from the right to practice medicine surgery or other healing professions and shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dolars or imprisonment for a term not less than three months nor more than one year or both

Section 3 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, the bill before the House provides that there shall be no experiments upon any human being either by the administration of drugs or deleterious substances or by the admission within the body of any insturments of any kind whatsoever or by the injection of any substances whatsoever without the consent and approval of the person thus subjected. I am sure Mr. Speaker, that the provisions of this act are entirely just and consistent with all ideas of humanity There is nothing in the bill which prohibits proper treatment of any persons or the legal use of proper medicines. It simply says there shall be no experiments upon any human being without the consent of the person so subjected. I ask every fair-minded man in this House to go along with this bill and vote aye. Let us put Pennsylvania before the world. This is the only State to have a bill presented of this kind. This bill has been presented in this House several times but has never been able to get on the calendar. Now, gentleman, let us not be backward. Let us be progressive in one thing, and let us go down on record in saying that Pennsylvania will prohibit these experiments upon persons when the subject does not want them. I appeal to all fair-minded men in this House, to think of the rights of the common people and those who are not able to defend themselves completely.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. In view of the present laws against assault and battery, what is the necessity of passing an act of this kind?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I know of no law which prohibits these acts. The only law I know is the law against mal-practice, and that is simply a law against the improper use of a proper remedy at an improper time.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if I at all appreciate the nature of assault and battery it is the injuring in any way of the human frame without some justification, and if anybody unlawfully and without any justification experiments upon a person, he unquestionably is guilty of that crime.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. LANIUS. I will.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. I would like to ask the gentleman what he means by unconscious.

Mr. LANIUS. This bill says that this act shall not be construed to prohibit a treatment or operation upon an unconscious person immediately necessary to cure that person. An unconscious person could not certainly answer for himself, and we provide for that man in this bill.

Mr. W. A. Blair. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how he construes the word delerious. How would this bill apply if a person was sick, and was delerious?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, a man in that position would probably have a physician, and would give to the physician that authority. When I accept the services of a physician as long as I am taking his medicine and his treatment, I am his patient.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, if a person is delerious, he does not know any more as to what is necessary, than a person who is unconscious. Therefore, I do not see why this is not also excluded.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that, I would say this: that the delerious person may be a child and the father and mother who summon the physician accept the physician's services for the child. As long as he is permitted to call at that residence and treat that child, the parents are responsible for that treatment or any operation, and the person is under his charge, not to be experimented upon, but to be treated and to be cured.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Supposing a person were delerious from some cause or other, such as peritonitis, and was taken suddenly sick while away from his friends or home, or supposing that he has no person other than himself to say whether or not he shall be operated upon, who then is going to take the responsibility of the operation?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, we assume that no man waits until he is delerious to go to an instituion. There was always a time when he was able to speak for himself before he elected to go to the institution. I hold, Mr. Speaker, that no physician will operate on a man for peritonitis or appendicitis unless the man really needs it, and the man is generally taken from some place before he gets in that condition, or there is generally some person to take the responsibility of saying whether or not he will be operated upon. An experiment produces a derangment, and a treatment differs from it in that it seeks to cure and heal.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what he means by an experiment?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, by an experiment I mean the trying out of a theory by an operation. If a person was operated upon for some certain condition which existed, and the physician thought that that operation was going to relieve the patient, it does not come under this act because it is not an experiment. The gentleman seems to be basing his remarks entirely upon the materia medica. If you try to seek to heal and cure, you are not experimenting. An experiment produces a disorder and a derangement. Again I say let us write this law upon the statute books of Pennsylvania. Again I say I have every respect for the men of the medical profession of this State, and I do not blame them at all for the jealous and zealous manner with which they guard that profession, but we are all fairminded men here tonight, and I want you to go on record as fair-minded men, and give your vote to this measure. I do not ask this for myself, but I ask it in the interest of those who are unable to protect themselves. I want you to say by your vote tonight that experiments shall be stopped. I will be satisfied with your vote on this bill, but I think that in this House tonight there are very fair-minded men who will do what is right and what is just.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1112, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering municipalities to construct and for this purpose to procure locations therefor by purchase or condemnation proceedings as herein provided or to acquire by condemnation by lease by purchase by stock ownership or otherwise and to maintain and operate street railways electric light plants gas works and all other public utilities whether the same be wholly within or partly within or partly without the limits of the municipality and to lease the same to corporations or individuals

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend House Bill 1112 file folio 4569 by inserting on page 5 at the end of Section 7 the following "Section 8. Nothing contained in this act shall be interpreted to give to municipalities the right to take in the exercise of eminent domain any water or land covered by water for the purpose of constructing or operating water works for the supply of water or water powers.

Also, amend Section 8 on line 1 by striking out the figure "8" and inserting instead the figure "9."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1118, entitled:

An Act authorizing municipalities to provide a supply of water for municipal and domestic purposes by the construction and operation of water works or systems of water works or if the said municipality or a portion thereof or its inhabitants be supplied by a private water company by the purchase of the water works of such company or parts thereof within the limits of said municipalities upon the basis herein provided or in the event of the refusal of said water company to sell the same as herein provided by the construction and operation of water works or systems of water works

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 3, line 13, by striking out the word "fourteenth" and inserting the word "twenty-fourth."

Also amend House Bill 1118 file folio 4561 Section 1 line 5 by inserting after the word "authority" the words "subject to the provisions of existing laws."

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordanc with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call up for the purpose of amendment, House Bill No. 955, file folio 4483, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to make contracts for lighting telephone service removal of garbage removal of ashes or for street cleaning for a period not exceeding five years providing for annual appropriations for payments for successive years prescribing the extent to which such contracts shall be included in statements and estimates of current liabilities and current income in tax levies and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer and repealing inconsistent acts from page 22 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 955, as follows:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to make contracts for lighting telephone service removal of garbage removal of ashes or for street cleaning for a period not exceeding five years providing for annual appropriations for payments for successive years prescribing the extent to which such contracts shall be included in statements and estimates of current liabilities and current income in tax levies and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer and repealing inconsitent acts

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That cities of the first class are hereby authorized and empowered to make contracts for the removal of garbage for any period not exceeding five years

Section 2 The periods for which any such contract is to run shall be plainly stated in the advertisement for bids and shall be given the same publicity as is required of other terms of the contract

Section 3 Such contracts shall not be executed or become binding on any city of the first class unless the councils of said city shall have first made an appropriation properly applicable thereto and sufficient to cover the payment for the first year under said contract

Section 4 The councils of any city of the first class which has entered into such a contract for more than one year shall thereafter appropriate annually the amount due thereunder each year respectively

Section 5 In all statements or estimates of the current liabilities and current income of any city of the first class which has entered into such a contract for more than one year required by law to be made by the controller or any other official or official body of such city for the then current or any succeeding year in all tax levies required by law to be based on such statements or estimates and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer it shall not be necessary to include the amount payable under such contract or the amount receivable thereunder by the city if such contract yields a profit to the city except the amounts then actually due by or to the city and the amounts payable or receivable for the year or other period covered by such statement estimate tax levy or warrant

In all such statements or estimates including amounts payable or receivable under such contracts there shall be an explanatory note stating what amounts payable and what amonuts receivable under such contracts are included in the statement or estimate and for what period or periods

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts so far as inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read for information.

The amendments were then read as follows:

Amend title, line one by striking out the word "lighting."

Also amend title, line two, by striking out the words "telephone service"

Also same line, after the word "garbage" strike out the words "removal of ashes or for."

Also amend title, line three, strike out the words "street cleaning."

Mr. SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I object to that amendment?

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I state the purpose of the amendments?

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection to the gentleman stating the purpose of the amendments? If not, he will proceed.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced by Mr. John R. K. Scott, authorizing cities of the first class to make contracts for lighting, telephone service and removal of garbage, etc. This bill was amended so as to confine it to the purpose of making contracts for the removal of garbage and the purpose of these amendments is to make the title conform to the body of the bill.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Spaker, I withdraw my objection.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House bill No. 1278, as follows:

An Act authorizing all boroughs within this Commonwealth to regulate the production or emission of smoke from chimneys smoke stacks or other source

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all boroughs within this Commonwealth shall have the power to regulate by ordinance the production or emission of smoke from any chimney smoke stack or other source"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is purely an enabling act in keeping with acts passed here in 1909 and 1911 relating to the same subject in cities of the second class. This concerns only boroughs of the State and enables them by ordinances to regulate the smoke nuisance. This bill was presented to me accompanied by a petition signed by the solicitors of forty-one boroughs and I feel satisfied that there should be no reasonable objection to legislation of this kind.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 2 It shall be the duty of supervisors of townships of the second class and commissioners of townships of the first class in each county in this Commonwealth to attend such conventions whenever possible and each township supervisor or commissioner attending such convention shall receive a certificate attesting his presence at said convention signed by the presiding officer and acting secretary of the convention which certificate shall entitle him to collect from the treasurer of the board of supervisors or commissioners of their respective townships for their necessary expenses the sum of two dollars per day for each day's attendance and mileage at the rate of three cents per mile traveled to be computed by the route usually traveled from his place of residence to the place where the convention is held Provided however That no township supervisor or commissioner shall be paid for more than two days attendance in any one year

Section 3 The officers of the association shall consist of a president two vice-presidents and a secretary and a treasurer all of whom except the secretary shall be members of the association and shall hold office for one year or until their successors are chosen If desirable the secretary may be a person not a regular member of the association and may receive for his services such compensation not to exceed ten dollars per annum as the other officers may determine Every township supervisor and commissioner attending such convention shall have the right to vote in the election of said officers The mayor of any city the burgess of any borough or their duly appointed representative the county commissioners and the judges of the court in the county the assistant engineer and the superintendent of highways of the State Highway Department in charge of such county shall be eligible to membership and to hold office but shall not be entitled to a vote

Section 4 The county treasurer shall pay to the treasurer of such association from the county funds the necessary expenses incurred for the holding of such annual or semi-annual convention including the necessary expenses of the secretary The total sum thus paid by the treasurer of any county shall not exceed one hundred and twenty-five dollars a year Provided That no payment shall be made to the treasurer of such association until he shall first have presented to the county treasurer an itemized statement of such expenses verified by affidavit Within thirty days after every such convention the treasurer of such association shall file with the county treasurer an itemized statement under oath showing when and where such convention was held the number of township supervisors and commissioners present and all the expenses connected with such convention together with proper vouchers for all such expenses

Section 5 It shall be the duty of the State Highway Commissioner or his representative so far as their other duties permit to assist in the formation of the aforesaid associations and to be present or represented at their conventions

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read- Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1236, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three ten twelve fourteen seventeen twenty twenty-two twenty-four twenty-six twenty-eight thirty-three thirty-four forty-three forty-five forty-six forty-seven fifty-three fifty-four and fifty-nine of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred one entitled "An Act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business of work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cess pools in cities of the second class and imposing fines penalties and forfeitures for violation thereof" and to further amend sections two eight twenty-one twenty-five twenty-nine thirty-five and sixty of said act of June seventh one thousand nine hundred and one as the same were amended by the act of May fourteenth one thousand nine hundred and nine by further providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business of plumbing or house drainage and by providing further rules regulatings and requirements for the construction or reconstruction of plumbing house drainage and cess pools and making changes in said rules regulations and requirements as heretofore existing

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Section 1, line 163, after "soil" insert "waste."
Section 3, line 7, after "sewer" insert "exists."
Section 3, line 21, strike out "of" insert "or."
Section 3, line 57, strike out "or" insert "on."
Section 15, line 5 immediately after heading of this section insert section 29.
Section 15, line, after line 13 insert heading of section 29 as amended, and strike out heading top of page 26. After heading immediately insert section 29.
Section 18, line 61, after "one-half" insert "inch."
Section 21, line 7, strike out "or" insert "of."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The Bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1110, as follows:

Section 8 That all persons licensed to sell at retail any vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof in any house room or place hotel inn or tavern shall be classified and required to pay annually for such privilege as follows Persons licensed to sell by retail resident in cities of the first and second classes shall pay the sum of one thousand dollars and those resident in cities of the third class shall pay the sum of five hundred dollars those resident in all other cities shall pay three hundred dollars and those resident in boroughs shall pay the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars those resident in townships shall pay the sum of seventy-five dollars to the treasurer of the respective counties for the use of the counties in the following proportion In cities the sum of one hundred dollars in boroughs and townships one-fifth of the amount of license shall be paid to the treasurer of the respective counties for the use of the counties and the balance shall be paid to the treasurer of the respective cities boroughs and townships for their respective use Provided however That the money thus paid into any township treasury shall be supplied to keeping the roads in good repair Of the money thus paid into the treasury of a city of the first class three per centum shall be for the use of the Police Pension Fund of the city

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanmious consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Insert in line 42, page 3, section 8 after the word "house" the word "room."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be insertd in accordanc with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1712, entitled:

An Act to authorize the Courts of Common Pleas of any county when any individual church within the county has become inactive or extinct by reason of there being no resident or active trustees representing it or otherwise and the property of the church is liable to be wasted or destroyed to appoint the trustees of the State body or organization representative of the denomination of which said church was a member as trustee for said church to hold and dispose of the title to the property owned by said church and defining the procedure thereon

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I presume that this bill will benefit the particular denomination of which the gentleman from Beaver is a member, and therefore I will be glad to support the bill.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inform the gentleman from Elk that it in no way, whatever, affects my denomination or concerns it. Most every denomination has its own methods to provide for property where the church ceases to actively exist. I am not the author of this bill. It was sent me. It covers a very large number of independent churches in this state which have practically ceased to exist. It provides for churches which have become extinct, that is in so far as active existence is concerned, and this merely seeks to cover that ground. As I said, in no way does it affect our denomination, because we have provided in our discipline, as most denominations have, but these independent churches and union churches that have been built in years gone by, the country people have moved from the place and they stand there decaying simply and it is merely to place them so that they can be repaired or disposed of in some way, so that they shall not decay, or in case of sale the money may be invested to build elsewhere.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1913. No. 51.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, April 17th, 1913.

The House met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we would commit our lives to Thee again this morning; not merely the past of our lives with all that has entered into that past and issued out of it, asking forgiveness for all which has been wrong, and asking for that increase and fruitfulness for all that has been right and good, which should be in itself a sufficient reward, but also the future of our lives, with all the possibilities wrapped up in that future. Thou knowest us altogether, O Lord, far better than we know ourselves; all that we have, all that we are, our strength, our weakness, what we can do and efficiently do, what we cannot do or are not skilled or qualified to do well—regard all this, O God, in Thy dealings with us make a plain path before our feet. Let us tread that path cheerfully and hopefully, and let no hesitancy or reluctance of our own prevent Thee from doing with us and through us all that Omnipotence can do to ease the pain in this world through which we are passing and to lift it somewhat farther every day into the blessedness of comfort and light. And wilt Thou guard us and guide us as we tread this path and live this life, helping us always to look upward and to move forward through the Grace that is in Christ Jesus, and unto his name shall be the praise of it all, forever. Amen.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Allen, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.
